[illegible], May 10. (Ex-[illegible])—By the decisive vote of [illegible] 11 the Senate today rejected [illegible] amendment by Senator Cope-[illegible], of New York, which [illegible] have eliminated fruits and [illegible] from the operation of [illegible] pending farm bill.

Will Rogers Remarks:

PHILADELPHIA, May 10. [To the Editor of The Times:] Just flew down to Pimlico to see the great Preakness race. Bucked a head wind, but not as strong a one as the horse I bet on bucked; 40,000 people there, counting Senators and Representatives. Farmers got no relief today but the mutuel betting machines cleaned up over a million and a half on one race. Lucky for me I run into Doc Admiral Grayson. Through his medical influence he got me in the inclosure where the Republicans were, otherwise I would have had to stay in the center field with the Democrats. Gov. Ritchie was mighty nice to us. Vice-President Curtis enjoyed it, Hoover would have liked it. It was one place where the Democrats couldn't join with the loose moraled Republicans and put over anything.

Yours,

WILL ROGERS.

NAVY FLYER NEARS SUN

Bureau of Standards Verifies Soucek's Altitude as 39,140 Feet

Announcement Gives World Record Definitely to United States

WASHINGTON, May 10. (AP)—Official announcement that Lieut. Apollo Soucek of the Navy has approached the sun nearer than has any other mortal was made today by the National Aeronautic Association.

The flyer reached a true altitude of 39,140 feet in his little cream-colored biplane over the naval air station Wednesday. This was determined today at the Bureau of Standards, where a barograph carried in the plane was calibrated. The National Aeronautic Association recognized the mark as a new world's altitude record.

Now Lieut. Soucek is bent on another goal—a new world's altitude record for seaplanes. He expects to begin flying toward it within a month, and the plane in which he

Chiang Rushes Large Force to Area to Drive Out Kwangsi Troops

Planes Employed in Attack on Disloyal Section of China Navy

[Copyright, 1929, by the Chicago Tribune]

SHANGHAI, May 10. (Exclusive) Although Canton is almost entirely surrounded by hostile Kwangsi or Cantonese forces whose attitude is uncertain, reports here tonight indicate the city still is holding out and may be able to ward off the attackers until government troops from the Yangtze Valley are dispatched in sufficient force to save the city.

Chinese papers print reports from Nanking stating that Gen. Chiang Kai-Shek is rushing a large force by boat to Canton and in the event Canton holds out until next Wednesday there will be sufficient troops in the Canton area to control the situation. Gen. Chiang also states that Huananese troops under command of Gen. Ho Chien now are invading the Kwangsi border, which is likely to force the Kwangsi withdrawal from the Canton district.

AIRPLANES USED

Owing to censorship direct reports from Canton have been delayed, but a correspondent in Canton gives a thrilling account of China's first use of airplanes against a disloyal section of the navy stationed in the Pearl River, the report stating:

"About 10 o'clock a number of airplanes appeared over Pakhotting from the direction of Macao Fort and began dropping bombs on the Chinese naval craft, while the Cantonese opened fire on the ships from both sides of the river with machine guns. Although most of the bombs missed their mark, one is thought to have scored a hit, causing the vessels to anchor in the adjacent foreign concession of Shameen, apparently seeking the protection of the foreign area. As a result of the airplane attack, the disloyal Admiral Chan Chai deserted and fled to Hongkong, enabling the Cantonese under Gen. Chang Chi-Tang to take over control of the ships."

COMMANDER OF FLYERS

It is reported here that the Canton air force was under command of Maj. Chang Wei-Chang, the Chinese airman who recently completed a pioneering flight throughout China.

Gen. Chang Chi-Tang, who is a Chiang Kai-Shek appointee, has departed for a strategic post fifty miles west of Canton in order to meet the chief drive of the Kwangsi territories.

Latest reports from Canton indicate the city is holding its own, although the civilian population is terrorized and fleeing to Hongkong in all available steamers. Reports from Hongkong state that airplane bombs fell in the foreign concession of Shameen, one striking near the foreign church and another in front of the establishment of an American concern, but they did no serious damage.

AMERICANS SHINE AT COURT

Wives of Many Envoys to St. James Born in United States, So They Sponsor Debutantes

[Copyright, 1929, by the Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, May 10. (Exclusive)—That European diplomats have a marked weakness for American wives was strikingly illustrated tonight at the second court of the London season when American-born women in the Diplomatic Corps sponsored debutantes from half a dozen countries.

Frau Stahmer, American-born wife of the German Ambassador, presented several women of her adopted country, and as acting dean of the Diplomatic Corps, sponsored the American group as well.

Another American who introduced European debutantes was Mme. Hadji Michess, bride of the Bulgarian Minister. She was Miss Theodora Legros of Orlando, Fla., and this was her first bow at the Court of St. James.

Baronne De Cartier De Marchienne, formerly Miss Maria Dow, is the wife of the Belgian Ambassador, and as such is responsible for her compatriots. Mme. Msaryk, wife of the Minister from Czecho-Slovakia, is half American and introduced the Czech women. Mme. Van Swinderen, who was Miss Glover of Washington and is now the wife of the Minister from The Netherlands, presented the women of her adopted country. It is an American who acts as the official hostess for the Italian Ambassador. She is the Countess Rogeri Di Villanova.

The American group presented tonight included Mrs. George Barnett of Richmond, Va.; Miss Mollie Cullum of Philadelphia, Mrs. Paul Grening of San Francisco, Mrs. George Lawrence of New York City, Miss Margaret McKittrick of St. Louis, Miss Katherine Norcross of Atlanta, Miss Margaret Tynel of Chicago and Washington, and Miss Adeline Winston of Atlanta.

NEW BOARD ON AIRWAYS ANNOUNCED

Committee Plan Follows Suggestion by Hoover; First Hearings Set

WASHINGTON, May 10. (Exclusive)—The formation of an interdepartmental committee on airways, suggested by President Hoover, to hear and determine questions relating to the extension of the civil airways system of the United States, was announced today by Postmaster-General Brown.

The fast-growing business of air transport, with its air-mail nucleus, and the consequent number of applications for extensions of existing routes and the establishment of new ones have made the organization of a committee to handle the resultant problems a necessary expedient.

The committee will hold public hearings from time to time to entertain suggestions from representatives of commercial organizations, State and city officials, members of Congress or even private individuals, for the establishment, extension or modification of the airways system.

The first of these hearings already has been set for the 22nd inst. at 10 a.m. at the Postoffice Department, when interested persons are invited to appear concerning the possible establishment of an airway between Pittsburgh and Norfolk, Va., by Baltimore and Washington, and another connecting Pittsburgh, Philadelphia and New York.

A hearing will be held on the 24th inst. at 10 a.m. on the question of establishing an airway from Pasco, Wash., to Seattle, Spokane, Portland and Tacoma.

Postal Receipts in Los Angeles Eighth in April

WASHINGTON, May 10. (Exclusive)—Los Angeles has reached eighth place among the cities of the United States in postal receipts. It has almost overtaken Kansas City for seventh place, lacking only $3000 in the attempt.

The gain in receipts for Los Angeles for April over April, 1928, was $54,670.15. The total postal receipts in Los Angeles for last month were $894,379.99. San Francisco's total for the same month was $761,869.20.

Los Angeles was exceeded in postal receipts in the United States by New York, Chicago, Boston, Philadelphia, St. Louis, Detroit and Kansas City. Postal officials indicate that in the next few months with new air-mail lines originating in Los Angeles the city will have a larger total than either Kansas City or St. Louis.

PORTLAND STUDENT NAMED ORATORICAL CHAMPION

Wilbur Thibault Wins Pacific Coast Constitutional Contest Before 6000 at Shrine Auditorium

BY JOHN S. DAGGETT

Wilbur Thibault of Oregon won the Pacific Zone grand finals of the Sixth National and Fourth International Oratorical Contest on the Constitution at Shrine Civic Auditorium last night before a capacity audience. Complete ratings were as follows:

Robert Corkery of Washington, second; Leonard Horvitz, California, third; Mary Katherine Morris, Nevada, fourth; Lavon Sorensen, Idaho, fifth; Adeline Reis, Territory Hawaii, sixth; Samuel Adams, Arizona, seventh and Dorothy Mensel, Utah, eighth.

Applause from 6000 people burst like a bombshell after the tension of the dead silence which preceded the final proclamation. Then a dainty, black-eyed, sun-tanned maid of Honolulu stepped forward and placed a beautiful floral lei over the head of the winner.

"Aloha," she said. "Aloha nui. Hawaii will pray for you in Washington."

SUCH IS PATRIOTISM

The girl was Adeline Reis, who had broken the path for the carnival of oratory by being the first speaker on the program. She did not win, but her heart welled with pride and hope for the one who did. Such is American patriotism. It was a deep lesson, simply and sincerely enacted in this arena of friendship.

Miss Reis had won the audience. Her calmness, her poise, her happy smile, as she stepped forward, bowed to Chief Jutice Straup of the Supreme Court of Utah, who presided, and her competitors and then faced the assemblage evoked a long-continued ovation that she never can forget. Her "Aloha" came as a final touch.

The stirring contest, which has been participated in by 50,000 high school students of the West, has reached its climax in the selection of the Oregon boy as its representative in the national contest. The scene will now shift to Washington, where the national finals will be held on the 25th inst., with President Hoover presiding and judged by justices of the Supreme Court of the United States.

SOUTH AMERICAN JAUNT

Thibault, the Pacific Coast victor, will be one of the eight national contestants who will journey through South America for twelve weeks as the guests of the contest, and should he win the national championship before his departure on the trip he will upon his return enter into a series of eliminations competing with the representatives from twenty-six other nations. The winner of the international finals will be declared the champion high school orator of the world.

Lewis R. Works, presiding justice, Second Appellate District, Division Two, District Court of Appeal of California, extended the initial welcome at the auditorium as the curtain rose, disclosing the eight contestants and the presiding officer of the evening, Chief Justice D. N. Straup of the Supreme Court of Utah, seated beneath a large American flag hanging just above their heads on the back drop of the stage.

TRIBUTE BY WORKS

"Your attendance tonight bespeaks an appreciation on your part of the duty you owe as citizens to this nation," said Judge Works, preceding his introduction of the chairman of the evening.

"The highest tribute you can pay to your citizenship is the reverence your presence attests for the Constitution upon which this government is founded. The body politic of America is already permeated with the spirit of this national and international contest which has been imbued into the hearts of our people by 10,608,000 high school students of the Constitution who have thus far spoken the message of love for and loyalty to the precepts of our form of government.

"You who are to witness this contest tonight will return to your homes stronger of heart, with a better understanding of your duty as Americans and better fitted for the future fulfilment of that duty of citizenship."

Justice Works then discussed the international aspect of the contest. "I can assure you that it is well within the bounds of reason that the day is not far distant when brotherly love will prevail among nations and the linking together of these students of the world and its affairs is proving an impelling adjunct toward that end."

He introduced Chief Justice Straup of Utah, and explained that

JOY REIGNS WITH BYRD

North Pole Trip Celebrated

All Who Have Gone Beyond Latitude 78, North or South, Form Club

Turkey Dinner Served and Men's Loyalty Pledged; Three Messages Sent

BY RUSSELL OWEN

(Copyright, 1929, by the New York Times Company and St. Louis Post-Dispatch. All rights for publication reserved throughout the world.)

LITTLE AMERICA (Antarctica) May 10. (Exclusive)—Yesterday was a great day in camp. We celebrated the commander's flight to the North Pole with a turkey dinner and formed the "78 Club." The members are those of the Byrd expedition who have been north and south of Latitude 78, for both Kings Bay and Little America are inside those northern and southern limits.

The dinner was a surprise for Commander Byrd. The room was decorated with flags and the table set with a real white cloth. The first to be seated were those who had been at Spitzbergen on the North Pole expedition, fourteen, including the commander, while the others perched on bunks and had bits of turkey flaunted in their faces for the good of their appetites. Commander Byrd was made president of the club and presided with a gavel made for him by Victor Czegka.

GLOBE ON NAVAL GUN

It is a globe of lignum vitae with the poles and the Arctic and Antartic circles marked on it, the commander's name set in silver pegs and the globe mounted on a handle made in imitation of a long-range naval gun. The insignia of the club was drawn by Bernt Balchen. It is a circle with the figures 78 in the center, a plane on one side and one polar bear at the top and a penguin at the bottom.

The purpose of the club is to keep alive the associations formed during the whole course of the expedition, as outlined by G. Hamilton Black, who also was at Spitzbergen and who expressed the loyalty and devotion of the men both here and in New Zealand to the commander and their determination to give whole-hearted efforts toward the success of the expedition.

"We will follow you anywhere in the world any time, commander, and we want you to know it," said Black.

THREE MESSAGES SENT

Messages also were sent to Mrs. Richard E. Byrd, Jr., wife of the commander, to his mother, Mrs. Richard E. Byrd and to Mrs. Floyd Bennett, wife of the commander's companion on the North Pole flight. The message to Mrs. Byrd in Boston follows:

"The members of the commander's expedition, we who take pleasure in doing him honor on this anniversary of his North Pole flight, send you their greetings and all best wishes. We want you to know that we appreciate the sacrifices you have made, that in giving him our unselfish loyalty and ungrudging efforts we are doing what we can to

SCHOOL HEADS DISCHARGED

San Mateo Principals Ousted as Result of Strike Following Dismissal of Coach

SAN MATEO, May 10. (AP)—Climaxing a hectic day which included a student strike, Frank H. Boren, superintendent of the San Mateo school district, tonight announced the removal of two high school principals effective next January 1.

The principals are Ray O. Diether of the San Mateo Union High School and R. W. Faulkner of the Burlingame High School.

Explaining his action, Boren said the removal was authorized by the school board at a recent meeting as part of an extensive economy program.

As a protest against the discharge of George S. Reed, physical director and track coach of San Mateo High School, and the subsequent resignation of James E. "Spud" Spalding, baseball, football and basketball coach, more than 1000 students of that school went on strike this morning.

Walking out of the school, the students climbed into automobiles and paraded through the streets shouting "we want Reed, we want Spud." Efforts of Boren to get them to return to classes were without avail.

"We will go back when they go back," the students said.

Boren ordered the school closed at noon and tonight is waiting the outcome of the strike, which probably will be determined Monday morning.

The San Mateo County Board of Education notified Reed he would not be recommended for re-employment next year, and Spalding, incensed at the board, handed in his resignation, it is said.

Boren said today he plans to take over the principalship of the two schools himself next year, provided the plan is approved by the school board.

STORMS AHEAD FOR TARIFF BILL

Party Conference Discloses Knives Out

Californians Demand Cotton Off Free List

Revision of Schedules Held Price of Passage

WASHINGTON, May 10. (Exclusive)—House Republicans this afternoon held the first of a series of party conferences on the Hawley tariff bill and from the nature of the discussion it was evident a number of schedules will have to be opened up for amendment if Republican leaders are to be able to line up sufficient votes to put through a reasonably stringent rule whereby the measure in the main will be passed without tinkering on the floor.

Indications were, according to members attending the conference, that the schedules relating to sugar, hides, boots and shoes, live cattle, brick, cement, long staple cotton and a few other commodities closely identified with living costs will be thrown open to free action by the House itself. The duty on sugar was increased and members are demanding a crack at it. Hides, cattle and boots and shoes did not receive the protection sought while brick, cement and other building materials received increases which have aroused great opposition among Western groups.

CALIFORNIA HARD HIT

The California delegation is particularly insistent that long staple cotton be taken from the free list.

There was no discussion of the merits of specific rates fixed by the committee, no motions were made and nothing of a definite character was accomplished, save for adoption of a resolution thanking the Ways and Means Committee for its tedious work in drafting the bill. At least one more conference, possibly several, will be held upon call of the majority leader, Representative Tilson of Connecticut.

The discussion today was described as general and harmonious and members questioned afterward were virtually one in declaring the belief that the Republican side in the House will iron out all differences and present a united front in adoption of a rule and passage of the bill. All agreed, however, that changes will have to be decided upon before complete harmony can be obtained.

REVISION PROVIDED

Following the conference Representative Tilson told the press that if at subsequent meetings a majority of the Republicans decided certain schedules should be opened for amendment provision for this would be made in the rule.

Tilson opened the conference with a speech strongly urging that the bill be supported practically as written by the Ways and Means Committee but before the two-hour exchange of opinions was over there was no thought in his mind or that of any other leader that the Republican majority would swallow the bill whole.

The floor leader was followed by Representative Snell of New York, chairman of the Rules Committee, who read textually all the rules that have governed consideration of past tariff bills in the House. This was done, Tilson explained, so that the members would be shown that no effort was to be made to put through a "gag" rule or one different from those adopted in years gone by.

Snell presented a skeleton draft of a rule similar to those employed in the past but leaving blank space for the designation of whatever tariff schedules are to be open for amendment from the floor and with the usual provision for amendments offered by the committee.

The tentative rule suggested two dates—the 18th inst. for closing of general debate and the 23rd inst. for a final vote on the bill—but Representative Tilson said afterward a few more days probably will be necessary. "I still think," he said, "that we will pass the tariff bill before the end of the month."

Prior to the Republican conference, which began at 3 o'clock, the House had continued general debate and it was especially listless. An occasional outburst occurred and evidences of partisan differences came out more clearly.

The sugar tariff, one of the highly controversial issues in the bill, was discussed by Representative Timberlake, Republican of Colorado, chairman of the subcommittee on the sugar schedule. He declared additional protection to the beet sugar interests of this country is justified but warned that means should be taken to prevent the spread of this industry to the Southern States.

DIVIDENDS EXPLAINED

"If beet sugar interests need more protection," Representative Stafford, Republican of Wisconsin, inquired, "then how do you account for the 40 per cent dividend declared by the Great Western Sugar Company of Colorado." This, Mr. Timberlake replied, was paid from profits which had accumulated over a period of years and not for one year.

Representative Crowther of New York took the floor to observe that the price of sugar had decreased since the passage of the Fordney-McCumber Act and that the price of sugar today in the United States was 3 cents lower than in any country of Europe.

Here the debate was shifted to the question of placing a duty on hides. Representative Hudspeth, Democrat of Texas, asked Mr. Timberlake why this schedule had been neglected. He declared that he had fought for an open schedule on hides and had introduced a bill to place a duty on these products.

The boot and shoe industry will be forced to dire circumstances if these products remain on the free list, Representative Connery, Democrat of Massachusetts, warned. He said that 1,400,000 pairs of shoes had been imported last year and that it was estimated 4,000,000 pairs would enter this year in competition with American industry.

"It is not the manufacturer but the working man and woman I am asking you to protect," Mr. Connery declared. "Why, if you allow this free list to stand you will practically wipe Lynn, Mass., off the map."

He then went on to show that the placing of a duty on shoes was necessary to the welfare of the industry and declared he would not oppose a duty on hides. "If you want a duty on hides, then get it," he said, "but give us the compensatory duty on boots and shoes."

TARIFF PROTEST BACKFIRES

Growers League's Wires Cause Representatives to Warn of Possible Reaction

WASHINGTON, May 10. (Exclusive)—The California Congressional delegation was indignant today over the tactics of certain California agricultural groups, notably the Growers' Tariff League, in connection with the Hawley tariff measure as it affects California products.

Representative Evans of Glendale and Representative Free of San Jose both issued statements vehemently protesting the actions of the Growers' Tariff League and others which in their judgment may imperil the readjustment of rates on California products now in the process of final negotiation.

The California Growers' Tariff League today sent all members of the delegation wires wholly disapproving of the tariff bill as it affects California. At the same time the league telegraphed every chamber of commerce and important bank in California asking them to join in the protest. The result was a perfect barrage of messages to California Representatives. Having done what they thought was more than a good job for their State in framing the tariff the California Representatives naturally were amazed and their reaction is that the wail from back home is entirely groundless, and the result of misinformation as to the true tariff situation in Washington.

TREATED FAIRLY

Following the tariff conference of House Republicans held today Representative Evans said:

"I want it made clear that California has been treated very favorably in the new tariff bill. We did not get everything we asked for but neither did anybody else. Comparatively speaking California is better off than any other State and we probably will be able to remedy the most glaring omissions of California products, particularly figs, if our efforts are not thwarted by ill-advised interference from organizations in the State.

"In the schedules on California products there is no instance of a lowering of a duty and the average increase is at least 50 per cent on those products increased. While it is true that some of the products did not receive a badly needed rise there is reason to believe that these matters can be adjusted and the delegation is hard at work making every effort possible to do so. California has come off well in the tariff readjustment and in comparison to other States it is in extremely good position."

FREE SCORES ACTION

Representative Free did not mince language in his statement. He said:

"California has fared better than any State in the Union on tariff readjustment. Yet the California Growers' Tariff League claiming to represent 4000 members and every product of the soil in California has sent to every bank and chamber of commerce in the State a telegram stating that 'the farmer in California has been treated very badly,' and urging these organizations to wire their Representatives. Before people in the State send telegrams of this sort they should at least get in touch with their Representatives who are on the ground here making the fight and get the situation straight.

"It is amazing that such organizations should wire Washington before they are aware of the true facts. If the leaders of the organizations sponsoring such propaganda, based as this one is on misinformation, do not look out they will be consigned by members of Congress to a region hotter than Washington in the summer. They have done nothing but incense their Representatives and they may possibly alienate the Ways and Means Committee from a just revision of certain schedules affecting California products."

Forecasting the probable action of Congress and the delegation, Representative Free stated that the Ways and Means Committee and subcommittees will hear protests from members on schedules, and that the California delegation probably will meet to assign members of the delegation to handle specific schedules in an informal meeting before the committees. At this meeting every effort will be made by the Californians to straighten out the tariff snarls.

MEETING SOON

It is probable that committee members will explain the reasons why some California products were not included or increased as high as had been asked. The situation being what it is when tact, sound reasoning, a real case and common sense are vital to the success of the negotiations, Mr. Free concluded, "misinformed and half-baked interference in the form of 'inspired' series of telegrams sponsored by 'high-pressure' organizations is not only aggravating and amazing but it is likely to be actually injurious to the causes for which we are working."

A meeting of the delegation will be called soon, probably tomorrow. It is expected that members from California will be allocated to specific schedules for which they will insist on increases before the subcommittees of the Ways and Means Committee, and clarify certain points of interest to California.

HAWLEY THINKS STATE CARED FOR

SAN FRANCISCO, May 10. (Exclusive)—Protests of the Growers' Tariff League of San Francisco that farm products have not received fair treatment at the hands of the House Ways and Means Committee in its preparation of a tariff bill, have had their effect, the league announced today in making public telegrams exchanged between Representatives Hawley, chairman of the committee, and the league.

Expressing the opinion that "the general opinion seems to be that California is pretty well taken care of in the tariff," Hawley's message said, "what further increases do you suggest and why?"

Immediately the league sent a reply in which it stated that a canvass was being made of the commodity groups represented in its membership and the suggestion being made to them that they answer for themselves.

After the dinner motion pictures of the North Pole flight were shown and the first news reel ever shown in the Antarctic showing the City of New York leaving New York on the long voyage south. Taps was a little later than usual and it was voted a great day.

Added Sum for Railroads Asked

WASHINGTON, May 10. (AP)—President Hoover today recommended that Congress make available a supplemental appropriation of $39,000,000 for additional compensation to railroads for transportation of mails in accordance with the recent decision of the Interstate Commerce Commission making increases in rates retroactive.

The estimate also covers the increases for the fiscal year 1929.

The recommendations resulted from the recent discussion of the Supreme Court upholding lower courts and the commission.

Bandits Ambush Mexican Train

MEXICO CITY, May 10. (AP)—Dispatches to La Prensa state that a passenger train from Colima to Guadalajara was ambushed by irregular bands between the stations of Fernandez and Alazada on Tuesday.

The military escort held off the insurgents for three hours, when reinforcements arrived and drove off the attackers. Two soldiers were killed. So far as is known all the insurgents escaped.

SENATORS RUSH BILLS THROUGH

Upper House Works Hard for Adjournment

Assembly Measures Passed Without Discussion

Heritage Tax Cut and "Cow Counties" Gift Adopted

BY C. A. JONES
"Times" Staff Correspondent

SACRAMENTO, May 10. — Still delayed on its legislative calendar by the three weeks' impeachment trial, the Senate worked late this afternoon passing Assembly bills in an effort to clear the file so that final adjournment, scheduled for next Wednesday, will be possible. A session tomorrow morning was ordered, the first Saturday meeting of the year.

Very little in the way of argument obstructed Senate work today, the most important bills being adopted without discussion. As the Senate is working exclusively on lower house bills this action is final and if approved by the Governor they will become law.

BILLS PASSED TODAY

Among the bills passed today by the Senate was the measure deducting the State inheritance tax, the bill granting fifteen minor counties a minimum of $20,000 a year from the gasoline tax and a constitutional amendment proposing the reduction of the State tax on street railways.

Assembly Bill No. 834 by Jones of Ontario increases the widow's exemption under the State inheritance tax in the higher brackets, from $24,000 to $50,000 and reduces the State's tax from 12 to 10 per cent. The bill is sponsored by State Controller Riley, who says it will mean an annual loss in revenue to the State of $1,500,000. However, this loss probably will be met and exceeded by the added wealth which will come to California now that the tax imposition is lowered. By adopting this amendment California removes the advantage offered by other States to wealthy people seeking a residence where their fortunes will not be gobbled up by the government upon death. The measure was handled in the Senate by Swing of San Bernardino.

COW COUNTIES WIN

Senator Merriam of Long Beach handled Assembly Bill No. 1060 for Assemblyman Williams of Jacksonville, which sets a minimum of $20,000 a year from the gasoline tax for little mountain counties, none of which contribute that much to the fund. The bill means that Los Angeles county will be forced to surrender more than $72,000 annually from its proportion of the gasoline tax fund with San Francisco, Alameda, San Diego, Fresno and the other counties giving it smaller amounts.

The argument in favor of the bill is that the weak counties should have help from the strong to maintain their roads, over which people from the centers of population travel. The State, however, keeps up the principal roads in these counties from State funds, supplied in the main from the wealthy counties. Session after session, the sparsely populated counties, which have an excessive representation, due to the failure to reapportion legislative districts, come to the Capitol seeking to reduce the proportion of gas tax money which goes to the centers of population.

DOOR WEDGED OPEN

The opposition to Williams's bill was based upon the belief that the so-called cow counties, once having established the principle of taking more than their share of the money, will demand $50,000 or $100,000. In many respects, according to opponents of the bill, it is absurd to give such counties as Alpine, with a population of 200 people, $20,000 with no place to spend it.

The constitutional amendment of Assemblyman Snyder of Santa Cruz, which proposes the reduction of the State gross receipts tax on street railways, from 4½ to 3½ per cent, passed the Senate and will go on next year's ballot. The street railways contend that they have lost $2,000,000 in the past year and the amendment was supported by the State Tax Commission and the Board of Equalization.

NEW MOTOR LAW

Characterizing the bill as "one of the most important pieces of legislation enacted by the present Legislature," Gov. Young today placed his signature upon California's new Motor Vehicle Act, sponsored by Senator Breed of Alameda county.

The new act, in addition to making numerous important changes in the motor-vehicle laws of the State, provides for the creation of a unified State highway patrol operated under direct State supervision.

The Governor declared that the entire Motor Vehicle Act now upon the statute books has "been revamped to suit existing conditions."

SIGNING CEREMONY

The bill was signed with considerable ceremony in the presence of a gathering in the Governor's office.

In a statement Gov. Young Called

In a statement Gov. Young called the bill after he had been successful in securing the passage by the Legislature of a measure protecting the new State-wide traffic patrol by civil service. Without this protection, Gov. Young declared, the bill might have created "a political machine such as none of us would wish to be established."

ARIZONA FOREST FIRE FAST GAINS HEADWAY

NOGALES (Ariz.) May 10. (AP)—A fierce forest fire, raging over a five-mile front, is gaining much headway and is spreading in the heavily-timbered Patagonia mountain range, about ten miles northeast of Nogales. Many men are now fighting the blaze. The fire has been sweeping the mountain for nearly forty-eight hours.

TOY BALLOONS AID TO FLYERS

Their Use in Determining Airport "Ceiling" Adds To Landing Safety

WASHINGTON, May 10. (AP) Toy balloons now are being used to aid in the safety of aviators.

They are employed, the Department of Commerce announced today, in determining the "ceiling" of airports to insure safe landing. The ceiling height is the height of the clouds above the surface of the landing field.

The toy balloon is inflated until it will support a weight of 40 grams, and then is released. Under these conditions, it will soar skyward five and one-half feet a second, and a stop watch registers the time elapsing between the release of the balloon and its disappearance among the clouds.

June 19 Final Day for Young to Sign Bills

SACRAMENTO, May 10. (Exclusive)—June 19 has been set by the Legislative Council Bureau as the last day upon which Gov. Young can sign bills passed in the current session of the Legislature. The bureau also ruled that the final day that any bill signed by the Governor can be affected by referendum is August 13.

Pending legislation makes uncertain the time when the bills will become effective as the Legislature has under consideration Assembly Bill 832, by Assemblyman West, which would have all bills go into effect ninety-one days after the date of adjournment by the Legislature. In this case it would be August 8.

fort to eliminate them for the benefit of the "middle man."

It has been pointed out during debate of the last few days that producers in any section not desiring to take advantage of the operation of the proposed farm board, may stay out of the relief scheme simply by declining to organize in the manner prescribed in the legislation.

Senators Shortridge and Johnson of California were at the forefront of the fight to keep fruits and vegetables in the bill.

FINAL VOTE ON FARM BILL SURE NEXT WEEK

WASHINGTON, May 10. (AP)—A final vote early next week on passage of the farm-relief bill with its export debenture section was assured today as a result of the Senate agreeing to limit debate on the measure and pending amendments at 3 p.m. Monday.

The Senate accepted an amendment which would give Congress instead of the President the power to fix the salary of the proposed farm board's chairman.

FESS SWINGS OVER

Among those who voted with the Democratic-Republican Independent group was Senator Fess, Republican, Ohio, who yesterday complained because "Senator Borah and other psuedo-Republicans" disregarded President Hoover's view on the debenture proposal. Earlier, Senator Brookhart of Iowa, also mentioned by Fess had announced that he will speak Monday on "pseudo-Republicans."

Among those who voted for the debenture plan but today voted to give Mr. Hoover the right to fix the salary of the board chairman were Senators Howell of Nebraska, Norbeck of South Dakota, and Schall of Minnesota, all of the Republican independent group.

An amendment by Senator Thomas to permit the proposed farm board to appoint its own vice-chairman to act when the chairmon is not present was accepted.

ONE TURNED DOWN

Another amendment by the Oklahoma Senator stipulating that the farm board members must "understand the farm problem, shall have the viewpoint of the farmer, and shall have the interests of agriculture uppermost" was rejected. The latter proposal was described as superfluous by Senator McNary, who declared that President Hoover can not be expected to do otherwise than make members to the board those whose sympathy with the agricultural situation is above challenge.

Finally the Senate rejected an amendment offered by Senator Vandenberg, Republican, Michigan, proposing that the establishment of stabilization agencies should be contingent on consent of five of the seven members of the advisory commodity councils of the crop affected. Both Senator McNary and Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, contended that this proposal would tend to curb the jurisdiction of the farm board.

Railroad Link Plan Defended

SALT LAKE CITY, May 10. (AP) Arguments in behalf of the construction of a railroad from Kalmath Falls, Or., to Paxton or Keddie, Cal., to link up the Great Northern and the Western Pacific railroads were presented to the Salt Lake City Chamber of Commerce today by H. M. Adams, president of the Western Pacific, and J. S. Byeatt, president of the Denver and Rio Grande Western.

The Salt Lake City chamber is to hear at a later date representatives of the Southern Pacific which is opposing the attempt to the Hill lines to effect a psysical connection between their Northwest properties and those in Southern Oregon and California.

HARMONY TINTS CLUB SESSIONS

Passing of Revisions Brings New Spirit to Assembly

New Federation President Given Great Ovation

Tobacco Company Scored at Women's Convention

BY MYRA NYE
"Times" Staff Representative

SANTA CRUZ, May 10. (Exclusive)—A new convention came into being here this morning. Since the passing of the revisions by the California Federation of Women's Clubs yesterday a new spirit of harmony animates the entire assembly. More worthwhile work is done and greater inspiration prevails on platform and floor alike.

Immediately after her election as State president by unanimous viva voce vote the first thing this morning Mrs. William Waller Slayden, in response to an ovation given her, delivered a brief address on "What Shall We Tell the World?"

"We will tell that there is power of accomplishment in our harmonious organization," said Mrs. Slayden. "We gather together not to reform anybody but to form friendships and thus promote understanding. We recognize the danger of ignorance at work, and our fundamental aim is to be so well organized that we may be of help to make home life more beautiful, our churches more spiritual, our motion pictures better for our youth to help their education and our government of State and nation more vigorous in enforcement of law to promote a new patriotism. We work for a united California—united geographically and in spirit.

MEMORIAL SITE CHOSEN

"A single candle set in a window sends a light to few, but we, as organized women, will send a light like a beacon. What we want to tell the world is most of all our ideals. We wish the public would listen to that and not to trivial absurdities about us."

Mrs. W. W. Green, presiding, announced that the exact place for the Redwood Memorial grove is chosen. She introduced Mrs. Annie Little Barry, chairman of the Redwood Memorial movement, and Mrs. J. B. Lorbeer, who originated the movement, as chairman of conservation seven years ago. Mrs. Lorbeer made the motion that the redwood grove where Jordan Creek poins Eel River, thirty-five miles south of Eureka, be purchased from the Metropolitan Club.

The grove is to be named the California Federation of Women's Clubs Memorial Grove as a memorial for all time to California women.

The $50,000 endowment fund was completed this morning and a new fund for the general federation was started and the plan outlined by Mrs. Robert J. Burdette.

The junior club women are in session here in annual convention for the first time. Mrs. Thomas E. Scott of Los Angeles, chairman, raised $1000 for a scholarship fund.

Gov. Young telephoned Mrs. Green that he signed yesterday the bill for a separate State institution for women offenders—a project long worked for by State club women.

An agricultural committee of the State Assembly in session last night sent a telegram to the convention body asking aid in preventing the Mediterranean fly menace to California citrus fruits, said to be a danger to California 500 times greater than the foot-and-mouth disease. The federation pledged aid by a campaign of broadcasting information and education.

SMOKING DEPLORED

Inspired by the address of Ben Allen, publisher, editor, and associated with the Associated Press, the delegate body took action against reduction of tariff on fruits, particularly citrus fruits of California. Telegrams were sent to Washington to the agricultural committee meeting tonight urging that no action reducing tariff be taken.

A resolution was passed deploring constant smoking by young women and by adolescent boys and girls and condemning the advertising of the American Tobacco Company, which, as the resolution reads, removes all the barriers from smoking, is "untrue and pernicious" in that it leads youths to believe that smoking is a physical benefit and removes the approbium that always has existed in the United States against young people smoking.

"Our protest must be felt continually against such false education by advertising," the resolution reads.

The San Joaquin Valley district and the city of Oakland both extended invitations for the delegation's meet next year. Decision will be made by the new board next week with the probability of Oakland's invitation being accepted, according to unofficial statement of Mrs. Green.

In surprise compliment to Mrs. Green the National Broadcasting Company presented a program by the Arion Trio. Mrs. Green also was given, by the San Francisco district this morning, a beautiful golden console and golden candle-sticks, each district previously having given gifts. The one from the Los Angeles district is a handsome marquise diamond and emerald ring.

BRILLIANT SYMPOSIUM

Mrs. Slayden's address was a part of one of the most brilliant symposiums ever given at a convention in recent years. The six district presidents, including Mrs. Slayden, participated. The subject was "Telling the World." "Who," Mrs. William Yauchlands of Alameda; "What," Mrs. Slayden of Los Angeles; "Where," Mrs. J. V. Leithold, Northern; "When," Mrs. Hamilton Riggins, San Francisco; "Which," Mrs. W. W. Goodrich, San Joaquin Valley; "Why," Mrs. Henry Denyse.

Other officers elected with Mrs. Slayden, and who will be presented tonight in formal ceremony are: Miss Josephine Seaman of southern district, vice-president; Mrs. Annie Little Barry of Alameda district, vice-president-at-large; Mrs. William L. Sales of San Francisco district, recording secretary; Mrs. L. L. Freeman, northern district, treasurer; Mrs. Walter S. Cairns, San Joaquin Valley district, auditor.

Tomorrow the convention ends with the annual "Play Day" in the big basin at the State Redwood Park. Los Angeles delegates will return home tonight after honoring Mrs. Slayden in this evening's ceremony.

NEW RADIO TAX PROPO

Brookhart Would Make Fans Pay Cigarette Advertising C

WASHINGTON, May 10. (AP)—A suggestion th on radio-receiving sets to bear the broadcasting Senator Brookhart, Republican, Iowa, before the merce Committee which is considering a bill to telephone and cable communications under one

Brookhart also inquired of Louis G. Caldwell, former general counsel of the Radio Commission, who appeared as a witness, whether there is "any reason why the government cannot take over the whole broadcasting business."

"No," the witness answered, explaining there are no legal difficulties in the way.

The question of censorship advertising over the air also arose when Chairman Cousens, author of the bill, referred to "the propriety" of advertising recently sent out by a cigarette manufacturer.

"Should broadcasters be permitted to encourage the use of cigarettes in the home?" he asked.

"Those questions," Caldwell answered, "will be decided by the public. In renewing licenses for broadcasting the commission has the discretion of considering past performance of the stations and, for the present, at least, that seems to be a sufficient safeguard."

ADVERTISERS PAY

Caldwell added that it costs the larger stations from $200,000 to $400,000 annually to operate, for which the receiver pays nothing. "The expense," he said, "must be borne by revenue from advertising."

"The only excuse, then for advertising," Senator Pittman, Democrat, Nevada, said, "is the revenue."

Pittman suggested there were other "things of so much greater educational value that the public probably will find a way to obtain them in place of advertising."

LONG ROAD AHEAD

"Unless you tax receiving sets," he said, "the commission must be allowed to draw the line as between good and bad features of programs broadcast."

Senator Dill, Democrat, Washington, expressed the opinion that the taxing proposal will "have to travel a long road" before it can be enacted into law.

"It will run into constant difficulties," Caldwell agreed.

"Senator Wagner, Democrat, New York, asked whether the radio commission has "power to inquire into the kind of programs presented."

"I think it has," Caldwell replied.

Caldwell said he believed that until the Radio Commission is "put on a permanent basis and takes over the functions exercised by the Department of Commerce, it would be a mistake to group all kinds of communications under one commission," although he said, there is "no reason for treating wireless differently from wires."

RECORD SET BY LIEUT. SOUCEK

made he record will be equipped with pontoons.

Officials of the National Aeronautic Association said the Bureau of Standards' record on Lieut. Soucek's flight will be sent to Paris for recognition by the Federation Aeronautique Internationale. They expressed gratification because the record is "unquestionably" possessed in the United States.

The previous mark, 38,418 feet, was made by Lieut. C. C. Champion of the Navy, in July, 1927, in the same plane used by Lieut. Soucek. This record once was exceeded by an Italian flyer, officials said, but the Italian record was not recognized because it did not exceed Champion's mark by more than 100 meters. Lieut. Soucek's record, exceeding the old by 722 feet, more than meets requirements that new records must exceed old marks by at least 100 meters, or approximately 300 feet.

WASHINGTON, May 10. (AP)—The Senate today confirmed the nomination of Oscar B. Colquitt, former Texas Governor, to be a member of the railway board of mediation.

The nomination of A. Lee Wyman, to be Federal judge of the South Dakota district, also was confirmed.

Six Thousand Hear Eloquent Defense of American Ideals in Constitutional Contest

SPOKANE YOUTH SECOND IN ORATORICAL CONTEST

Justice Works Predicts Peace Era as Result of World-Wide Student Competition

[illegible] to a derailment of the train, [illegible] group had come from the [illegible] in Los Angeles direct to the [illegible].

The Utah jurist discussed the [illegible] spread of propaganda which he held constitutes a danger[illegible] of the tenets of the Constitution. "We have heard it on the street corners, from the soap box, and it has crept in some cases even into our public schools," he said. "This contest on the Constitution probably is doing more to offset the dangers of such propaganda than any one other American [illegible]. It is carrying the [illegible] of loyalty to the Constitution, so dear to the heart of every [illegible], into thousands of households of this land."

The order of the presentation of orations follows:

"The Citizen, His Privileges and Duties Under the Constitution," Adeline Reis.

"The Constitution and the Flag," Mary K. Morris.

"The Constitution, a Guarantee of Liberty for the Individual," Dorothy Mensel.

"The Constitution," Wilbur Thibault.

"The Constitution Today," Robert Corkery.

"The Constitution—A Triumph of Ideals," Leonard Horvitz.

"The Constitution in the Daily Life of the Individual," Lavon Sorensen.

"The Constitution Today," Samuel Adams.

CONTEST JUDGES

The contest was judged by the following:

Oliver P. Coshow, Chief Justice, Supreme Court of Oregon; Edward A. Ducker, Chief Justice, Supreme Court of Nevada; Alfred Lockwood, Chief Justice, Supreme Court of Arizona; George Malcom, Associate Justice, Supreme Court of Philippine Islands; William P. James, Judge United States District Court.

[illegible] seats had been disposed of by 8 o'clock last night and as the entire auditorium was reserved no seats were available for several hundred who arrived without reservations just prior to 8 o'clock. When the curtain rose at that hour the auditorium was completely filled with the exception of a few late groups of high school students who came from outlying districts.

Thibault's address, which was the fourth on the program, was prepared under the simple theme of "The Constitution." Under uniform ruling of Oratorical Contest Headquarters at Washington the winning oration cannot be printed in full until it has reached the final stage in its competition.

WINNER'S ADDRESS

With clear logic and forensic oratory, the winner proved the Constitution to be as strong a document in this age of complex civilization and startling accomplishments as when its signers in 1778 proclaimed to the world a new nation demanding liberty.

He asserted the Constitution to be the firm foundation on which all nations might base their hopes for equitable law and hopes for continued peace.

"The rest of the world sees in our Constitution a model for a scheme of international organization, international union, perhaps world peace. They recognize the success of our great experiment. They see our Constitution as a permanent structure and well has it proved its worth. From its inauguration nations have tested its strength. For a century and a half men have sought out its flaws. Civil war threatened to tear it asunder, yet it has never yielded.

"Our Constitution," the speaker said, "and all that it stands for will live only as long as we, the people of today, continue to hold it in as high esteem as did the men who gave their lives in such great crises in our history as 1776, 1865 and 1918.

"Shall these dead have died in vain? Are we, through criminal negligence and indifference to duty, going to blot out the greatest work ever struck off by the hand of man? Now of all times, we must hold our banner high. The eyes of the universe are focused upon us. Our Constitution has come to stand, not only for peace and unity, but for something higher and nobler than man has yet attained."

GLORY OF CITIZENSHIP

In enumerating the tremendous benefits of the Constitution, Miss Adeline Reis of McKinley High School, Honolulu, T. H., first speaker on the program, asserted that the rights of freedom of speech and of the press, protected by the draft of the Revolutionary forefathers, are the corner-stones of our government.

"The American ideal," she said, "is that all men are created equal, equal in privileges, equal in opportunities and equal before the law and equal before the Almighty. The glory of our citizenship consists in the fact that we recognize [illegible] possibilities in the lowliest [illegible]."

SIMPLE MAJESTY

Mary Katherine Morris of the Churchill County High School at Fallon, Nev., described impressively the Constitution as a miracle of statesmanship wrought in four months which "stands fixed and immovable save in accordance with the law of its own life, towering majestically above Congress, above the courts, above the President—sublime in its power and majestic in its simplicity—the Constitution of the United States."

Miss Morris denounced the apathy of the electorate as "unrighteous neglect of our obligation to vote at all elections," stressed the menace of corruption in high places and the growing disrespect for law and order.

"If we are to yield to the new generation a Constitution unsullied," she said, "with all its blessings and possibilities undimmed, we must fight for it as never before. Let respect for law and order be taught in every home and school. Let it become a living creed. Let us [illegible] anew to the principles which we have been taught to revere . . . and may the Constitution lead us to new heights of national righteousness, and to new covenants of international peace."

DEFEND OUR HERITAGE

A plea that Americans make their creeds, utterances, writings and actions always to conform with the principles of liberties embodied in the Constitution lest those become license was made in the oration delivered by Miss Dorothy Mensel of the Carbon County High School of Price, Utah.

"To be a citizen of the United States," she said, "means that one is entitled to enjoy the rights and privileges of this great representative republic, to be secure in the enjoyment of freedom, justice and possession of our property. If we would enjoy that freedom, it is our duty to understand and defend that document which insures it.

"Let us remember that this Constitution was ordained and established for us. Upon us, therefore, rests a sacred obligation. We do not intend that this nation shall crumble or fall. We want to hand this Constitution down to posterity wholesome and unstained, and if we violate the law we are marring those ideals for which our fathers fought."

WEIGHS THE FUTURE

Robert Corkery of Gonzaga High School, Spokane, Wash., weighed carefully the future of the United States against many of the dark hours which have appeared in her path of progress in the past, and concluded that so long as Americans hold firm and true to the Constitution the structure of liberty shall remain solid.

From the Revolution which bore the document he followed its light through the decades to where the Union faltered in Civil War and to "the fields of Flanders, where thousands of American soldiers mingled their life's blood with the red of the poppies over there."

"Now, what of the future?" he asked. "Attempts are being made to undermine the noble structure of American liberties. Doctrines in defiance of the principles of the Constitution are being preached, aye, even from the housetops. Lawlessness among young and old, disrespect for authority, and abuse of high office for private gain are some of the perils that confront us today. Dangers have arisen before and have been overcome, and they will continue to arise in the future to be conquered only by a close adherence to the principles of that Constitution that has made America known throughout the world as the land of the free."

ETERNAL PRINCIPLES

In his stirring oration, "The Constitution, a Triumph of Ideals," Leonard Horvitz of the Los Angeles High School traced the benefits of the great American document to the United States and to the world. He found in the final analysis of its immortal precepts eternal principles of human progress which if embodied in the ideals of the nations of the world will enthrone peace and outlaw war.

"Today," he said, "the Constitution stands upon the threshold of a new age. As in a glorious past, America leads the world in a quest for peace, that ideal inherent in the spirit of our Constitution. In our Pan-American relations, the Constitution burns the inscription of its ideals upon every monument of friendship erected by our several American peoples. Based upon constitutional ideals of peace, harmony and justice, Pan-American rolls a mighty anthem of hope from Canada to Cape Horn.

"May the day soon come when all nations shall realize the fulfillment of these ideals."

In closing he appealed to all Americans to discharge their "sacred duties" and model their actions by the principles of the Constitution, "America's finest contribution to world civilization."

ELECTRIFIES AUDIENCE

Lavon Sorensen, a tall, rangy lad from the Madison High School at Rexburg, Idaho, electrified his audience with the oration, "The Constitution in the Daily Life of the Individual," and introduced the immortal document as the strong bulwark of liberty behind the "we," the citizens of the United States.

"I would not have you believe," he declared, "that the spirit of the Constitution originated with its drafting by the Colonies. It is as old as the everlasting hills and coexistent with man—but there never came a favorable opportunity to give it expression until its voice was heard crying in the wilderness, far away from the land of kings.

"Constitutions and kings do not grow together in the same soil. If ever a king should establish a throne on this, the American continent, you may bid our Constitution a sad farewell, as with it will go all our cherished liberties. But there shall be no kings on this land. The voice of God has decreed it.

"The big I in the vocabulary of kings is not to be pronounced with emphasis on this hemisphere. The modest little we introduced the will of all the people and is the beginning to the preamble to the Constitution, and is the very soul animating the body of that wonderful document."

APPEALS FOR ACTION

With a discussion of "The Constitution Today," Samuel Adams of the Tucson High School, Tucson, Ariz., sounded a rally call to the American ballot box, warned of the dangers of official corruption and appealed for a "positive attitude and action" individually toward government.

"The people of this country must be constantly awake in national affairs, for if the individual does not take an interest in these matters, he will find himself and his government controlled by strong and organized minorities seeking expression through such mediums as powerful lobbies and propaganda.

"Indeed, the program of American government," he declared, "is not yet in the hands of a few, but unless the citizen interests himself in matters that concern him and his country, organized groups will take this power of self-government from him.

"Corruption in government caused the downfall of the world's greatest empires. Corruption in government confronts us in these United States today. It bites deep, and will continue to do so until Americans see that it is wiped out."

CHEERS FOR HORVITZ

Swooping down on the auditorium 1000 strong, "Romans" of Los Angeles High School took the center section of the main floor to dominate in the rally spirit of the 6000 people assembled. Naturally they were there to cheer Leonard Horvitz, their fellow-student who passed the district finals, captured the group semifinals and came forth triumphant in The Times grand finals Friday, a week ago.

The loyal spirit of California held sway over groups from the other major schools of the city, the private and secondary schools and high schools of other counties from San Benito and Fresno to San Diego. All reflected a confidence that perhaps next year the honor of representing California would come to them.

Down in the pit, a 100-piece band, the consolidation of R.O.T.C. units from four major high schools of the city, took advantage of every lull in proceedings prior to the call for order by Judge Straup, to present musical numbers. The opening number was "High School Cadets," Sousa, with L. W. Tozier, director of Lincoln, conducting. He also presented "United We Stand," Hayes, and "My Lucky Star."

Then Desire Gilson, director at Franklin High School, took the baton in the rendition of "Washington Post," Sousa, and "American Patrol," Mecham. S. W. Dury, director of Manual Arts, was accorded an ovation when "Stars and Stripes Forever," Sousa, was played, and followed as an encore with "I'm Sorry Sally," a popular number, and later "I Love You, California," by Silverwood.

While the decision of the judges was being tabulated George Nelson, conductor of the R.O.T.C. unit of Polytechnic High School, led the boys in "New Colonial," Hall; Precious Little Thing Called Love," and closed with "National Emblem" by Bagley.

This was the first time that this consolidated organization has been presented and but three rehersals were possible.

The scope of the contest in the Pacific Zone may be appreciated in a brief consideration of the manner in which it was handled in the seven States an the Territory of Hawaii, which follows:

ARIZONIA

The contest in the Cactus State was sponsored by the Tucson Daily Citizen, with Prof. W. Arthur Cable of the department of public speaking of the University of Arizona acting as State manager. Five hundred pupils' representing thirty-one high schools distributed throughout the six districts into which the State was divided, competed in district finals on April 12. Fifty dollars in prizes was awarded in each district, $25 for first, $15 for second and $10 for third. The six winners thus selected met at the State University at Tucson on the evening of the 1st inst., to compete for $150 in cash, a free trip to Los Angeles and the right to represent Arizona in the Pacific Coast finals. The President of the university presided, and the deans of the school acted as judges.

CALIFORNIA

In January of this year many hundreds of pupils in forty-one districts over the State of California, commenced writing orations on the Constitution. Competitions were held in individual high schools and by the first of April each one of the 200 high schools competing had selected its own representative. On April 12 these school orators, divided into forty-one divisions, met in what were known as district finals, in which a winner in each of the forty-one districts was selected. In all of these forty-one contests, the speaker awarded first place received a prize of $25, second place $15, and third place $10, in addition to receiving a host of local prizes donated by various local newspapers and patriotic organizations. These forty-one dis-

SPOKANE YOUTH PLACES SECOND

Robert Corkery's Oration on "Constitution Today"

Popular Government Traced from Beginning

Power of Amendment Given as Future Remedy

Second place on the list of winners in the Pacific zone finals of the Sixth National and Fourth International Oratorical Contest on the Constitution was won by Robert Corkery, of the Gonzaga High School, Spokane, Wash.

The oration of the Spokane student, entitled "The Constitution Today," follows:

I shall not review in detail the stirring events which led up to the Constitutional Convention of 1787. The history of the Revolutionary War, and of the causes which brought it about, is an old story and a familiar one.

RIGHTS VIOLATED

You know how under the tyrannical rule of George III the rights of the Colonists were so shamefully violated that general resentment manifested itself among them; how finally patience ceased to be a virtue, and the smoldering fires of discontent broke into the flame of open rebellion.

You are well acquainted with the story of those days of bloodshed and sacrifice; you have often rejoiced, too, in the fulfillment of Patrick Henry's glowing prediction, that, "three millions of people armed in the holy cause of liberty would prove themselves, invincible against the superior forces of the enemy."

REPUBLIC SAVED

But, it is possible that some of us do not appreciate fully how great a victory remained to be won, after the war was ended. What the armies and navies of Great Britain failed to do, the petty jealousies, the partisan rivalries and sectional differences among the States threatened to accomplish. Those dearly bought liberties might easily have been lost. Had it not been for the prudence and foresight of our immortal leaders, George Washington might have lived to see the Union which he had established, broken up into a group of discordant and belligerant States. Do we realize that it was the Constitution which saved the infant republic at the most critical period of its history?

The Constitution of the United States is a lasting monument to the wisdom of our fathers. Who can doubt that the Constitution is what Gladstone proclaimed it, "the greatest document ever evolved at one time by the brain and purpose of man"?

CROWNING GLORY

Let me try to put briefly what appears to be at once the crowning glory of our Constitution and the chief foundation of our national greatness.

It is the coupling together of the largest measure of human liberty with the equally important element of law and order. The first object of our fathers, fresh from the war of the revolution, was to safeguard their newly won liberty. But they were too wise not to perceive that unless liberty is well ordered it may quickly degenerate into license and anarchy. Hence the two-fold purpose of their labors, first, to establish forever the complete sovereignty of the American people in matters of government. Second, to so provide powers for the representatives of the people that government may proceed orderly without unnecessary interference.

PEOPLE RULE

Thus, Congress is elected by popular vote, and the terms of service are but for a few years. Its duties are laid down for it and limits beyond which it may not pass are clearly defined. The President is the Chief Executive. His office it is to see that the laws enacted are carried out, to act as a check on unwise legislation, through his power of veto, and should it ever occur that through some peculiar set of circumstances Congress and the President were to be joint parties in a breach of Constitutional law, there is the Supreme Court ready and able to annul the offending legislation. Thus, we see, the Constitution establishes genuine popular government by which, in the last analysis, the people actually rule through their representatives.

We hear it said, now and then, that the Constitution has outlived its usefulness, that it should be thoroughly revised and harmonized with present-day conditions.

MAY BE AMENDED

Those who speak in this fashion fail to appreciate the fact that the document may be amended. Has this not been done over and over during the past hundred years? And yet, the Constitution has remained substantially unaltered; yes, during the stress and storm of the nineteenth century, whilst revolutions were shaking the nations of the earth to their foundations, America, under the protecting mantle of its God-given freedom, was forging ahead to its present pre-eminent position.

'Tis true, our progress was halted for the moment during the dark days of the Civil War. There were not wanting prophets of evil who told the world that the young republic was doomed to go the way of all democracies, that a government of, by and for the people was at best only a makeshift; that it could not long endure; that it contained within itself the seeds of dissolution.

But we know well how false were these prophets. Bound together by the principles enunciated in the Constitution, the thirteen weak colonies have grown into a strong, healthy, flourishing union of forty-eight sovereign States.

FATE SEALED

Lincoln in his famous Gettysburg speech sounded the death knell for all time of rebellion in this country. The battles of civil war, costly as they were in American manhood, sealed the fate forever of those destructive forces that would cause this glorious nation "to perish from the earth." Nay, more it was the Constitution that led us into the World War. It was our love of humanity, the desire to preserve democratic institutions, to perpetuate American ideals that brought to the fields of Flanders the thousands of American soldiers who mingled their life's blood with the red of the poppies over there beyond the sea.

FUTURE TOLD

Now, what of the future? Attempts are being made to undermine the noble structure of American liberties. Doctrines in defiance of the principles of the Constitution are being preached, aye, even from the housetops. Lawlessness among young and old, disrespect for authority, abuse of high office for private gain are some of the perils that confront us today. Dangers have arisen before and have been overcome, and they will continue to arise in the future to be conquered only by a close adherence to the principles of that Constitution that has made America known throughout the world as the land of the free.

Rally 'round the Constitution, even as you rally 'round the flag: That beautiful ensign of red, blue and white symbolizes all that we hold most dear; The white stands for purity, civic, national and individual. The red for courage that knows no fear in the cause of righteousness. The blue for the peace and prosperity which follow in the wake of social justice. But the grand old flag comes to mean what it does, because it is enfolded 'round about our glorious heritage, the pledge and guardian of all our liberties, the Constitution of these United States of America.

CONTESTANTS PAID TRIBUTE

Orators Lauded by Jurists at "Times" Luncheon; Dorothy Carlson Honorary Hostess

"From the gem of the Pacific, the sage brush of Nevada, the tideless sea of Utah, the north country of Idaho, the inland empire of Arizona, the refreshing downpour of Oregon and her sister State, Washington, and our own sunshine of California, come the orators to whom we are paying tribute today."

In these words, Oscar Lawler, presiding at the luncheon given by The Times at the Biltmore yesterday, introduced the eight contestants of the Pacific Zone finals of the Sixth National and Fourth International Oratorical contest.

The three attractive young women and the five stalwart young men were seated at an attractively appointed table in front of the speaker's table and four of the five chief justices who six hours later were to render the verdict advancing one of them to the national capital.

HONORARY HOSTESS

Dorothy Carlson, national winner of the contest in 1927, sat at the end of this table as honorary hostess. Facing each other, four on either side of the table, the young people chatted and smiled and established a never-to-be-forgotten acquaintanceship.

Spring flowers, flaring from great oblong baskets, graced the setting. Flags, representing the twenty-two nations participating in the international contest, adorned all four walls of the music room. About the shoulders of the guests hung the golden leis brought from Honolulu by Miss Adeline Reis, carrying the "Aloha" of the Hawaiian Territory, which entered the contest for the first time this year.

TRIBUTE TO TEACHERS

Outlining the faithful and patriotic endeavors that have been put forth by educators all over the United States toward this advancement of a better understanding of and deeper respect for the Constitution, Mr. Lawler called on the guests to stand "in tribute to the teachers of America."

He then introduced Miss Carlson as a dean of the contest "who has charted the path to victory for other high school students who are carrying forward the theme of the institution."

"While these young orators are silver-tongued, you will find that tonight they will get down to the brass tacks of their subjects," said Miss Carlson. "They understand that they have a duty to perform. They have learned that it is for them to lift the faded piece of manuscript of the Constitution in Washington and inscribe it on the hearts of young America."

GROUP INTRODUCED

Received with a warmth and sincerity of applause, the contestants then were introduced by Mr. Lawler, each standing and smiling an acknowledgement of the reception.

"Without Justice Marshall and Justice Story it is possible there would not have been a United States of America," said Mr. Lawler. "I, therefore, again ask that we stand momentarily in tribute to the jurists of this nation."

Chief Justice Oliver P. Coshow of the Supreme Court of Oregon was the first of the four justices to speak.

"All service which I have performed in jurisprudence has convinced me that no better thing for humanity and our country in its future development ever has been instituted than this oratorical contest on the Constitution," he said. "I consider the courts of this nation as the stabilizers of our government. No one can measure the possibilities for good that will result in the future through an organized study of the Constitution by the youth of this nation."

GREAT ACHIEVEMENT

The toastmaster then explained that during the six years of the contest 10,806,000 boys and girls of America have written essays and participated in the contest. "This marvelous achievement is the development from a beginning in Los Angeles and California of 8000 students only in the first year.

Chief Justice Edward A. Ducker of the Supreme Court of Nevada expressed his sincere appreciation of the privilege of serving as one of the judges. "You young people are performing a meritorious public service," he said, addressing the orators. "You are awakening in the hearts of Americans a new pride in citizenship and are bespeaking a more forceful understanding of the tenets of patriotism."

The tribute from Judge Ducker was carried further by Chief Justice Alfred Lockwood of the Supreme Court of Arizona. "This contest deserves the encouragement of all loyal Americans," he said. "Patriotism, thought of as love of country, sometimes is an assumed sentiment. Americans too often are ignorant of the real merit of patriotism today. It is right that you should learn and teach this lesson for you as students of the Constitution today are to become the rulers and lawmakers of tomorrow."

PHILIPPINES JUSTICE

"The flag of America still flies in the Philippines and the spirit of American patriotism is a dominant factor, even though factions may desire independence," said Associate Justice George Malcolm of the Supreme Court of the Philippines. "After twelve years as a member of the Court of Justice in the Philippines I feel qualified to convey the greetings of those islands to the institution of your oratorical contest and to extend congratulations on the achievements that are being credited to this movement year by year."

Judge Works expressed devotion and reverence for the young orators. "Many of us have an individual preference for one in your group, but I can pledge for those here a feeling of loyalty for each and every one of you and a confidence in your continued success, no matter who may win tonight," he said.

"If the winner tonight is not best qualified to earn the title of national champion, I am sure that you in turn will accord to that winner, no matter from what part of the nation he may come, this same spirit of loyalty which we feel for you.

"Our hopes and fears go with each one of you and carry on to the eight contestants who finally will meet in the national capital."

"Constitution, a Triumph of Ideals," His Topic

Eloquent Plea Made for Setting World Example

Leonard Horvitz of Los Angeles High School was awarded third place by the judges in the Pacific Zone Grand Finals of the Sixth National and Fourth International Oratorical Contest on the Constitution at the Shrine Civic Auditorium last night.

His oration, "The Constitution, a Triumph of Ideals," follows:

Our American flag, today floats over every land, and over every sea. The realization of such progress has been the result of adherence to certain ideals in our national life. Without ideals, nations perish, humanity sinks into the mire of greed and tyranny. The tenacious quest for ideals, transmitted from patriots of the past, was born anew in the determination for freedom of the pioneer Americans; was nourished in the constructive aspirations of their colonial descendants; was matured in the unheaval of the Revolution. Out of these struggles sprang the American Constitution, the vigorous taproot of expanding ideals, proclaiming the dawn of hope to all humanity, for all time. From it was to evolve a massive tree of tradition and policy, branching in statutes, decision, and treaties, the whole permeated by the life fluid of basic principles flowing from the root. The dim mists of the future were to reveal whether America would seek to reflect the principles infused in the Constitution, and whether that embodiment of human ideals, buffeted by the rigorous usages of experience, would remain an inspiring example to the world.

OLD WORLD SUSPICIOUS

From its very inception, our system of government was regarded with extreme suspicion by the monarchical nations of the Old World. Our republican doctrines endangered their thrones. Our influence upon Latin America jeopardized European dominance and further colonization. Our steady movement toward the beckoning West boded ill for their future. America was confronted on every side by the distrustful attitudes of the European war lords. All the ingenuity and foresight of Washington, Hamilton, and their associates were needed to guide the ship of state between the rocks of bankruptcy and disunion, and the maelstrom of Napoleonic war. In the hour of trial, America firmly adhered to its Constitution principles of harmony, justice, freedom and peace; and issued from those perilous waters more highly resolved upon a policy of peace with all nations. But the experiences of national history had shown that to insure peace, to prevent democracy from being ground under the iron heel of European despotism, to continue these Americas as the home of the free, to preserve the Constitution forever as the triumph of human ideals, the United States must declare to the world the inviolable existence of the American family of nations. Guided by the vigorous injunctions of the consecrated dead and the needs of national existence, President Monroe, in 1823, proclaimed the independence of the Americas from further alien encroachments. The Monroe Doctrine was actuated not alone by America's desire to participate in the benefits of Pan-American confraternity. It was actuated also by the spirit of the Constitution, by an earnest desire to see all oppressed peoples enjoy the blessings that our Constitution guarantees us.

EXAMPLE TO WORLD

The sacred rights of man, the priceless benefits of harmony, the securities of justice, and the blessings of peace, as they were the corner-stones upon which the Constitution was erected, so were they the corner-stones upon which the temple of American foreign relations has arisen. No more striking example of America's adherence to Constitutional precepts in international affairs could be found than in our relations with Canada. Since the memorable treaty of 1817 for 3000 miles along the Canadian-American border, "there exists," in the words of an eminent author, "not a single fort, points not a single gun, watches not a single soldier." In our recognition of the South American nations, in our sympathetic efforts to aid downtrodden Hungary and liberty-loving France, in upholding freedom's cause in Cuba, the American people have demonstrated to all the world enduring devotion to those immortal precepts of our imperishable Constitution.

Today, the Constitution stands upon the threshold of a new age. As in a glorious past, America leads the world in the quest for peace, that ideal inherent in the spirit of our Constitution. In our Pan-American relations, the constitution burns the inscription of its ideals upon every monument of friendship erected by our several American peoples. Based upon Constitutional ideals of peace, harmony and justice, Pan-Americanism rolls a mighty anthem of hope from Canada to Cape Horn. All the Americas and the entire world reverberated with the vivid expressions of American ideals engendered by the Hoover good-will tour of Latin America. On that tour moved the spirit of the American people bearing good will to the republics of South and Central America, among the first to bask in the warmth of freedom radiating from the American Constitution. With our international arbitration treaties exemplifying America's highest ideals; and with the very echoes of Lindbergh's epoch-marking flight resounding in the heavens, President Hoover's tour was a milestone on America's road to the radiant goal of honest friendship with all nations.

trict winners then met in six groups on the evening of April 26, and these half dozen champions contended a week later in The Times grand finals at Bovard Auditorium, University of Southern California, for $1000 in prizes, and the right to represent California and The Times in the Pacific Coast grand finals here last night. It is estimated that approximately 30,000 pupils originally wrote orations in this State, and the aggregate audiences approached 100,000.

HAWAII

The entrance in the competition of the Territory of Hawaii, under the sponsorship of the Honolulu Star-Bulletin, was attended with exceptional enthusiasm. The contest was conducted by islands, Hawaii being divided into two districts, Oahu into two, and Kauai and Maui into one each. Fifteen hundred high school pupils, from thirty-one secondary schools, participated in the early eliminations before 2300 auditors. Eventually, the six district winners were selected, who met in the territorial finals held in Honolulu, April 22. For this final event, Wallace R. Farrington, Governor of Hawaii, presided, and the contest was judged by justices of the Territorial Supreme Court. The doors were to have been opened at 7 o'clock, but by 6:30, 500 people surging outside compelled an immediate entrance. By 7:15 the place was packed with an audience of 2500 and all standing room taken. It was necessary to call out police reserves to handle the crowd, and it was estimated that 3000 persons were turned away. The fire marshal stopped the contest in order to open the aisles. Nearly 1000 persons remained standing outside to await the decision.

IDAHO

The State of Idaho entered the contest for its first year and, with more than 200 widely scattered high schools, was divided into five geographical districts. The competition was sponsored by the Idaho Educational Association, in co-operation with the Salt Lake City Tribune. Elimination contests were held in each of the five districts, and a quintet of winners were selected to compete for the State championship at Pocatello. The State finals were attended by the largest crowd ever assembled in Idaho for any school event outside of athletics. More than 1000 pupils entered the contest. Forty high schools were represented, and the aggregate audiences totaled 15,000 people.

NEVADA

The contest in Nevada was sponsored by the Nevada State Journal under the immediate direction of Prof. R. S. Griffin, department of public speaking of the University of Nevada. The high schools of the State were divided into six districts, and on the evening of April 12, met at contests in which six survivors were selected. Fifty dollars in prizes were awarded in each district, $25 for first; $15 for second, and $10 for third. These six district champions met in the Nevada State finals at the State University in Reno, on the evening of April 26, to compete for $100 in cash donated by the Nevada State Bar Association, and the right to represent the State in the Pacific Coast grand finals. Dr. Walter E. Clark, president of the university, presided, and the justices of the Supreme Court acted as judges.

OREGON

One hundred and ten high schools representing every county in the State, entered the contest in Oregon, under the sponsorship of the Portland Oregonian. School eliminations were held by March 15, and the winning manuscript from each school was submitted to Dr. Dan E. Clark, extension director of the University of Oregon. A committee headed by Dr. Clark, made up of members of the faculty appointed by President Hall, selected the eight best manuscripts in each of the six districts into which Oregon, outside of Portland, had been divided. The writers of these selected manuscripts then met for oral district finals; and the eight district champions thus selected, met at Portland on the night of April 26, before a crowd of approximately 2500 people, to determine Oregon's representative at the Pacific Coast finals. Prizes awarded were: first, a free trip to Los Angeles for the Pacific Coast finals, the W. M. Davis trophy (a $100 watch,) and $125 in cash; second, $80 and third, $50. The cash prizes were donated by the Oregon State Bar Association.

UTAH

With nearly 3000 of its 26,000 high school pupils entered, and with fifty of its seventy-two high schools represented, the State of Utah under the sponsorship of the Salt Lake City Tribune, launched into its third and most enthusiastic year of competition in the National Oratorical Contest. The State was divided into seven georgraphical districts centering on key cities. The high schools in each of these divisions competed in district contests; and the seven champions thus selected met in the Assembly Hall of the church of the Latter Day Saints in Salt Lake City to compete in the State finals, which were held with the justices of the Utah Supreme Court acting as judges, and before a crowd of 2700 persons more than 500 being unable to obtain admittance. It is estimated that 40,000 persons representing one-tenth of the entire population of the State, were members of the audience at one or more of the various stages of the contest. Gov. Dern entertaind at a special reception for the State finalists on the ray of that event.

WASHINGTON

With every county in the State and a majority of the high schools entering, the National Oratorical Contest in the State of Washington was held for the fourth consecutive time under the sponsorship of the Seattle Times. The State was divided into eight districts. School champions were first selected to compete in county contests, and these various county winners met in district eliminations to determine the eight survivors for the State finals, which were held in the Broadway High School, Seattle, April 26. Thirty-five hundred persons packed the auditorium, and hundreds were turned away. The contest was judged by the justices of the Washington Supreme Court, in conjunction with speech teachers from the University of Washington. The State finalists were brought to Seattle and entertained as guests of the Times. Prizes for this final event were: first, $200, and expenses to the Pacific Coast grand finals; second, $100, and third, $50. In the various country contests, winner of first place received gold pin and $15; second place, $10, and third place, $5.

WILL VISIT STUDIOS

The battle over and the victory won, relaxation and sight-seeing is the order of today for the eight contestants of the oratorical tournament at Shrine Civic Auditorium last night.

This morning will be spent in a visit to the studios of Universal Pictures Corporation at Universal City. The young orators will be conducted by Ivan St. John and Nelville Reay through the lot and will be entertained at luncheon.

"Oratory and the appeal of the human voice is rapidly taking a dominant place in the future of tone pictures and these young people will witness developments that are making history in the picture business," said Mr. St. John.

"Unquestionably the national oratorical contest in the high schools of the nation will do much to raise the standard of diction, modulation and expression of the American voice of the future," he added.

IRAK BOASTS THREE EDENS

That Number of Localities in Euphrates Valley Pointed Out as Sites of Original Paradise

BAGDAD (Irak) May 10. (AP)—Seekers for the site of the biblical Garden of Eden are recommended to direct their quest to Irak, where in the Valley of the Euphrates they may have choice of three places which have claims of being the genuine and original parade.

If one were to ask the man in the street either in Bagdad or Basra for information as to the first home of Adam and Eve, he would unfailingly direct his questioner to Kurna, at the onfidence of the Euphirtes and the Tigris rivers, as the exact spot. Such indeed is the ancient tradition of the country.

Another place, however, is believed by Sir William Wilcox, who spent a number of years in Irak on irrigation works, to be the fair land inhabited by the first parents. This spot lies between the Euphrates and the Tigris, near Ur of the Chaldees, the birthplace of Abraham.

GENESIS QUOTED

Supporting his belief, Sir William quotes Genesis, Chapter 2, Verse 10: "A river went out of Eden to water the garden; and from thence it was parted and became into four heads:" and Verses 5 and 6 of the same chapter: "The Lord God had not caused it to rain upon the earth . . . But there went up a mist from the earth and watered the whole face of the ground."

Sir William advances the opinion that the word "mist" is an inevact translation, and that the proper rendering would speak of natural irrigation as opposed to artificial watering. This spot near Ur is said to be a land formation where a river was "parted and became into four heads."

SUPPORT FOR BELIEF

Also, says Sir William, it is a marshy plain, wehere water is plentiful throughout the twelve months. Support is lent to the belief that this was the site of the Garden of Eden by the fact that for a plain, the designation, "Eden" was used by the earliest inhabitants of Babylon.

The third region which is pointed out by natives as the site of the garden is the tract to the south of Hit, where at one time the delta of the Euphrates began and the river was divided into four arms. This would seem to agree with the exposition in the second chapter of Genesis. It is, moreover, naturally watered all the year around.

THIRD HONORS FOR ANGELENO

penned as the "mother of a mighty race," has arisen a nation whose heartbeats throb throughout the world, upon whose every tablet of international policy are engraved in letters of living flame the precepts born of Constitutional ideals. May the day soon come when all nations shall realize the fulfillment of these ideals. Then, in the words of a great American statesman, shall men say of the world society of nations—"Our protection is in our fraternity, our armor is in our faith . . . and the compact is not of perishable parchment, but of fair and honorable dealing." Let America continue always in an attitude of sympathetic understanding and helpfulness toward all the races of men. Only thus shall the priceless liberty for which American patriots labored and fought be ingrained upon the heart fabric of all humanity with living fibers of justice and peace. Fellow-countrymen: It is our sacred duty as American citizens to model our actions by these eternal principles of human progress, so that standing forth as a beacon light vibrant with life, the guardian of our God-given rights, the triumphant realization of human ideals, America's ever shed rays of peace and good will over all the earth!

The court also revoked the youth's driving license forever.

ABOLITION OF SENATE ADVOCATED

Constitutional Mussolini Declared by Law School Dean to Be Nation's Need

CHICAGO, May 10. (AP)—John H. Wigmore, dean of the Northwestern University Law School, declares in an article appearing in the current Illinois Law Review that the United States Senate is a "fifth wheel" in Federal government, useless for any purpose except to "talk, investigate, censor and intrigue." Dean Wigmore declares: "What this country needs is a constitutional Mussolini."

"Year after year," the article states, "the executive department recommends simple measures of legislation to remedy hardships and evil conditions. Year after year Congress does nothing."

Dean Wigmore said the Senate is notorious for its mania for committee investigation, and added:

"The more the bar can see of the Federal Senate as a legislative failure, the sooner the bar will wake up to its duty of leading public opinion to a reform."

Proverbs Prove Common Folk of Kru Know Wisdom; One Condemns Social Triangle

CHICAGO, May 10. (Exclusive)—A new Book of Proverbs might be written out of the folklore of the Kru people of Liberia, as presented today by Dr. M. J. Herskovits of Northwestern University at the eighth annual meeting of the central section of the American Anthropoligical Association held at Harris Hall in Evanston.

Here are a few picked out of a treatise on the subject which shows that among primiative people the dead hand is mighty in guiding the living:

"Two clever women do not plant rice in the same field."

"Look at that which is offered before you set your price." (In Liberia this refers to taking a wife unseen.)

"A woman who does not know how to care for her husband's property is not a good wife."

"The ugly woman's pepper is ground fine."

"However strong the elephant she cannot cross the water."

"The crocodile says 'What my mouth sees does not get away.'"

"He who boasts is not always rich."

"You do not rush to fight the tiger fighter."

"The sound of the snapping of the trap which has caught me remains in my ears."

"That which is in the stomach of the wine maker is not the same as that in the stomach of him who seeks drunkenness."

An experiment in hair was reported by George Neuman of Chicago. By a method of weighing sections of hair which have been washed in alcohol and ether, it can be determined whether the individual belongs to the white or negroid race. The hair weight also has a relation to eye color.

Paul H. Nesbitt of the University of Chicago announced the discovery of a skeleton in the North Sahara which indicates that in late Paleolithic times ancestors of the present Mediterranean race entered North Africa while the Cro-Magnon race ruled Western Europe.

This find was made by the Logan museum of Beloit College financed by Dr. Frank R. Logan of Chicago.

"The skeleton was found at a depth of a little more than five feet along with flint and bone tools," said Mr. Nesbitt. "Intentional burial was evident.

CAPABLE, DEFT, VIGILANT! The expert cable-splicer controls hundreds of voice-ways, as his swift fingers sort, identify and splice the many pairs of telephone wires. Each pair must be kept carefully insulated and moisture-free. A single cable may have as many as 1818 pairs of telephone wires, safe under a leaden sheathing.

We are preparing now for conversations
you will hold years hence

You cannot know precisely whom you will call by telephone tomorrow, or next month, or next year. Neither, therefore, can we. But we must be ready.

Just as water engineers must plan for the city's future, and build high dams in the mountains, so we must plan for future telephone requirements and have all possible equipment in place.

Our construction program represents an impoundment, not of power and water, but of large capital nevertheless and infinitely varied apparatus. We must consider the probable growth of traffic and install cables where otherwise the sky would become veiled with open wires. We must construct underground conduit and run cables. We must recognize the rapid per capita growth in daily telephone conversations, and build for a telephone era whose proportions, and standards of service, will bear little resemblance to the past.

The outlay for new telephone construction on the Pacific Coast will exceed an average of $54,000,000 a year over the next five years. This will amount in the next few years to much more than the estimated cost of the proposed Boulder Dam, itself one of the great construction projects of the times. For your greater telephone convenience, about $59,500,000 will be expended in Los Angeles alone during the next five years.

The onward march of America toward the West has but begun. We are arranging now for voice-communications that you will wish to hold on the Pacific Coast years hence, with people whom you do not yet know.

Eastern oil for the motoring West

Careful driving alone won't do it
Good gasoline alone won't do it

Only oil can keep your engine's first-year feel

Why did you choose the make of car you drive?

To this question probably 9 out of 10 car owners will reply, "Because I liked its performance." In other words you chose your car mostly because of the engine's powerful "first-year feel."

No single upkeep item is so important in preserving this first-year feel as the quality of the oil you use.

As the result of thousands of miles of driving tests on the Atlantic City Speedway, on dirt roads and paved highways, we confidently say this: The New Mobiloil will keep your engine's first-year feel for at least 30,000 miles. We say "confidently" because actually the New Mobiloil has kept the first-year feel in many engines for more than twice 30,000 miles.

Also in fair comparative tests the New Mobiloil developed a noticeable increase in power and showed a 20% less consumption against competitive oils of the same viscosity.

And it is an established engineering fact that the oil which lasts longest and stands up best at high speeds is the oil which lubricates best at any speed.

Again may we repeat that no single item in preserving your engine's first-year feel is so important as the oil you use. Make sure of full protection for your engine by using the New Mobiloil—the achievement of 63 years of specialization in the manufacture of scientific lubricating oils.

MRS. COREY SETS WEDDING

Infante Luis Ferdinand, Spanish King's Cousin, to Take ex-Actress as Bride June 1, Next

[Copyright, 1929, by the Chicago Tribune.]

PARIS, May 10, (Exclusive)— Reports of the coming marriage of Mrs. Mabelle Gilman Corey, former musical comedy star, with the Infante Luis Ferdinand of Orleans, the Bourbon cousin of King Alfonso of Spain, in June were definitely confirmed by Mrs. Corey herself today when she gave a tea in honor of the Infanta Eulalia of Spain, Luis's mother. Mrs. Corey declared the last obstacle to her marriage has been overcome through her conversion to Catholicism.

"The ceremony will be conducted at San Remo on June 1, next," Mrs. Corey stated. "I wish to dispel all doubt in the matter. We both have finally made up our minds."

The former Broadway favorite was all smiles when she greeted the most prominent members of the Paris Spanish colony today. She was married in 1908 to William Ellis Corey, Pittsburgh steel magnate, at a midnight ceremony in the Gotham Hotel, New York, and first met the Infante Luis in New York twenty years ago when she was the favorite of American audiences.

The couple plan to spend their honeymoon in Italy and Greece and then will take up their residence in the Chateau De Villegenis at Massi-Verrieres, about twenty miles south of Paris. The chateau was a wedding present from Mrs. Corey's husband, from whom she was divorced in 1923, and workmen are busy rehabilitating the building and grounds.

The royal fiance at present is in San Remo, where he has a villa. Mrs. Corey expects to remain in Paris until late this month and then join the Infante Luis at San Remo for the ceremony, which will be attended by a large number of Spanish nobility as well as Mrs. Corey's American friends.

QUAKE ZONE CONDITIONS DISTRESSING

People Homeless and Foodless, Says Governor; Relief Cry Raised

TEHERAN (Persia) May 10. (AP)—Distressing conditions exist in the zone of the disastrous earthquake which last week destroyed whole villages and killed 2000 persons in the Province of Khorassan.

A telegram from the Governor of the province to the Shah today described the plight of the survivors.

"Many villages between Kuchan and Shirvan are in ruins. The people who escaped death by the earthquake are in a terrible plight, being homeless and foodless. Shirvan City was completely destroyed and its inhabitants are living in the open fields.

"Food, tents, doctors and money are urgently needed."

The Persian Mejliss, or Parliament, has voted $25,000 for relief. Other large amounts have been subscribed.

LARGE GIFT BY DU PONT DISCLOSED

Trust of $6,000,000 for University of Virginia Provided by Alumnus

CHARLOTTESVILLE (Va.) May 10. (AP)—The late Philip Francis Du Pont of Fairville, Pa., was revealed today as the creator of the trust of $6,000,000 for the benefit of the University of Virginia. Announcement of the trust was made nearly a year ago, but the name of the donor was not given.

Dr. Edwin A. Alderman, president of the university, in naming the donor today, said that one-half of the income of the trust was designated by Mr. Du Pont as a fund to be used for the creation of scholarships and fellowships to help capable and needy youths and to attract gifted men and women to the student life of the university. The other half, he pointed out, was left to the discretion of the university authorities, and it is their purpose to use a substantial amount for development in graduate fields.

Mr. Du Pont, a student of the University of Virginia from 1897 to 1900, died in Fairville last May.

THE creed and power by which Forest Lawn has been brought from a small country cemetery to America's most famous Memorial Park may be summed in the one word: Love. Love is here made to live forever amid scenes of beauty and peace, for Forest Lawn depicts beginning, not finality. Love is the only theology of its little churches, and love and memory are symbolized in the masterpieces of art which grace its noble buildings and broad green landscape. You are invited to visit Forest Lawn Memorial Park, to see its gems of architecture and art, to participate, if you desire, in ownership in an institution so different in form and spirit from memorials built heretofore.

SCHACHT HOLDS KEY TO PARLEY

Reparations Progress Must Await Answer

Tuesday to be Final Day on Young Proposals

Ten of Twelve Conditions Considered Settled

PARIS, May 10 (AP)—The third month of work by the reparations conference is drawing to its end with the Allied experts waiting on the German delegation for a specific declaration of the German position regarding the proposal of chairman Owen D. Young for a plan of annuities to settle the German reparations problem. Until that declaration is forthcoming, the second Dawes committee, which tomorrow concludes its third month of labor, is practically deadlocked.

Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, chief of the German delegation, has until Tuesday to make known in writing just what are the conditions under which he will accept the annuities proposed by Mr. Young.

Discussions in private practically have eliminated ten of the twelve conditions which Dr. Schacht previously had mentioned to Mr. Young.

TWO IMPORTANT

The two which remain, however, are of major importance and upon their manner of presentation depends the subsequent development of the committee's work.

It is understood that Dr. Schacht will work with Sir Josiah Stamp, chief British delegate, tomorrow and Monday. The result of their efforts probably will be reported to the delegates of the creditor nations on Tuesday, and the latter then will decide whether they can accept Mr. Young's figures with those conditions attached.

CONDITIONS REMAINING

The two remaining conditions are supposed to be:

First, the demand by the German experts that the committee's report to the various governments recommend that the final agreement comprise the understanding that Germany may demand revision of that agreement by another international conference of experts, whenever the economic and financial situation of the Reich should prove unfavorable to continued payments under the new plan.

Second, the abandonment by the Allies of the lien on German railroads and industries, to the amount of 16,000,000,000 marks as guarantee for the payment of annuities which would be replaced by simple undertaking on the part of the German government.

TWO BOMBS DO DAMAGE IN CHICAGO

Roadhouse and Suburban Milk Plant Blast Targets; Three Suspects Taken

CHICAGO, May 10. (AP)—Two bombs were hurled early today in different parts of the county and both caused considerable damage. Three men were arrested in connection with one bombing, which partially wrecked the Avenue Inn, a roadhouse in Niles, a northwest suburb.

In the other bombing the dairy plant of Josef Wagner, in suburban Cicero, was damaged. Wagner recently obtained an injunction to prevent officials of a milk dealers' association from annoying him.

Of the three arrested in connection with the roadhouse blast, Peter Oszakowski, former Chief of Police of Niles and owner of the place, identified William Curio, his recent political rival, as a man with whom he recently had trouble. Curio yesterday was held to the grand jury on an assault and battery charge preferred by Oszakowski growing out of an altercation during a recent election for Chief of Police.

Minority Rule on Liquor Asked in Switzerland

GENEVA, May 10. (AP) — Swiss temperance workers were today winding up a campaign to obtain public indorsement of local option principles at a national poll Sunday. The election is to be held by reason of an initiative petition signed by more than 150,000 citizens.

The proposition to be voted on provides that cantons and communes be authorized to prevent the manufacture and sale of distilled drinks at the demand of one-tenth the voters in any local district.

The campaign against hard drinks has been particularly active in Switzerland of late.

SOUTH STIRS UP EMBERS OF '61

Daughters of Confederacy Clash Over Lincoln

Louisianans Hear Attack on Emancipator's Memory

Compromise Finally Voted to Avoid Sectional Row

NEW ORLEANS, May 10. (AP)—The old South clashed with the new in the Louisiana division, United Daughters of the Confederacy, over Abraham Lincoln and southern homage to the memory of the Emancipator.

The daughters of the southern cause yesterday declined to adopt a resolution of Mrs. Jefferson Davis Weir of New Orleans expressing regret that Louisiana school children made a trip early this year to another State and recited "Lincoln at Gettysburg" at a Lincoln memorial celebration.

COMPROMISE MOVE

Many members did, however, frown on the trip and a compromise motion was adopted urging discouragement of Lincoln's Birthday observance in southern public schools.

Lincoln, the "Christian gentleman" and the effect the resolution would have on arousing sectional feeling entered into the spirited discussions.

"We all know that Lincoln was not a great man," said Mrs. W. B. Kernan of New Orleans. "We know he was not the fine Christian gentleman he is said by partisan historians to have been. How can southern children learn this truth of history if they go around paying homage to his memory?"

ILL-FEELING FEARED

Mrs. Miriam L. Green, another New Orleans member, countered with the suggestion that action censuring southerners for honoring Lincoln would foster ill-feeling in all parts of the country and asked that no action be taken on the proffered resolution.

To these remarks were added those of Mrs. F. P. Jones of Leesville, re-elected State president, who said, "Any true southern mother would have said 'no' when asked if her children might give a recitation at a Lincoln memorial celebration in a northern State."

BAPTISTS GET IN ROW OVER WOMAN SPEAKER

MEMPHIS (Tenn.) May 10. (AP)—The centuries-old religious dispute concerning woman's right to speak in public bobbed up yesterday at the opening session of the Southern Baptist convention but was settled quickly by a citation of a precedent that women are "brethren" and enjoy the same privileges as men.

Dr. George W. Truett of Dallas, Tex., who was re-elected president for his third term, shunted the issue to a committee after Dr. J. W. Porter introduced a memorial from the General Association of Kentucky Baptists, protesting on scriptural grounds against the convention hearing Mrs. W. J. Cox of Memphis, president of the Women's Missionary Union. She has been asked to speak Saturday.

"We go right against the scriptures if we allow a woman to speak before this convention," Dr. Porter said. "We break a precedent of 2000 years."

Dr. Truett then quoted a ruling which said the word "brethren" in the organization's constitution includes both "brethren and sisters," and the "women are members of the convention with all rights and privileges of membership."

Golden Spike Driven in New Espee Cut-off

ALTURAS, May 10. (Exclusive)—Members of the California Press Association, touring the Pacific Northwest, participated here today in the driving of a golden spike, signifying the approaching realization of the Southern Pacific Railroad's new cut-off from Portland to the East.

The line pierces the heart of this timber country for ninety-eight miles and cuts 281 miles from the haul out of the Pacific Northwest. Ex-Gov. Richardson, president of the California Press Association for the last twenty-six years, guided the party to the point west of Alturas where the spike was driven.

The ceremony followed a luncheon reception at Cedarville and preceded a banquet to the visitors at which the citizens of Alturas were hosts tonight.

DRAMA EXALTS JUNIOR'S DEATH

Clews Indicate Girl Swathed Self-Inflicted Wound

WINDSOR (Ct.) May 10. (AP)—Six handkerchiefs, five of them bloodstained, one a woman's and two bearing different initials, were in the pockets of Walter Treadway Huntington, Harvard junior, when his body was found, Medical Examiner Henry N. Costello revealed in his official report of homicide to the Coroner late today. The body was found in a field two days ago with a bullet wound in the head.

The report was filed about the time the funeral of the young student, which had been announced for tomorrow to deceive the curious, was conducted.

Today County Detective Edward J. Hickey reported obtaining evidence and a motive, sustaining his suicide theory.

Detective Hickey had given as the motive for self-destruction an incurable disease. The Huntington family had announced themselves reconciled to the suicide belief. Hickey said the sister and brother, in a hurried trip to Cambridge, Mass., had carried away evidence which sustained the disease theory.

The handkerchiefs, indicating Huntington was not alone when he died, strengthened the investigator's idea that a woman was connected with the shooting. Two farmers had reported seeing on several occasions prior to the shooting a car, with a dark-haired, slender girl and a youthful-looking man, parked on the road near the lot on which the body was found.

"AIDA" at the Metropolitan Opera. Trumpets sound in temples of Phtah, Rhadames is acclaimed head of the army of Egypt. Curtain! Backstage in sound-proof rooms the great singers are warming up their voices. In each room, the piano is a Knabe. "Why the Knabe?" we asked the Director of the Metropolitan, Mr. Gatti-Casazza. He shrugged his shoulders. "We engage the finest tenor in the world, the most famous soprano, the most brilliant orchestra leader. And we are just as critical in the matter of selecting a piano as we are in selecting our singers. So we chose the Knabe."

ONLY the piano can eloquently portray the deepest emotions of the opera, the highest glories of the symphony, the simple beauties of folk melody. The Knabe brings to your home the same magnificent tone which won the approval of the Metropolitan Opera Company . . . as well as thousands of society people, musicians and every day folk. And then, to smooth away the day's worries, perhaps Rachmaninoff's C Sharp Prelude played by the composer himself; or the Rigoletto Paraphrase or Foster's Plantation Songs (a great favorite with the youngsters), or any of 2500 different selections by such great artists as Lhevinne, Brailowsky, Samaroff, Lopez, Youmans, or a hundred others. Every crescendo or diminuendo, every bit of shading, or expression is preserved with fidelity. Only the Ampico does this; no other instrument may use the patented devices which reproduce exactly the artist's playing upon the piano. From $1395. In the Knabe from $2695. WIND-UP COMES TO PARLIAMENT

Five-Year Term Brought to End by Custom

King George Speech Praises American Peace Aims

Election of New Body Will be Held on 30th Inst.

LONDON, May 10. (AP)—The British Parliament which has been in existence since the general election of 1924, when the Ramsay MacDonald government was defeated, came to an end today.

In accordance with British practice limiting the life of Parliament to five years, nominations for the new Parliament will close on the 20th inst., and a general election throughout Great Britain will be held ten days later.

Parliament was prorogued shortly after noon today, following delivery by proxy of a speech from the throne in which the work of the Parliament was reviewed.

Soon after a privy council met at Craigwell House, Bognor, and King George signed a proclamation dissolving Parliament.

END LACKS SPECTACULAR

Parliament's end came simply and with little ceremony. After the last bits of leftover business in Commons had been cleared up the black rod appeared summoning the Commons to the House of Lords to hear the King's speech and the prorogation proclamation. Led by the Speaker of the House, the comparatively few members present trooped through the corridors to the House of Lords and silently heard the Lord Chancellor, acting for the Royal Commission, read His Majesty's formal summing up of the government's activities during the session.

After the speech was read the Commoners returned to their own chamber, where the Speaker announced the prorogation. Immediately afterword, in accordance with custom, a formal farewell by the members to the Speaker began. The Speaker, seated at the clerk's table, first shook hands with venerable T. P. ("Tay Pay") O'Connor, father of the House, who is suffering from rheumatism and was wheeled up in a chair. Premier Baldwin, followed by other ministers, also went through the formula of farewell handshakes.

BACKS UNITED STATES

The King's speech was read by Lord Hailsham, the Lord Chancellor, before the Commons and the Lords assembled in the chambers of the House of Lords.

In it King George placed himself and his government back of new activities of the United States in promotion of world peace and international disarmament. He specifically mentioned the Kellogg antiwar pact and the speech of Ambassador Gibson at Geneva seeking broad naval disarmament.

"The negotiations for my participation in the multilateral treaty for the renunciation of war in a form proposed by the government of the United States were successfully concluded March 12, last, when my ratifications of this instrument in respect of all parts of the Empire were deposited in Washington," the King's message said.

ARMAMENT REDUCTIONS

It then related that the Duke of Gloucester has been entrusted with a mission to confer the Order of the Garter on the Emperor of Japan "as a pledge of friendship which unites two countries in determination to co-operate for peaceful settlement of international questions in the Far East and the world at large."

The King expressed a hope that events in China will continue to improve and progress toward more stable conditions. He also expressed the hope that peace soon will be restored in Afghanistan and a government established "with which my government will be able to resume the friendly intercourse of the past."

"My government has continued to press for reduction of armaments in consultation with other governments at Geneva," the message said. "A new hope of an early settlement of the question of further naval disarmment recently has been given by the speech of the United States delegate there of which my government was not slow to express appreciation.

"My government has announced intention of taking necessary action to enable me to accept subject to reciprocity the protocol prohibiting chemical and bacteriological methods of warfare. All my governments have announced a similar intention."

The King deplored the existing unemployment and indicated there must be a large scale redistribution of workers owing to the altered needs of industry.

The decisive moment had arrived; what was needed was a strong mind, breadth and distance of vision. But realities, not dreams, are needed. The march upon Mezieres, the whole of the Allied armies concentrating on one goal? Yes, but no improvisations. First of all there must be established a jumping-off point from which a general offensive can be started.

In the east the Americans will straighten out the bulge at Saint Mihiel. In the center the Franco-British troops will exert a closer pressure on the enormous bulwark which the Germans have been fortifying for months—the Hindenburg line.

FOCH'S PLAN

He had made up his mind; the final instructions were issued. Every commander knew what he had to do. On either wing the Belgian and American armies were to take part in the battle. The whole front from the sea to the Meuse was to be galvanized into activity as part of the converging movement of all the Allied forces.

Everything ready? Let's go! The line moved forward with a rush. On September 26 commenced the great concentric attack.

In Champagne Rheims was freed. In the Argonne, Montfaucon was recaptured by the Americans. Between the Aisne and the Oise Vouziere and Laon again fell into French hands. In the Cambrai region three British and one French army freed Saint Quentin and retook Cambrai itself. In Flanders the Belgian, British and French armies freed Ypres and Dixmude and recaptured Lens and Armentieres. On October 12 the formidable Hindenburg line yielded to the Allied assaults.

ENEMY AT BAY

The enemy was at bay; he was on the verge of disaster. Marshal Foch looked beyond the approaching victory. There were the objectives at which he aimed, and which he already demanded: "Cession of the the whole territory, including Alsace-Lorraine. Occupation of the Rhineland. A strong bridgehead on the right bank of the Rhine."

A further effort was necessary to attain these objectives. He did not cease from demanding further sacrifices from his armies, which were tired out, but whose morale was excellent. He pushed them to attack along the whole front, giving them the three converging directions of Brussels, the Sambre and Mezieres. The Belgians then reached Ostend and made headway toward Malines and Ghent. The English occupied Tourcoing, and entered Valenciennes, Quesnoy and Landrecies.

MAKES LAST STAND

In the center and in the east the enemy held desperately and energetically to their final positions, organized some time before behind the Hindenburg line. However, the Hundig and the Brunhilde Stellungen fell into the hands of Debeney, Mangin and Berthelot, and the Michel Stellung into those of Gouraud and the Americans.

On November 5 the enemy was forced to order a general withdrawal to the line Mezieres-Namur-Brusses. The Allied armies were sent to follow him up.

On a front of 400 kilometers more than 200 divisions were advancing, capturing prisoners in thousands and whole dumps of material.

On November 6 a German wireless message announced that the German plenipotentiaries had started for the western front. On November 8, at 9 a.m., the Commander-in-Chief of the Allied forces received them in his carriage at the station of Rethondes.

"It was the best day in my life," was his comment, "when I saw them in front of me on the other side of the table. I said to myself: 'There is the German Empire.' I can assure you that I was a proud man.

"I thought: 'We will be polite, but we must show them who we are.'

"I asked them: 'Who are you?' They gave me their names. 'Have you any papers? We must examine them.' Then I asked them: 'What do you want?' 'We wish to know your proposals.' 'I have no proposals to make.' 'We would like to know upon what conditions an armistice would be granted.' 'I have no conditions to give you.' Erzberger wished to read me a paper—President Wilson's note—but I stopped him. 'Do you wish to ask for an armistice? If so, say so.' 'We ask for an armistice.' 'Good. We will read you the conditions drawn up by the Allied governments.'

"They were weary, tired out, like hunted animals. Erzberger made me a long speech in order to secure concessions, explaining that revolution had broken out at home, that their soldiers would no longer obey orders, that the country was in a state of famine, that all authority had disappeared. I stopped him! 'You are suffering from a loser's malady, not a conqueror's. I am not afraid of it. I refuse everything.' And, as you know, I should have adhered to my decision. Immediately afterward I wrote to the chiefs of the Allied armies: 'Redouble your energy in order to consolidate the results attained by out victories.'

RHINE ATTAINED

"I only stopped because we held the Rhine. Without the Rhine we should have gained nothing. Holding the Rhine, our minds were at ease. I always used to say that one did not fight for the sake of fighting, but to obtain results. Having secured these results no one had the right to go on fighting. We had to have the Rhine. We had it. We could sign the peace which we wanted. We had no right to continue shedding blood.

"You understand that if you sign an armistice you must hold a commanding position. With us on the Rhine they were helpless. We were the masters. If we had not been there they would have prepared defenses in readiness for us. On November 11 they gave us what we asked for. The interview at Rethondes. Was not that a deed? It marked the disintegration of the German empire and I saw Erzberger brandish his pen and grind his teeth when he signed the document. I was then glad that I had exerted my will and employed the means of exerting it, for the business was settled."

FOCH'S WORK DONE

On the morning of November 11, when handing to the President the acceptance of the armistice signed by the German plenipotentiaries, Marshal Foch said to M. Clemenceau: "My work is finished; your work begins."

The characters of the two French leaders, civil and military, were in marked antithesis.

The problem of working out the terms of the Treaty of Versailles was so difficult that the discussions of the Council of Four verged on the dramatic. Differences of opinion clashed with tragic strength. Crisis after crisis arose.

An agreement attained as the result of much effort was nullified by a new controversy over a secondary matter and the struggle was resumed with greater acuteness. On several occasions the conference nearly broke up altogether.

But, scarcely had an agreement been reached by dint of concessions, bargains and sacrifices than the German replies were received, and threw everything back into the melting pot and revived in a passionate form all the difficulties which had been smoothed over.

ADVANTAGE LOST

Of this Marshal Foch said: "Know what you will, and do it. You can! On November 11 I handed to them an instrument with which they could have done what they would. They did not know how to make use of it. They have destroyed what I gave them. They missed their opportunity. Their treaty? I did not wish to sign it?"

By his voluntary absence from Versailles on the day when the treaty of peace was signed ("on that day I took refuge in my headquarters at Kreuznach") the marshal openly testified that he did not approve of it.

After the peace treaty had been signed the whole question of clearing up war questions remained to be solved, and it was as difficult as it was delicate. The Supreme Council of Governments, in order to insure "the best means of maintaining unanimity of opinion between the Allies, and hence strength and rapidity" in the execution of the military clauses of the treaties, decided in January, 1920, to set up the "Allied military committee of Versailles," which was to assume the duty of studying, preparing and carrying out such measures of a military nature as the governments might require to consider and, generally speaking, to fill the part of technical adviser to the governments in matters of an inter-Allied military nature. Its chief was Marshal Foch, assisted by military representatives of the great powers, Belgium, Great Britain, Italy and Japan.

EMPTY HONOR

By making this apointment the Allies conferred upon the marshal a token of their confidence rather than a task worthy of him, for the former generalissimo became subordinate to a new organization of the governments, the ambassadors' conference.

Once again, what did his rank or function matter to the marshal? Could he in such a capacity once more serve and watch over the victor? Could he render any service? He accepted.

Of general disarmament the marshal said: "Certainly, so long as moral disarmament precedes material disarmament. War cannot be prevented simply by confiscating the weapons of the warlike nations; they will always find means of replacing them. Today, to defend France and prevent a recurrence of 1914, we certainly hold the Rhine. But on the day of its evacuation I ask myself how far the organizations which will replace our supervisory agents will be able to keep an eye on the Germans and prevent them from rearming.

NO MORE WARS

"I do not believe that the present generation will see another war such as that which has just been finished, but it is possible that we shall see smaller ones and, above all, a general unrest. No one wants any longer this abominable thing which the war was. If anyone tried to start it again every nation would rise against him, and in greater numbers still than in 1914. It is to prevent that that we made the Treaty of Versailles. No, no more wars; it is too dreadful."

At a time when all were seeking new ways in which to demonstrate their gratitude to him various departments offered to make him their parliamentary representative, but he refused.

He carried himself loftily, proudly, but not arrogantly, since he was neither surprised nor perturbed by his power, and because, certain of his own strength, he did not attempt to display it; inspiring respect, even dread, but not hatred, because his victory was loyal, his severity just, his domination generous; his very appearance reassuring by reason of his coolness, his mastery over himself; sturdy in stature, a robust and healthy physique, a confident gait, masterful gesture, a strong face illuminated by vital and burning eyes—the victor after his victory was like a lion at rest, but not "burdened by his years and lamenting his former deeds of valor."

He had nothing to regret. His glory, like his life, was immune from criticism.

PLANES ON WAY TO "BOMB" EAST

Army Air Armada Reaches El Paso on First Hop

Nineteen Flyers Swoop Down on Texas Town for Night

Maneuvers Will Include "Raids" on Two Cities

EL PASO, May 10. (AP)—Nineteen planes of the United States air force from San Diego landed here shortly before dusk. The flyers will spend the night here and take off in the morning for the East to engage in maneuvers of the seventh bombardment group.

The planes left San Diego this morning, stopped at Tucson, Ariz., to refuel and arrived here at 5:30 p.m. The trip was made in less than twelve hours.

"RAIDERS" GO FOR ATTACK OF EASTERN CITIES

SAN DIEGO, May 10. (AP)—Twenty-one army airplanes left Rockwell Field here today to "bomb" New York and Cincinnati and engage in other theoretical maneuvers along with more than 150 other planes operating from Wright and Norton Fields, O., from the 15th to the 26th inst.

The flight from San Diego to Dayton and Columbus is to be made in easy hops under command of Maj. Carl Spatz, commanding the Seventh Provisional Group at Rockwell Field. Spatz recently commanded the army airplane Question Mark when it broke the world's endurance record in Southern California.

The first planes to leave today were three transports. These were followed by three Keystone bombers. Then fifteen speedy pursuit planes hopped off. Stopping places are: Midland, Tex., Fort Sill., Okla., Muskogee, Okla., and Scott Field, Ill. From Scott Field the planes will fly direct to Columbus. The personnel of the aerial unit consists of twenty-seven officers and twenty-nine enlisted men.

The maneuvers over Cincinnati are programed for the 18th inst. A description of the "attack" on the city and the aerial "defense" of it is to be broadcast nationally from one of the planes. Several of the planes will participate in a long-distance air raid on New York City on the night of the 22nd inst. A description of this raid also will be broadcast.

When the planes taking part in the "attack" on New York leave Dayton they will go by way of Middletown, Pa., where they will be refueled from the air as the Question Mark was recently when it broke the endurance record. The purpose of the maneuver is to demonstrate the usefulness of aerial refueling on long-distance, nonstop flights for attack.

BORGIA RELIC TO BE SOLD

Historic Poison Cupboard Having to Do With Death of Many Notables to Go Under Hammer

[Copyright, 1929, by the Chicago Tribune.]

BERLIN, May 10. (Exclusive)—An advertisement appearing in the columns of the Berlin press announces the forthcoming sale of "Lucrezia Borgia's poison cupboard" which, after belonging to the Czars, passed into the possession of a former Russian diplomat who now finds it necessary to turn the historic relic into cash.

The cupboard is a beautiful specimen of old Italian workmanship, approximately 400 years of age, sculptured in ebony and standing ninety-seven inches high and seventy-eight inches across. It is adorned with gilded bronze statuettes, and has reliefs of gods, nymphs and satyrs, much of which can be described only as frankly pornographic. The center of the cupboard holds a gorgeous gilded clock.

The present owner rescued this precious piece from the house of Rasputin, to whom the Empress had loaned it. The false monk held that he was inspired by the sight of the mysterious cupboard which appeared to be connected with the swift death of so many notable people.

Hidden beneath loads of hay, the cupboard was smuggled to Finland and from there to Berlin. It was presented to Czar Nicholas I at the beginning of the nineteenth century by Cardinal Ferdinand Medici in recognition of the monarch's protection of Roman Catholics in Russia.

The cupboard contains nearly 100 secret drawers all operated by a complicated mechanism. Each of these drawers once contained some kind of deadly poison, designed to swiftly serve the murderous lusts of the beautiful titian-haired Lucrezia—history's most sinister woman.

Salt Lake City's Chamber Board Hears Rail Plea

SALT LAKE CITY (Utah) May 10. (Exclusive)—The opening of the Western Pacific, the Great Northern and the Denver and Rio Grande Western to enlist the support of Salt Lake City and Utah in a battle between Titans of the railroad industry was launched before the Chamber of Commerce board of governors today by H. M. Adams, president of the Western Pacific, and J. S. Pyeatt, president of the D. & R. G. W.

Representatives of the other combatant in the struggle, the Southern Pacific system, which is battling against an invasion of its Southern Oregon and Northern California territory, are scheduled to present their side of the case to the chamber members at an early date.

The Utah Coal Producers' Association has passed a resolution supporting the application of the Western Pacific and Great Northern. The Ogden City Commission on Thursday adopted a resolution in support of the Southern Pacific system's opposition.

Rayon Striker's Home Blown Up

ELIZABETHTON (Tenn.) May 10. (AP)—The five-room house of Mack Elliot, formerly a mechanic at the Bemberg rayon plant here, was wrecked late last night by an explosion which the Sheriff's office believes resulted from a charge of nitroglycerin. About three weeks ago, it is reported, some dynamite was thrown in Elliot's automobile but it did not explode.

Elliot was among the approximately 5500 persons made idle by the strike April 15 at the Bemberg and American Glanzstoff plants. While the plants have reopened, Elliot has not returned to work.

At the time of the blast he was attending a union meeting.

Hoover Urges Rail Mail Fund

WASHINGTON, May 10. (AP)—A recommendation for a supplemental appropriation of $39,000,000 to pay railroads for carrying United States mail was made to Congress today by President Hoover.

Some of the money would be expended in accordance with an Interstate Commerce Commission decision giving the railroads increased rates for transporting mail, which were made retroactive over a three-year period, while the remainder would go toward the increase for the fiscal year 1929.

Assembly Committee Backs Senate Resolution

Amended Measure Meets With Indorsement

Congress Will be Asked for Federal Coast Quiz

SACRAMENTO, May 10. (AP)—The Assembly Committee on Federal Relations today approved for passage the amended resolution of Senator Inman urging Congress to adopt legislation providing for a governmental investigation of telephone rates and practices.

The Inman measure was amended by Senator Frank Merriam in the Senate Federal Relations Committee last week deleting specific reference to the American Telephone and Telegraph Company and its subsidiary Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company, whose rate increase application is pending before the California Railroad Commission.

The original Inman measure referred specifically to the American Telephone Company and its Pacific Coast subsidiary, but there was strong opposition to singling out these companies in an investigation of asserted high rates, therefore the Merriam amendments met with approval.

LIBRARIAN GOING TO JAIL BUT HE WON'T BE BOOKED

BOSTON, May 10. (AP)—In order to study the literary tastes of prisoners in Massachusetts penal institutions and to attempt to make them "book conscious," Myron W. Fuller, assistant librarian at the Haverhill Public Library, plans to begin a year's stay in the jails of the State next week.

Fuller will report his findings to Miss E. Kathleen Jones, head of the public libraries section of State Department of Education, who originated the plan of sending an investigator into the jails to learn by association what books should be in every prison library. Backing the project is the Bureau of Social Hygiene, Inc., of New York, maintained by funds provided by John D. Rockefeller, Jr.

Fuller plans to make a tour of the jails throughout the State, staying for a month if necessary at the principal institutions. His duties will consist of making personal contacts with prisoners, stimulating their interest in literature and learning the books in which they are most interested.

Stoefen Conquers San Francisco Star as Netters Advance to Semifinal Round

BY RALPH HUSTON

Upsets, near-upsets, and long, sensational matches combined to give local tennis fans the best exhibitions of the tournament yesterday, when the entrants in the Southern California championships played their quarter-final matches, at the Los Angeles Tennis Club.

Les Stoefen, municipal court champion, eliminated Gerald Stratford of San Francisco, 11-9, 7-5, in a morning match in an upset, and then lost to Keith Gledhill, the lanky Santa Barbara youth, 4-6, 8-6, 6-3. Art Kussman, Occidental player, carried Johnny Doeg, eighth in the national rankings, to 12-10, 6-4, before the Stanford star could eke out a victory. Helen Marlow defeated Caroline Babcock in straight sets, 6-4, 6-4.

KEITH GLEDHILL.

GORCHAKOFF WINS

Those were among the day's sensational performances. Among the more orthodox matches, Phil Neer, twice national intercollegiate champion, won over Ellsworth Vines, Pasadena youth, 6-2, 6-3, and then lost to Doeg in a quarter-final event, 6-3, 2-6, 6-4. Ben Gorchakoff, the defending champion, won over Sidney Wood in straight sets, 6-4, 6-3, and will meet Gledhill today in a semifinal encounter.

DYNAMITE ROW BLASTS DUCKS

Seraph Sluggers Have Hard Time With Mahaffey

Walsh Comes to Plitt's Aid and Tames Beavers

BY BOB RAY

Marty Krug's dynamite row exploded with a resounding bang under the victory hopes of "Smoke Ball" Mahaffey in the eighth inning, two runs were blasted over the plate and the Angels nosed out the Portland Ducks, 4 to 3, in yesterday's exciting struggle at Wrigley Field.

BOBBY JONES

Up until that fatal eighth, Mahaffey's smoke balls had sufficiently baffled the Angels to entitle the Ducks to a 3-to-2 margin. But the Seraphs' big guns weren't to be silenced all afternoon and the Portland hurler's brilliant efforts went to waste when Earl Webb, Slug Tolson and Bobby Jones trained their sights on base hit territory.

The Angels had jumped into a two-run lead by putting across tallies in the first and second, but from then on until the eighth they didn't even get a man to first off Mahaffey, who yielded nine hits during the encounter.

WALSH RESCUES PLITT

"Deacon" Plitt, the bespectacled Seraph slabster, got himself in a jam in the sixth, when the Ducks tallied twice to take the lead, and had to be replaced by Augie Walsh, the guy with the Irish monicker that has a German handle. Augie stopped the Ducks right in their web-footed tracks and cashed in on the victory as a result of his mates' eighth-inning splurge.

Bill Rodgers was forced to present a makeshipt infield with Mack Hillis at first and Jimmy Cronin at second. Hillis moved over to the initial sack because Guy Cooper, who has been holding down first since Jim Keesey twisted some muscles out of place, came up with a badly swollen receiving hand. Hillis performed brilliantly at first, scooping no less than three low throws out of the dirt, but Cooper's base hits were missed by the Portland brigade.

Yesterday's win was the Angels' third straight and gave them a three-to-one edge in the series, but they didn't gain a thing on the Missions, who won their daily tussle from Sacramento. Unless somebody stops the Reds soon it looks as though the battle will just be for second place.

The Seraphs penetrated Mahaffey's smoke ball screen for runs in the first and second innings, in which they bunched six of their hits off the Portland fast-ball pitcher.

LOCALS SCORE IN FIRST

The Home Guards picked up a run in the first after two were out, Walter Berger starting the excitement by punching a single to left. Tolson was hit in the ribs by one of Mahaffey's hard ones to make

Anti-Wrigley Moguls Plan Second Step

SACRAMENTO, May 10.—A group of Coast League club owners met here today and planned the second step of their campaign to force William Wrigley to back down in his policy of admitting ladies free to all Angel home games. The purpose of the gathering was to prepare an appeal to the National Board of Arbitration to make Wrigley live up to the league constitution in paying visiting clubs at Los Angeles for women admitted free on days not designated by the circuit. Each member of the board is to be submitted a copy of the evidence and the constitution. Wrigley has until the 18th inst. to answer to the resolution recently passed in a meeting at San Francisco. If he answers a vote on the matter will be asked of the arbitration board.

Second and third-round matches played yesterday over the Bel-Air Country Club links, where the fairways are long and rolling, and the rough is very rough indeed, furnished enough features and upsets for a half a dozen ordinary tournaments.

Chronologically, in the order of their importance, here are the events as they transpired:

Cubs Pound Ball Viciously to Defeat New York and Hold First Place in Natio

ROOT, CUYLER CLOUT HOMERS

Two on Base When Pitcher Hits for Circuit

Vance Fails to Hold Cards, Who Win, 4 to 0

Braves Beaten by Redlegs; Pirates Cop

NEW YORK, May 10. (AP)—The Cubs remained in first place, one game ahead of the Cardinals, by defeating the Giants, 11 to 4, today. The Cubs hit Genewich, Scott, Henry and Judd for thirteen hits and twenty-one bases, including homers by Charlie Root and Kiki Cuyler and a triple by Riggs Stephenson.

Root really won his own game with his home run in the sixth with two Cubs on base, but was unable to finish. Mike Cvengros relieved him in the Giant sixth after a run had been forced over the plate. An odd feature of the game was the Cubs' starting battery of Root and Grace drove in seven of the eleven runs. Root permitted no Giants to reach base in the first four rounds. Lew Wilson made a sensational catch at the expense of Ott.

ROBINS RAPPED

BROOKLYN (N. Y.) May 10. (AP)—The Cardinals defeated Dazzy Vance by 4 to 0 today, and so kept up the pace set by the league-leading Cubs, who downed the Giants in Manhattan. Sylvester Johnson let the Robins down with seven hits, well scattered.

Vance fanned eight in the first four innings, but his effectiveness faded later in the game. The hitting of Douthit and Frisch was a feature.

The Brooklyn infield was rearranged due to the illness of Bancroft and Bissonette, Wright's bad arm and the split finger of Flowers.

BRAVES BUMPED

BOSTON, May 10. (AP)—The Reds defeated the Braves, 5 to 3, today. The visitors scored three unearned runs in the sixth inning, after "Rabbit" Maranville, tribal shortstop, had made his initial error of the season. It was the Braves' third straight loss.

The other two runs came in the fourth frame, when Stripp hit a homer with one on. Lester Bell contributed a circuit clout in the eighth with the sacks empty.

Earl Clark, Braves gardener, set a new league record with twelve putouts in centerfield. Score:

PIRATES COP

PHILADELPHIA, May 10. (AP)—Pittsburgh today defeated the Philadelphia Nationals, 13 to 9, in a game marked by ineffective pitching.

The Phillies got off to a 7-to-0 lead in the opening inning and saw this lead thrown away by Willoughby and Ferguson. Green, the third Phillie hurler, to see action, was no more effective.

Pittsburgh used Swetonic, Brame, Hill and French to halt the Phillies and Brame, who once toiled here for the Athletics, was the official winner. Chuck Klein, Phillies, made his third home run of the season with two men on base in the first inning. Grantham, Pirates, also made a home run. Score:

RABBIT PUNCHES
by PAUL LOWRY

THE GREAT "HAIG"

IT WAS been said before. It should be said again. Walter Hagen—the incomparable.

For the fourth time—1922, 1924, 1928, 1929—the great "Haig" has won the British open, the golf classic of the ages.

And he won it under typical Hagen conditions—in a howling gale that saw Leo Diegel, the leader, at the end of the second round, slip from a 69 to an 82.

It is an old story that Hagen plays best when conditions are worst. Bad lies, rough, traps—all these things mean nothing to Hagen.

He plays on as serenely as a minister saying the benediction. That's why he is great. Other golfers can beat Hagen when the breaks are right, but none can touch him for utter indifference to distressing situations on a golf course.

This fourth triumph in the British classic which ended at Muirfield yesterday raises Hagen to the heights enjoyed only by two great Britons in a lifetime of competition in their own country.

James Braid won the British title five times, Harry Vardon six times, Hagen four times—four American notches on the British crown.

Small wonder they call Hagen the great "Haig"—Hagen the incomparable.

A HOODOO ROUND

ONE bad round ruined Leo Diegel at Muirfield.

It was tragic after the wonderful rounds he shot during the Ryder Cup matches, the qualifying bids for the British open and his first two in the competition for the British cup.

But that old hoodoo of one bad round swept Leo right out of the picture.

It isn't the first time this has happened.

Time and again this likable young man of much temperament has come bounding down the fairways of national open classics with a wonderful chance of copping the big dough.

Then comes the one bad round.

It is inevitable.

You can bet on it like money in the bank.

I have pulled for Leo in many a tourney.

But he always has that one bad round. He wins some tourneys—but not the biggest ones where opportunity has nodded with golden lure.

LOOK LIKE REPEATERS

UNLESS some of the northern prep boys rise above their records it looks as if San Diego High is in for a State title in addition to the southern crown gained a week ago.

The boys come together for the annual State championship meet at the Coliseum this afternoon, and the San Diego boys seem to have just about as many points salted away as the number that won them the southern meet—21½.

They have Jimmy Wilson, the pee-wee sprinter who is good for first or second in both sprints; Miller; a first in the pole vault; Dower, who won the mile in sensational fashion last week, and Warburton, quarter miler.

Marty, the spectacular Class B boy who leaped 6ft. 4½in. for Fresno High during the relays at the Raisin City, is one chap from the north who will step into the points, but the others from the far side of the Tehachapi aren't so hot judging from their records.

DEEP, DARK STUFF

BABY SAL has detectives guarding him in his training camp at San Bernardino.

And he's also under the constant surveillance of his manager, Grafton Leabo.

Everything is being done to circumvent possible disaster to "Little Mexico's" challenger for the junior lightweight championship.

The methods savor some—of course to a lesser degree—of the days preceding the Tunney-Dempsey battles at Philadelphia and Chicago, respectively.

Seals Beaten by Tribe, 5-2

SAN FRANCISCO, May 10. (AP)—Staging a rally that netted them three runs in the tenth inning, the Seattle Indians took the San Francisco Seals into camp, 5 to 2, here today.

The visitors tied the score in the ninth and slammed Walter Mails's offerings for five safe hits and three tallies to win the game in the tenth. The stick work of Ellsworth, Wade, Johnson and Steinecke did the work.

Graham was found for six hits, while Mails allowed thirteen. Fisch took the mound for Graham in the ending of the ninth and pitched airtight ball, striking out three of the Seals' heavy hitters. Score:

MACKMEN SHUT OUT BY INDIANS

Washington Scores 4-2 Win Over White Sox

Browns End Losing Streak to Beat Red Sox

CLEVELAND, May 10. (AP)—The Indians handed the Athletics their first shutout of the season today, driving Walberg from the box under a vicious attack in the early innings and piling up nine runs, while Walter Miller was limiting the Mackmen to six hits.

It was Miller's second victory in a row.

A home run by Earl Averill, Indians' rookie center fielder, with the bases full in the third inning was a feature of the game. Score:

SOX SLAPPED

CHICAGO, May 10. (AP)—Garland Braxton held the White Sox to four hits today and Washington won, 4 to 2.

Bob Weiland, the youthful southpaw, baffled the Senators for five innings during which they reached him for only one hit. He weakened in the sixth and seventh, however, and was removed with three runs against his record.

Hoffman, playing right field for the Sox, injured the back of his neck, when he rolled against the right-field bricks after pulling down a drive by Cronin in the fifth. Score:

ST. LOUIS, May 10. (AP)—The St. Louis Browns brought an end to a losing streak which had reached four games and recorded their first victory of the present home stay by winning from the Boston Red Sox today, 4 to 3.

McGowan, who exchanged places with O'Rourke in the batting order, singled in the fourth with the bases filled. Ogden pitched masterfully except in the third when the Sox bunched four hits with a Brownie error to get their three runs. Score:

DR. FREELAND WINS CLASSIC

tries, while The Nut, bought this spring by the Warm Stable, took the fourth-place share of the added money, leading by half a length his former mate in the Harry Payne Whitney stable, Beacon Hill.

Of the four money horses all but African are candidates for next week's classic, the Kentucky Derby, and by their showing today established themselves as threats in that race.

Minotaur, far back in the early running, moved up to take the lead, going into the stretch with Dr. Freeland, getting out of his troubles in the last half, running close behind and able to wear down the New Orleans horse and win by a length. African began slowly but circled the field to come in a length behind Minotaur, while The Nut met with trouble in the early running but finished gamely.

It was the third Preakness triumph for the Salmon colors, his Vigil taking the race in 1923 and Display in 1926.

STARS STAGE COMEBACK

Trounce Oaks, 10 to 3, as Hulvey Hurls Classy Ball After Erratic First Inning

SAN FRANCISCO, May 10.—After going twenty-nine innings without a run, and losing three in a row to Oakland, the Hollywood Stars staged a comeback this afternoon at Emeryville. The Stars defeated the Acorns, 10 to 3, massing their attacks at various stages of the battle and they made the home club like it. Needless to say, the visitors looked a lot better winning than in the previous games when they had been beaten.

Offensively they were far stronger in the hitting division and aside from the first inning their defense was far better. Hank Hulvey gave the Oaks a bulge of three runs right at the start of the game, although his support was nothing about which he would write home. But that three run lead was not enough for the Oaks and from the second on through to the finish they were unable to solve the Hulvey pitching.

GREEN HITS

Meantime, Dumovich, of the Oaks, was encountering heavy weather. By rights he should have been benched as early as the third inning when his lack of control was self-evident. But Howard held the hurler to the job until well after a home run over the right-field fence by Harry Green well-nigh cinched the game for Hollywood.

The Oaks scored their three tallies with one out. Brubaker singled, and Tony Governor put one through the infield to center. Ariett doubled for the first run. Carlyle was purposely walked, filling the bases, and with Vergez out on a foul, Dean hit toward first. Green did well to knock the ball down and save a double. As it was, Dean drove in one run and Sypher, who is all his name implies as a catcher, dropped a throw to the plate for the third.

Dumovich was a trifle wild in the second when a walk, a single and a sacrifice fly put one Hollywood run across. In the third two more walks and a single added another.

Hollywood went out in front when Lee singled and was sacrificed to second. Alberts walked, but was forced at second by Carlyle and on a stupid bit of work on the part of Vergez Lee arrived safely at third.

Rumler's single scored Lee and then came Green's homer over the right-field fence for three more.

Dumovich had more trouble in the sixth and it was only after two of the Stars singled with one out that he was benched. Kasich took up the forlorn cause but two more runs were scored.

RUMLER HERO

The Hollywood boys added their ninth in the eighth inning, on a walk for Carlyle and Rumler's three-base hit that hit the clubhouse in center field.

Kasich lasted through until a run had been scored in the ninth and the bases were full with two down. Then Young retired Carlyle on a fly to deep center.

The Oaks found trouble locating Hulvey's delivery until the ninth. Then they bunched three hits, but could not even put another runner around the circuit. It made little difference for they were too far behind. Score:

DUCKS WINGED BY ANGELS

Webb, Tolson and Jones Bunch Hits Off Mahaffey in Eighth for 4-to-3 Seraph Victory

the situation more intricate. Bobby Jones came through with a double down the right-field line to punch Berger over the plate. Johnny Butler had a chance to drive in two more runs, but Staley came up with a great play on his slow bouncer and threw him out at first to end the inning.

Mahaffey yielded four hits in the second round, but the Angels were able to get only one run out of the quartet of singles. After Sandberg had skied to Borrelli for the first out, Dittmar singled over second and rambled to third when Plitt slapped a one-base shot to right. Statz fouled out to Staley, who did a lot of gyrating before he finally made the catch, which eased the situation for Mahaffey. However, Earl Webb came through with a single to center that allowed Dittmar to score. Berger followed by beating out an infield hit, Westling making a great backhanded stop to prevent Plitt from scoring. With the bases loaded, Mahaffey puffed his smoke ball right by Tolson for a lucky strike, and Slug admitted, as he walked down to take his position at first, that there wasn't a hit in a carload, while the Portland hurler only remarked that it satisfied.

Plitt was touched for a run in the third, Tony Rego starting the round with a single to left. Mahaffey fanned, but Rego stole second while his battery mate was taking the third swing. Sandberg's throw arrived in time but it was a trifle wide and Tony skidded around Dittmar. Frey then beat out a hit over second that Dittmar knocked down and Rego parked himself on third to await further developments. The developments took place immediately, Gale Staley slashing a hit between Tolson and Butler to drive Rego over the plate. Hillis followed with a weak fly that Dittmar caught out in short left field. Frey, who is pretty speedy on the paths, attempted to come home after the catch, and was nailed at the plate when Plitt cut off Dittmar's throw-in and relayed it perfectly to Sandberg.

DUCKS GO INTO LEAD

Plitt lost his stuff in the sixth and the Ducks took advantage by collecting their other two runs and driving the Deacon to the clubhouse. Staley opened the sixth with a hit to center. Statz came in fast and attempted to make the catch, but got caught between hops and the ball got by him for two bases. Hillis singled to left and Staley pulled up at third. When Plitt passed Jahn on four straight balls to fill the bases, Krug called Walsh in from the bull pen to see what he could do to make the Beavers behave. Augie put down the uprising all right, but not until the Ducks had shoved across two runs and taken the lead, 3 to 2. Borrelli was the first man to face Walsh and he forced Jahn at second, Dittmar to Butler. Jahn bumped into Butler to take the steam out of Johnny's throw to first for a double play and Borrelli was safe while Staley scored and Hillis went to third. Cronin hit a sacrifice fly to Berger that brought Hillis over the plate. Borrelli then attempted to steal second and was nipped by Sandberg's toss to Butler.

Mahaffey had retired the Angels in order in the third, fourth, fifth, sixth and seventh innings, but he fell afoul of dynamite row in the eighth. The Beaver slabster must have entered the inning a wee bit nervous, knowing that he had Webb, Berger, Tolson and Jones all coming up against him in this round. Whether Mahaffey was nervous or not, Webb greeted him with a sizzling drive to left center that went for two bases. Berger was too anxious to hit and popped up to Jahn, who took the ball in close. Tolson, who had fanned his previous two trips to the plate, slashed a double off the right-field screen and Webb came home with the tying tally. Bobby Jones once more came through in the pinch, delivering a single past Westling that sent Tolson over with the winning run. Tolson put on a rolling slide for the fans at the plate, reaching out with one mitt to tap the rubber. Jones went to second on the throw-in, but perished there when Butler and Sandberg went out via the aerial route to the Beaver outfielders.

Jahn opened the Portland ninth in a threatening manner by punching a one-base shot to right, but Walsh hitched up his belt and retired Borrelli, Cronin and Pinch-Hitter Cooper to end the round without the Portland left fielder advancing past first. Score:

Foul Tips

Tex Weatherby, rotund Angel southpaw, is to be sent to the Wichita club of the Western League on option, it was announced last night by Oscar Reichow, Seraph business manager. Weatherby will report at once to Art Griggs's club, which already has Bill Piercy, Jim Mosolf and Woody Jensen, ex-Angels, in its line-up.

By relieving Plitt in the sixth inning yesterday and getting credit for the Angel victory, Augie Walsh made it eight wins for the season. He has three defeats. Walsh was knocked out of the box by Portland Tuesday, and Krug may use him in one of tomorrow's games.

Red Roberts is Marty Krug's pitching choice for today's contest. Jack Knight, who pitched a no-hit, no-run game last season, will start for Portland.

Both George Westling and Carl Dittmar, the rival shortstops, turned in a lot of fancy plays yesterday.

Dittmar had trouble getting hits, Westling robbing him of one safety and Nick Borrelli making a sensational running catch of another one of Carl's intended hits.

It looked like Art Jahn's glove had a magnet in it every time Johnny Butler came to bat. Butler lined out to Jahn his final three trips to the plate.

Guy Cooper, who has been filling in at first base for the Ducks since Jim Keesey pulled a muscle in his shoulder, came up on the injured list yesterday, his left hand being all puffed up out of shape from taking hot throws from the other infielders. Cooper may get back into the line-up today. Keesey is definitely out until next Tuesday.

Tony Rego and "Deacon" Plitt weren't getting along at all yesterday. Plitt tossed a couple too close to Rego's head for comfort and Tony and the Deacon were arguing until the Angel pitcher left the game in the sixth.

Mahaffey, after yielding six hits in the first two innings, didn't allow an Angel to reach first in the third, fourth, fifth, sixth and seventh frames. But he weakened in the eighth and Webb, Tolson and Jones bunched three safeties to sew up the struggle.

run with two on in the fifth, and Bob Meusel followed with another in the same round, after Gehrig had walked. The Tigers, however, tied the score with a four-run outburst in their own half of the inning, and it remained for the Yankee battery, George Pipgras and Bill Dickey, to break up the game definitely by leading another New York rally in the eighth.

Pipgras won his third victory in five starts and registered his second complete game of the year. He would have escaped with one run against him, but for an error by Durocher with a double play in sight.

Harry Heilman featured the Detroit attack with a home run with one on base. The score:

Salo First to Reach Dallas

DALLAS (Tex.) May 10. (AP)—John Salo, Passaic (N. J.) policeman, captured the longest hop in C. C. Pyle's transcontinental bunion derby today by running 79.9 miles from Sherman, Tex., to Dallas in 11h. 22m. 15s. He cut fifty-two minutes and fifteen seconds from the lead of Pete Gavuzzi, England, and reduced Gavuzzi's margin to 1h. 29m. 45s.

Salo set a gruelling pace, pausing only to eat. A broiling Texas sun did not affect him and he checked at the timer's table running strong.

Giusto Umek, Italy, who won the seventy-two-mile grind into Muskogee, Okla., last Saturday, was second today in 12h. 4m. 45s. Gavuzzi, leader in elapsed time, was third in 12h. 14m. 30s.

Today's grind was the longest in the two years of transcontinental racing, surpassing the seventy-eight-mile jog into Deposit, N. Y., last year. The race started at 5 a.m. today.

The first nine in elapsed time are:

Pete Gavuzzi, England	275:42:12
John Salo, Passaic, N. J.	277:11:57
Giusto Umek, Italy	291:39:26

CANZONERI WINNER IN ROUTIS GO

Italian Unpopular Victor; Record-Breaking Crowd of Fans Sees Chicago Bout

CHICAGO, May 10. (AP)—Before a record-smashing crowd of 25,000, Tony Canzoneri, former world's featherweight champion, was awarded an unpopular decision over Andre Routis, present 126-pound title-holder, in their ten-round bout in the Chicago Stadium tonight.

The battle was witnessed by the largest throng that ever saw an indoor boxing show in America. The gross receipts were around $90,000, a record gate for Chicago at popular prices.

The decision did not deprive Routis of his championship as the match was fought above the 126-pound weight limit. The verdict, however, was unanimous with Eddie Purdy, the referee, agreeing with Phil Collins and Ed Klein, the judges.

Routis scaled 127 3-4 pounds when they weighed in this afternoon with Canzoneri tipping the beam at 129½.

Otto Von Porat, Norwegian heavyweight, bounded back to the ranks of heavyweight contenders by knocking out Jack Demave of Hoboken, N. J., in the second round.

Armando Santiago, Cuban sharpshooter, scored a surprising victory in knocking out Honey Boy Dick Finnegan of Boston, a contender for the featherweight championship, in the sixth round of their ten-round fight. Santiago, who jumped into prominence by knocking out Joey Sangor a few months ago, smashed Finnegan to the floor a few seconds after the opening of the sixth round with a short right-cross to the chin.

KID KAPLAN WINS OVER BILLY WALLACE

NEW YORK, May 10. (AP)—Louis (Kid) Kaplan, former featherweight champion, evened his score with Billy Wallace, Cleveland lightweight, by winning the decision in a tame ten-round bout in Madison Square Garden tonight. Wallace won their first battle by a knockout.

HELEN JACOBS LEAVES FOR WIMBLEDON NETS

BERKELEY, May 10. (AP)—Helen Jacobs, second ranking woman tennis player of this country, was en route to New York today, from where she will sail for England to compete in the Wimbledon championships. She entrained last night with her mother, who is accompanying her as far as the east coast. Miss Jacobs, who is the greatest rival of Helen Wills, champion, will go abroad fortified with a far stronger game than was hers last year.

Loughran to Box Braddock in Title Tilt

NEW YORK, May 10. (AP)—Tommy Loughran, light-heavyweight champion, and James J. Braddock, outstanding challenger for the crown, signed articles today for a fifteen-round title match in the Yankee Stadium here July 18.

Loughran will receive 37½ per cent of the gate and Braddock 12½.

The Philadelphia master faces the most dangerous contender of the present 175-pound crop in Braddock. The Jersey puncher broke Pete Latzo's jaw with one right-hand punch and knocked out both Tuffy Griffith and Jimmy Slattery during the winter campaign.

LEWIS'S RIVAL PLANS ATTACK

Daviscourt Perfecting Hold to Ruin Strangler

Dick Daviscourt will do all of his training for his finish match with Ed "Strangler" Lewis at the Olympic Wednesday night on his ranch at Vista, Cal., he wired Promoter Lou Daro yesterday.

The big Kansan declared he expected to weigh about 225 pounds when he stepped into the ring, and would be in better condition than he was for the four biggest battles he has ever had here—two each with Jim Londos and Joe Stecher.

The one hold he is giving plenty of time and attention to is the overhead slam, which he believes he will have no difficulty in clamping on Lewis. The grip is a combination inside reverse double wristlock and flying mare. Lewis's habit of pawing out with his hands in warding off an opponent makes him an ideal subject for this grip, in the Kansan's opinion. The hold is said to be as punishing as Joe Malcewicz's backward body slam.

Nick Lutze, the young Chicago star, has a job cut out for him if he expects to dispose of "Wild Bill" Beth in the finish special event of this card, according to mat critics. Beth is tougher and in much better condition now than he was for his first battle with Lutze. As Daro is said to have promised him a match with either Lewis or Daviscourt if he beats Lutze, Beth can be expected to be at his best for this encounter.

Don De Laum of Long Beach will clash with John Hunnel of Sawtelle in the opener.

BERLENBACH KICKED OUT

PHILADELPHIA, May 10. (AP)—Paul Berlenbach, New York, and Pat McKay, Philadelphia, were ordered from the ring here tonight by Referee Billy Hermann after their wrestling bout had gone fifteen minutes. Hermann said they were not trying. Berlenbach, former light heavyweight boxing champion, returned to the mat game several weeks ago.

STRATFORD IS ELIMINATED

ford was the most sensational upset of the day. For nineteen games they alternated, winning their own serves, until the L.A. A.C. player broke through Stratford's service, to win the deciding tilt of the first set at love. Stoefen, who was runner-up to George Jennings of Chicago in the national municipal championships, was playing well-nigh perfect tennis. His shots were accurate, and he was as steady as a Davis Cup veteran. Stoefen got a 4-1 lead in the second set, but Stratford rallied to even the count. Stoefen broke through Stratford's service in the twelfth game to take the set and the match.

He started out his afternon match with Gledhill in the same sterling fashion, but tired badly in the long second set. After taking the first set 6-4, with the same steady play, he was forced to bow to the cool headwork, and careful placements of the Santa Barbara player. After trading their service several times, Gledhill broke through again in the thirteenth game, and then won out on his own service. With accurate placements, Gledhill kept Stoefen running back and forth across the court, and the Mercury star tiered badly. Me was merely outclased in the final set, 6-3.

Doeg and Kussman were both serving brilliantly in their match. They won alternate games for twenty-straight encounters, before Doeg was able to break through and clinch the match. The Stanford star was playing a waiting game, and when he found the breaks, he was quick to take advantage of them. Doeg served eleven times in the first set, and Kussman was able to kin just 10 points. Doeg won three games at love.

Kussman slowed up considerably in the second set, and Doeg broke through him in the fifth and seventh games to win the match. Doeg's backhand strokes were brilliant, but his forehand was very weak, and he committed numerous errors.

In the afternoon, facing Neer, Doeg played just good enough to win. As in the morning, he waited for the breaks and took good advantake of them. Neer was playing excellent tennis, but could not cope with his husky rival.

Helen Marlow played the best tennis she ever has shown to defeat Caroline Babcock. Playing on the main court, the two clever juniors performed brilliantly at times, and erratically at others. Miss Babcock seemed disturbed by the gallery and blew up badly, being far off her best form in the second set. The victory put Miss Marlow in the finals, where she will meet the winner of the Midge Gladman-Gladys Patz match, which will be played today.

Gorchakoff, after a period of comparatively poor tennis, appeared back in good form, and his victory over Wood was convincing. His placements were accurate and he had his plentiful variety of strokes well in hand. Wood played a carefree game, but was no match for the winner.

Alan Herrington, a former Stanford star, playing as a Southern California defender, won over Jack De Lara, U.S.C. freshman captain, in three hard sets, 5-7, 6-4, 6-2, to enter the semifinals. Herrington, who has been playing brilliantly all through the tournament, had too much class for the plucky southpaw and scored impressively.

Clif Robbins and Les Stoefen, who had eliminated Doeg and Stratford from the doubles, continued their winning streak with a hard three-set victory over Lusch and Tidball, 10-12, 6-3, 8-6. Gorchakoff and Kussman, one of the favored doubles teams, lost in another lengthy match to Neer and Wood, 8-6, 11-13, 6-4. The complete list of results and the schedule for today:

JEFFERSON NINE UPSET BY POLY

Lefty Meyer Holds Champs to Two Singles

Romans Nose Out Franklin Nine, 4-3

Manual Defeats Hollywood Outfit, 7-3

Behind the brilliant hurling of Lefty Meyer, Mechanic southpaw, Coach "Cop" Mahoney's Polytechnic nine advanced another notch toward the City League baseball championship by upsetting Jefferson, 4 to 0, yesterday at Dunn Field.

Meyer let the Democrats, 1928 pennant winners, down with two hits, singles by Espinosa and Moore, and was never in danger of being scored on.

The Mechanics bunched hits off Chino Mitre, Jefferson hurler, in the second, third, sixth and eighth innings, to put over a run in each round. Meyer helped win his own game by contributing two hits to share batting honors with Mowbray, Mechanic third-sacker. Score:

HARDING SHUTS OUT FREMONT, 5-0

Coach Trigg's Harding High School baseball team are on their way to their third horsehide championship as a result of their 5-0 win over Les Haserot's Fremont nine, in a game played yesterday on the Pathfinder diamond.

Harding has won seven straight games in minor-league play and with but three games left to play the worst the Warriors can receive is a tie for first place.

"Lefty" Lawrence of the Pathfinders outpitched the sensational Harding hurler, "Whitey" Snider, but poor support by his team-mates caused Fremont's downfall. Lawrence struck out fifteen batters, while Snider was whiffing twelve. The score:

L. A. HIGH SCORES 4-3 UPSET OVER FRANKLIN

Franklin's chances for the major city baseball championship took a downward leap yesterday when the L.A. High Romans scored a 4-3 upset victory over the Panthers. The game was played at Franklin, and, although the Panthers outhit the Romans 10-5, the breaks of the game went to L.A. High.

Huskies Face Busy Day on Sports Field

SEATTLE (Wash.) May 10. (AP)—While the University of Oregon track team was due to invade Seattle today to do battle tomorrow with the University of Washington cinder artists, three bands of Washington Huskies forged into Oregon to compete against the golf and tennis squads of Oregon State College at Corvallis and the Oregon baseball nine at Eugene this afternoon.

The Washington baseball team which won a double-header from the University of Idaho in Seattle yesterday, will play the Oregon Webfooters again tomorrow while the golf and tennis players will journey over to Corvallis Saturday to meet Oregon State.

MANUAL ARTS TRIMS HOLLYWOOD, 7-3.

Muffing the ball frequently and at no time receiving the benefit of the breaks, Hollywood High School's baseball nine took a 7-to-3 trimming from Coach Lougheed's Manual Arts pill tossers in a ragged game played yesterday afternoon on the Toilers' diamond.

Reyes, Hollywood chucker, received poor support from his team-mates, and only on account of this, did the Artisans take the game, having earned but three of their seven tallies. Both nines collected eleven hits.

Reyes fanned thirteen Toiler batsmen, while McKinzie helped the Toiler cause by striking out six Hollywooders. Rivera of Manual, did the best hitting of the day, gathering three hits out of five times at the plate, while Collins, supposedly the Hollywood threat with the bat, failed to come through, getting but a single out of five times at bat: The score:

PAUL DE HATE DEFEATS JONES IN SLOW BATTLE

Paul DeHate took a ten-round decision over Tommy Jones of Atlanta last night in an unimpressive fight at the Hollywood American Legion stadium. The boys mauled, tugged and shoved for the entire fight with DeHate having the edge in the mauling and shoving, while Jones looked good in the tugging end of it.

Ace Hudkins was in De Hate's corner and Paul tried hard to imitate the Ace but with little or no success. Jones injured his left hand in the third round and favored it for the remaining seven sessions. DeHate's best blows were to Jones's body, while the Atlanta scrapper failed to land many wallops at all. However, in the ninth round, Tommy landed a right uppercut flush on DeHate's chin but it didn't seem to faze Hudkins's boy. The count by rounds gave De Hate six, Jones one, while the rest were even.

In the six-round special event Frankie Arregon, a southpaw, shaded Bobby Herman to take the decision. Arregon was the better boxer of the two and so took the victory.

Ralph Leonard decisively beat Johnny Cardova over the four-round route. Leonard did most of the punching and had Cardova on the floor for a nine count in the fourth round. Harry Wallender won on a technical knockout over Joe Bolindo in the fourth round of the opener. Bolindo was out on his feet, so Referee Frankie Dolan stopped it, raising Wallender's hand.

Jim Piela took an unpopular decision over Ray McIntyre in the six-round semi-wind-up. The fight was a slow one, with the fans stamping and booing most of the way, with an extra hard outburst at the decision. A draw would have been about right. McIntyre took an early lead, but Piela finished strong, taking the last round with a flourish.

SAL PERFECTS DEFENSE

Veteran Billy DeFoe Joins Sorio's Camp and Gives Mexican Work Against Clever Boxing

Billy DeFoe joined the camp of Baby Sal Sorio yesterday at San Bernardino, while Tod Morgan took the day off at the Bastanchury ranch and went fishing.

The kind of work that DeFoe gave the Mexican challenger is the stuff critics believe Sal should have in preparation to fight a fellow of Morgan's type. DeFoe worked three rounds with Sal and the little Cholo tried to study out a defense for the master boxer, which DeFoe really is in spite of his age.

However, the way Morgan has been training rather indicates he is preparing to take the play away from Sal by mixing it instead of playing a game of strategy. But there is no way to judge how either will perform.

If Sal hits Morgan one of those glancing downward rights the champion might change all his plans and be compelled to return to smart boxing.

Morgan resumes boxing today. He expects to make today and Sunday two of his biggest days. These are the days when the countryside used to flock to watch Paolino Uzcudun work and they will probably gather at the champion's camp the same way.

Sal is a lot stronger now than when he was seen against his last topnotch competition like Ignacio Fernandez and Joey Sangor.

While Sal appears to be catching more than he should, reports from Morgan's camp indicate the champion's defense is not so good, either. Joe Pimenthal hit him at will with a right hand last Thursday. Morgan was considerably shaken up and his nose bled throughout the session.

Bud Taylor may join the Morgan camp for a few days' work next week. The Terre Haute fighter wants to try out his left hand, which he took out of a cast a few days ago.

Bert Colima will go to the Sal camp early next week. The old Whittier idol has no jealousy for the little 'dobe boy who is stealing ahead of him to get a shot at a title. Rather Colima is dead loyal to his people.

"If I can do anything to help my little countryman win a world's championship my time is his from now on," said Colima.

"I think this is going to be a great fight. I know what a title would mean to a Mexican boy. If I could have won the middleweight honors it would have been worth $500,000 in Mexico alone, I think."

Joe Rivers also wants to join out with the Sal camp. Sal is capitalizing on the old supporters of both Rivers and Colima.

ROCHE MAY MEET DEVOS AFTER WILSON BOUT

Joe Roche may go to New York to box Rene DeVos after the Wilson Yarbo bout. Fred Winsor, manager of the Oakland Italian, was yesterday showing an offer to box the French ace.

Winsor said he would accept the offer providing the Olympic couldn't sign Ace Hudkins for Roche. Hudkins was considering a rematch with DeVos until recently. Now the Wildcat is marking time, but wants to fight again soon to keep in shape in case some promoter offers Mickey Walker his $100,000.

The fact that Roche has fought himself up to the company of DeVos and Hudkins is a compliment for Winsor. The Oakland boy hasn't lost in six starts since February, winning three by knockouts.

Yarbo will be the test for Roche. The Celeveland negro has knocked down all his opponents in the last two years, he claims. He had both Walker and Bert Colima on their backs twice each. This is a fair sample of how hard he lands.

Dynamite Jackson, Wirt Ross's 19-year-old colored heavyweight, may be sent against Les Kennedy soon. Kennedy is the Lon Beach heavy who keeps steadily winning.

Under the Roche-Yarbo card Jackson will box Tony Stabeneaux as the six-round semi-wind-up.

PROMOTER "X" APPEARS

Mystery Impresario Would Meet Demands of Both Hudkins and Walker for Bout Here

The Ace Hudkins-Mickey Walker fight is still within the realm of probabilities for this city.

Clyde Hudkins, one of the brother-managers of the Wildcat, made this statement last night when apprised of a dispatch from San Francisco crediting Ancil Hoffman with having dropped all negotiations for the bout because of the so-called exorbitant Hudkins's demands.

"We will know within a couple of days about the bout," Clyde Hudkins declared last night. "I have a man willing to guarantee Walker his $100,000. All we want for Ace is $40,000, and we will kick back $15,000 if he wins the title.

"I am not at liberty to divulge the promoter's name, but everything will be settled within the next two days. If it isn't we will send the Wildcat East to fight for Jack Dempsey. He has wired us offers for a bout with Braddock, Lomski or DeVos."

HOFFMAN DROPS PROPOSED FIGHT

SAN FRANCISCO, May 10. (AP)—Plans for the proposed middleweight championship fight in Los Angeles next June between Mickey Walker, title-holder, and Ace Hudkins, Nebraska wildcat, were temporarily dropped today by Ancil Hoffman, San Francisco promoter who has been co-operating with Jack Doyle of Los Angeles in staging the bout. Hoffman holds a contract on Walker's services in California until next September 30.

Hoffman made the announcement after a conference by telephone with Jack Kearns, Walker's manager, who is in Los Angeles. Kearns told the San Francisco promoter that he was unable to come to terms with the Hudkins brothers, who manage Ace, as their financial demands were exorbitant.

Hoffman said he would try to put on the fight next September.

GUERRERO TO FIGHT GAMMAGE TONIGHT

Joe Guerrero, Mexican lightweight king, and George (Machine Gun) Gammage, rapid-fire Chicago lightweight, top tonight's program at the Main Street Athletic Club. The Chicago negro, although now only 18, engaged in more than 100 fights in taking the coast amateur 130-pound title and since turning professional has won steadily in preliminary bouts.

Tonight's semi-wind-up rivals the main event for interest. In this bout Manuel Trevino and Bobby Garcia dash for the Mexican bantamweight crown. Ray Ortega and Eddie Berry, 175-pounds, fill the special event, with three other preliminaries also listed.

SAN DIEGO ACES RAP BAKERSFIELD, 8 TO 2

SAN DIEGO, May 10. (AP)—Bunching hits behind bases on balls and five errors by the opposition, San Diego defeated the Bakersfield Bees in a California State League game here today, 8 to 2. The victory gave the Aces the lead in the series, two games to one.

Bobby Green twirled for the Aces, holding the opposition to eight hits, not more than one in an inning except in the third when the Bees bunched three hits for their two runs. The score:

SIGNS TO GUIDE MARATHON MEN

Auto Club to be Asked to Post Course of Run

Tentatively Charted Route Likely to be Accepted

June Race to Develop Star Timber for Olympics

Arrangements for signposting The Times pre-Olympic marathon course were started yesterday by Charles W. Keppen, manager of the run. The Auto Club of Southern California with its wonderful facilities for signposting the highways will be asked to co-operate in giving the runners direction markers to keep them on the right route June 15.

Although the executive committee, headed by Leslie A. Henry, chairman of the national A.A.U. track and field committee, has not finally passed on the route charted by Manager Keppen there is every indication there will be little or no change in the original route.

This will carry the runners south on Spring from the City Hall to Ninth, south on Main, west on Washington to National Boulevard in Culver City, thence west over Robertson and other cross streets to Sunset Boulevard to the Broadway tunnel and down Broadway to the Times Building.

The route follows pavement practically all the way, but inasmuch as the runners in the Olympic marathon of 1932 will have the same thing to contend with, the executive committee and the advisory committee, headed by Robert S. Weaver, president of the S.P.A. of the A.A.U., feel that the runners might just as well accustom themselves to the conditions now as later.

The Times pre-Olympic marathon was conceived with the view of developing runners for the 1932 games here, and the race is to be under as nearly the same conditions that will prevail then as possible.

The ten first-place men will receive gold medals, and the winner gets a challenge cup as well. Survivors' medals will be given to all who finish.

Entry blanks can be obtained from Manager Keppen at the Los Angeles Athletic Club or The Times sports department.

YOUNGSTERS IN CRUCIAL MEETS

San Luis Obispo County Will Stage Finals

Four Local Affairs Arranged on Program

Imperial Valley Boys Clash at El Centro

BY BRAVEN DYER

Two county meets, one district event and four Los Angeles city school affairs are on tap in Junior Olympic Games competition today. Athletes of Imperial county go into action at El Centro with Harry A. Skinner in charge of the program. Boyd Comstock, director of the Southern California Junior Olympic Games, will be on hand for the El Centro event.

BOYD COMSTOCK

Scores of youngsters who have been performing creditably in San Luis Obispo county will battle it out in their county finals at San Luis Obispo. A. G. Agosti, a capable coach and enthusiastic Junior Olympic Games booster, is in charge of the meet.

What should develop into a brilliant program is billed for Pomona this afternoon when the Pomona district finals will be held under the direction of Gordon Silvey of the Y.M.C.A. More than ten schools are scheduled to take part in the competition which will get under way at 2:30 p.m.

There is tremendous interest in the four local meets. They are to be held at Belmont, Fremont, Fairfax and Roosevelt. Boys of more than thirty-five schools are to show their wares today and it is expected that there will be some unusually high scores reported.

Youngsters of the Los Angeles playgrounds have already hung up some startling scores and if the city school boys are to break these records they will have to be at their best this morning. Each of the four meets is slated to start at 9 a.m.

With the Los Angeles county finals only two weeks away all contestants are bearing down in their training and it will be surprising if high marks are not registered today. That free trip to the Hawaiian Islands, which goes to the four Southern California leaders, has the youngsters all hopped up and before the Southern California finals are held June 1 there will be some spirited battling for the right to make the ocean voyage.

Following is the line-up of schools for today's local meets:

AT BELMONT HIGH

1575 West Second street

Logan, Vermont - avenue, Thomas Starr King, Virgil, John Adams, Belmont High, Polytechnic High, Thirty-seventh-street school, Gates, Menlo-avenue and Atwater.

Runners Fail to Break Mark

Ellsworth Patterson's school record of 4m. 27 4-5s. for the mile is still safe, despite a determined assault by a trio of Trojan leather-lunged runners yesterday. Coach Dean Cromwell sent his four-lap stars out after the mark in a practice race at noon, and Warren Woodruff won in 4m. 30 2-5s., followed by Francis Hammatt and Ellsworth Patterson.

Woodruff, a regular two-miler, was well pleased with its performance, despite the fact that he did not break the record. He is training for his battle with "Red" Mossman, the star California eight-lap runner, in the California intercollegiates here next Friday and Saturday. All three runners had just finished taking examinations when they toed their marks, and were not at their best.

Young Rogers in Polo Tilt at Uplifters

Hal Roach's Uplifters poloists rule a slight favorite to defeat the Roughrider four captained by Will Rogers, Jr., tomorrow at the Rustic Canyon Field. The Uplifters are being picked to cop the laurels tomorrow on their record which shows that the Santa Monica horsemen have won every game on their schedule this season. The Roughriders will have a strong team in the game tomorrow in Rogers, Snowy Baker, Lyel Puckett and Frank Dazy. The last three named are veterans and they should give young Rogers some fine support.

Uplifter riders are in fine shape, according to the dope from the practice field. Clair Brunson, Scott Hackley and Georges Musaphia will wear Uplifters' colors in the game tomorrow. The ball will be tossed in at 2:30 p.m. The field is situated in Rustic Canyon just off Beverly Boulevard.

WALTER HAGEN TELLS OF WIN

many different weather conditions as this week at Muirfield. One of the qualifying days gave us heavy rain. The second day of the tournament proper was the best kind of a summer's day, and the scores showed it.

Today was one of the most difficult to play on, with a gale from the west, which put scores under 80 at a premium, and I played just as well today to do two 75's as I did yesterday to get that 67.

REAL TEST

As a matter of fact, today's golf, I think, was a real test of our game on the Scottish seaside links, for the wind blew so hard and was against us at so many holes that it required most careful thinking to outguess it. If there was any one thing that won for me it was my correct estimate of the strength of the wind for nearly every shot I made.

When I arrived at the course this morning and had taken a good look at conditions, I decided that if I could do two 75s it would be good enough, and that 292 would win. This was the score I made at Sandwich last year.

It was simply impossible to hit the ball into the air today and have any assurance where it would finish. Against the wind a high ball was practically held in the air. There certainly was no distance in it.

I decided to use the ground route whenever possible, for the fairways were very fast and a ball hit close to the ground with a top spin would roll a tremendous distance and avoid the gale.

I played a number of strokes of ordinary mashie niblick and mashie length with much straighter-faced irons. At the long fifth, with a terrific following wind, I used the No. 4 iron for my second shot, and the ball was never more than six feet off the ground. It ran as far as it flew, and really it was a simple shot to play.

SNEAKED UP

It was fatal to try to hit one in the air with that wind following and have any idea where it would finish. I played the same sort of shot all day, especially at the short thirteenth. I literally sneaked up on this one, and although I was trapped twice in front of the green I managed to get a 3 and a 4 here.

There is no telling where a high shot would have blown with the very narrow target this green affords.

Abe Mitchell took four putts this morning on the green from fifteen feet, and it was an easy thing to do. I got away to a fine start with a four at the first, and right into the teeth of the wind. I was far short of the green in two, pitched my third on, and holed a twelve-footer. This made me feel very good, and all day I had a fine putting touch and was able to get my long approach putts close enought to the hole.

My greatest asset all through this championship was my ability to get the ball into the hole in two from any reasonable distance. For some reason or other I seem to have just the right touch for these British seaside links, which are much faster and much more undulating than most in the United States.

In the United States there are a great many courses where the putting is not too difficult, and any fair putter can get down in two. Here it is difficult. The greens are not only exceedingly fast, but tricky, and it is nothing for a putt which looks as if it would stop close by the hole to run six feet past. There is no safety in banging for a hole. The ball has to be floated gently up to it.

BRITISH STUNNED

The one, two-three finish of the United States golfers has stunned the British, who were exceedingly hopeful of following up their Ryder Cup victory with a win in the open championship, but their big men failed them once more.

Abe Mitchell and Percy Allis did a good job, but we managed to get in ahead of them. Diegel, who led the field after two rounds, ruined his chances when he took an 82 this morning. Leo had eight three-putt greens, which backs my argument that these greens are much more difficult to putt than ours. Eight three-putt greens by a golfer of Diegel's class are unheard of in an American championship. But that was perfectly possible here.

Farrell was all smiles after finishing second, and he told me he seldom played better golf under such tough conditions. Johnny said he was feeling fit and ready for France and Germany, and for the American open at the Winged Foot Club in June, when he will defend his title as American open champion.

tions today as difficult as during the stormy start of the championship. Hagen started at once and on the first two holes whittled Leo Diegel's two-stroke lead away. He forged ahead and at the end of the third round was four strokes up on Allis, led Mitchell and Diegel by five, and was six ahead of Farrell.

Farrell, the open champion of the United States, realizing the great golfing risk involved in an almost impossible attempt to catch Hagen, reconciled himself to a stern fight for second place and played beautiful golf for his small, but admiring gallery, composed largely of Irishmen.

Hagen largely won his fourth British title on the greens. Tom Fernie, who played with him, said: "Hagen had a master touch on the slippery, wind-swept putting surfaces. He deserved to win."

With a great crowd cheering lustily, Hagen received the cup emblematic of the championship on the spacious eighteenth green. It was presented by A. W. Robertson-Durham, captain of the Honorable Company of Edinburgh Golfers.

"Harry Vardon has his name on this fine old cup six times, James Braid has won it six times and I have won it only four times," said Hagen. "They are still up on me, but I'm coming back again.

"We brought two British trophies over from America with us and we lost the first one to your British Ryder Cup team easily. We were well beaten, but we pulled ourselves together and decided to fight all the harder for the championship, and I was lucky enough to win."

Smiling Johnny Farrell answered calls for "Johnny," "Johnny," by saying, "Walter has expressed my sentiments." But Leo Diegel, called on in turn for a speech, complimented the Muirfield crowds for their sportsmanship.

Percy Allis and Abe Mitchell, the leading British players, were called and Allis, speaking for both, congratulated the Americans on their great showing. "The best golfer won," said Allis.

If Hagen won the title on the greens, Diegel lost it there. On eight of them he took three putts. "The wind wrecked me," he said. "I could hardly stand up in it." After a disastrous third round of 82, the professional champion began to regain control of the ball and his fourth round of 77 included few mistakes, but it was too late then to recover the lead that had slipped away from him this morning. Only at the very last was he able to summon his sizzling putting touch of yesterday to his aid. At the eighteenth he dropped a long one for the 299 that gave him third place.

POOR PUTTS DO IT

British hopes for championship honors also were blown away on the putting greens. Mitchell took three putts on three greens in his third round, and four on one.

"I was lucky," said Hagen describing his victory. "But I managed to work up a fine putting touch that held all through the 36 holes today. All the time I expected sixes but managed to escape them." Hagen's six at the fourteenth hole of the third round was his first six in 121 holes of British championship golf. He went through the full 72 holes last year without a six. He seems to renew his golfing youth in Britain.

No one knew what Hagen's score was when he finished. The question had arisen as to whether his ball moved as he addressed it on the third green during the fourth round. If he had suffered a penalty stroke there his count would have been 293. The championship committee considered the question and ruled that the ball had not moved, so the official score went up at 292.

While most of the seventeen Americans in the competition were well among the leaders, some of them had an unusual experience in Great Britain. As a result, they can sympathize with British pros who have trod their native fairways in championship after championship without a sign of a gallery to watch their play because everybody was attracted to the American stars.

FOLLOWED HAGEN

Today first flight stars such as Gene Sarazen, George Von Elm, Horton Smith, Al Watrous and others played almost all their final 36 holes with only a handful of people following them. Hagen, Diegel and a few others were such an attraction that most of the sixty-four competitors were accompanied only by their cadies and official markers.

T. P. Perkins today led the small band of amateurs in scoring, his 312 being one stroke better than the marks of Cyril Tolley and Willis MacKenzie. George Von Elm, with 318, never played his real game and finished in forty-second place.

The first twenty finishers in the championship were Walter Hagen, Johnny Farrell, Leo Diegel, Abe Mitchell, Percy Allis, Bobby Cruickshank, Al Watrous, Jim Barnes, Gene Sarazen, Tommy Armour, Arthur Havers, Archie Compston, Jimmie Thompson, John Golden, Herbert Jolly, Aubrey Boomer, MacDonald Smith, Ed Dudley, Frank Seymour and S. F. Drews.

Jose Jurado, Joe Turnesa, Horton Smith, Cyril Tolley, Willis MacKenzie, Tom Williamson and Cedric Saymer, with scores of 313, tied for twenty-fifth place.

Henry Cotton, Al Espinosa, Bill Mehlhorn, J. H. Taylor, scoring 314, tied for thirty-second place.

Most of the Americans left Gullane tonight for Edinburgh and St. Andrews where tomorrow the younger members of the Ryder cup team will have their first opportunity to play over the world's most famous course.

HAWAII TOURIST BOOSTER LANDS

Secretary of Travel Bureau in on Lassco Liner

Comes to Confer With Local All-Year Club Scribe

Forecasts Heavy Increase in Visitors to Islands

BY WALDO DRAKE

California and Hawaii jointly are fast becoming the focal point of the world's tourist traffic, according to George T. Armitage, executive secretary of the Hawaii Tourist Bureau, who arrived yesterday from Honolulu aboard the Lassco liner City of Los Angeles for a month of conferences with officials of the Southern California All-Year Club and other travel organizations of the State. He was met upon arrival by Don Thomas, executive secretary of the All-Year Club.

GEORGE T. ARMITAGE

"Tourist travel to Hawaii from the American mainland has increased 300 per cent in the past six years," said Mr. Armitage. "Last season we had 20,000 tourists and this season we expect a 30 per cent increase. It is interesting to note that this growth has come since establishment of a direct passenger line to Hawaii from Los Angeles.

"People traveling anywhere on the Pacific today invariably route their trips to take in both Southern California and Hawaii; whether they are bound east from Australia or the Orient or west from Central America, Europe and the East Coast and Canadian ports, Los Angeles and Honolulu are twin magnets to draw them over the sunshine routes. Out in Hawaii we realize as strongly as you do in California that a new Pacific era is beginning, but we are anxious to help you hasten that development."

DON THOMAS

Mr. Armitage, during this week's stay in Los Angeles, will be at the Biltmore.

Others of prominence among the 226 cabin passengers arriving on the City of Honolulu included Urey Woodson, Kentucky newspaper publisher, with Mrs. Woodson; Charles F. Stern, local banker, and Mrs. Stern; James A. King, sales manager of Marshall, Field & Co., Chicago; Lincoln Rogers, local architect; and B. O. Kendall, Pasadena capitalist.

SHRINE DELEGATION DUE ON PANAMA LINER

Five hundred Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, delegates to the fifty-fifth annual convention of the order at Los Angeles, June 2 to 6, next, will arrive here on the 25th inst. from New York aboard the Panama-Pacific electric liner California. The Shriners, who with their families will practically fill the entire first-cabin accommodations of the liner, are from Mecca Temple of New York, Kismet Temple, Brooklyn and other New England temples.

Elaborate receptions will be accorded the huge seagoing caravan at all ports en route by Shriners of Havana, the Canal Zone, San Diego, Los Angeles and San Francisco, to which city the caravan will make a motor tour previous to opening of the convention.

The British light cruiser Colombo sailed at 11 o'clock yesterday morning for the Canadian naval base at Esquimault, B. C., after a ten-day visit of good will at this port. She is in command of Capt. C. C. Dobson, V.C., D.S.O., hero of the British capture of the Bolshevik fleet at Kronstadt in 1919.

More than 1700 passengers were handled in and out of Los Angeles yesterday on two Admiral liners, the H. F. Alexander disembarking 555 and embarking 553 for the North, while the Dorothy Alexander discharged 290 and took north 298. It was the R. F. Alexander's first seasonal trip, and is indicative of the immense amount of travel expected this summer, according to E. Grant McMicken, passenger-traffic manager, here to meet the flagship.

Backfire igniting the bilge pans in the American Hawaiian steamer Alaskan at her dock yesterday morning, was extinguished with practically no loss, and the ship sailed for the Atlantic after loading 2200 tons here. At the same terminal the Kansan was discharging a like amount from the Atlantic. The Golden Wall is loading 5300 tons of case oil and general here and will sail for the Orient the 16th inst.

The Dollar globe-girdler President Adams is due from San Francisco today to resume her service after rebuilding at a cost of more than $1,000,000 after her crash at Panama. New cabins will accommodate 175 travelers. The Ruth Alexander, which took the Adams's place for one globe circuit, is due late tomorrow, Capt. W. O. Kohlmeister leaving the Ruth to go on the Adams here Monday.

Publicists predominate in Lassco's "who's who" of passengers sailing on the liner Calawaii today for Hawaii. They include three writers, Inez Nichols, Walter L. Earnshaw and Evelyn Earnshaw; an educator, Christine P. Ingram, and an artist, Julia Pasquale.

One hundred travelers will sail on the Panama Mail liner Guatemala for Central America and New York today. Included are Dr. Mariano Arguello, Nicaraguan diplomat, and James Case, Los Gatos banker.

TRUCK COMPANY PROFITS MOUNT

Moreland Motor Has Record Quarter Statement

Net Income for First Three Months Tops $53,000

Sales Increase 39 Per Cent Over 1928 Period

Moreland Motor Truck Company and subsidiaries in the first three months of this year completed one of the best quarters in the history of the company and showed a substantial increase in business, according to a statement issued yesterday by C. W. Creighton, secretary-treasurer of the company.

On this showing for the first quarter the company anticipates a gross business for the year 1929 of $4,000,000, which will be in excess of any year of the company's eighteen years of manufacturing, according to the statement.

Sales income for the first quarter was more than $1,000,000, representing an increase of $275,000, or about 39 per cent over the same period of 1928. Net earnings after depreciation, reserves and taxes totaled $53,000, which is at the annual rate of $1.08 per share on the common stock and is far in excess of the first quarter of 1928.

Current and working assets reflect a gain in the three months' operations and now stand at a ratio of $3.50 current assets to $1 of current liabilities, with a net working capital of $1,280,203.78 and a total asset position in excess of $3,000,000. The book value of outstanding stock in the hands of the public is $11.52 per share.

The original bond issue of $225,000 has been paid off with the exception of $27,000 which will be retired this year. Upon liquidation of this amount the corporation will have no bonded indebtedness and the working capital will be benefited accordingly, it was stated.

The pay roll of the corporation is now over $700,000 annually, largely distributed in Los Angeles territory. The modern plant at Burbank has been increased by the addition of new production machinery. The factory has a complete body manufacturing plant and a modern electric steel foundry in addition to the motor truck departments.

Branch houses and service stations of the company are maintained in Los Angeles, San Diego, El Centro, Bakersfield, Fresno, Stockton, Sacramento, Oakland, San Francisco, Portland, Seattle, Spokane and Salt Lake City. Distributors and dealers are located in Arizona, Colorado and other States and in the principal foreign countries bordering on the Pacific.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, May 10. (AP)—Opening declines were followed by rallies in cotton today on trade buying of near months. There also was covering and some commission house demand for later deliveries, which seemed to be promoted by apprehensions of unfavorable weather developments in the South over Sunday.

The midafternoon market was comparatively quiet, but steady at net advances of about 8 to 12 points.

ATHEARN TELLS POLICIES

New Corporation Commissioner Interested Only in Reorganization; Will Cut Red Tape

BY EARLE E. CROWE

F. G. Athearn, new Commissioner of Corporations in California, comes into this highly important office with the idea of doing a job and then he will quit. He is interested in putting into effect some fixed ideas gathered from his long experience in corporate reorganization and in the practice of corporate law, after which he will return to his private practice. He is not concerned with political advancement, nor is he interested in the salary the State pays to the head of the Corporation Department.

In somewhat this language Mr. Athearn outlined yesterday his creed so far as the administration of the State Corporation Department is concerned. To the business intertsts as a whole in the State he is still a stranger, but the corporation lawyers know him well and are impressed with the progress he has already made in working out his policies.

TALKS ON FOOTBALL

He is a burly man, and looks as if he was a good lineman in his football days. Playing guard he was a member of the University of California varsity in 1897-98, and likes to talk about the prowess of the California varsity in those days, but is rather noncommittal on the California team of the present. Mr. Athearn said he went to California for the express purpose of helping to trim Stanford, then in one of her winning streaks, and the records bear out his claim that the California '97 and '98 teams were victorious.

While the new commissioner lives in San Francisco, his background is Southern Californian. He was born in Los Angeles county and was graduated from Pomona College, after which he took degrees from the University of California. Mr. Athearn's father was a lawyer and a newspaper publisher by turns, always making money when he practiced law and losing it when he turned to newspaper work. The Anaheim Gazette was founded by his father, and also one of the predecessors of the Los Angeles Express.

In taking over the job of reorganizing the Corporation Department, Mr. Athearn is putting into practice, the theory behind decentralized government that the powers of bureaus must be eliminated, and that the central authority at the head of each bureau must be the sole voice of that bureau. In other words, his bureau will stick rigidly to its field, and there will be only one chief contact between the Corporation Department and other departments of the State government, and also with the public.

FUNCTIONS EXPLAINED

The functions of the Corporation Department he outlines as, first, the prevention of fraud in the sale of securities, and, second, to aid business by preventing fraud. To these functions the department will restrict its activities, Mr. Athearn asserted, and there will be no attempt to regulate anybody's business morals, or anything else.

He intends to eliminate the red tape in the issuance of corporation permits. Where it has taken several weeks or more for the issuance of permits, he expects to cut the time down to four days for the application and the issuance of permits for the organization of new companies.

One of his policies is significant. Aimed at correcting the criticism of "locking the barn door after the horse is stolen," the commissioner intends to check on new corporations after issuance of the permit to see that the conditions are obeyed. His idea is to prevent fraud, rather than wait until fraud is perpetrated. Without intending to interfere in the conduct of enterprises, his representatives will call on new corporations at irregular intervals to check on the adherence to terms under which the permit was granted.

Mr. Athearn is willing to listen to ideas, and is calling upon his aides in the department, his lawyer friends and business men for suggestions. He learned the value of listening to the ideas of others, he said, when a nightwatchman in a lumber mill project he was reorganizing contributed an idea that saved the company $35,000.

Airport Issue Called on Curb

Curtiss Airports Corporation, controlling a chain of airports throughout the country, was approved for listing and called for trading yesterday on the Los Angeles Curb Exchange. The stock opened at 13½ and closed at 13 1-8, quoted in dollars.

The pro forma balance sheet, giving effect to the issue of 2,500,000 shares, shows total assets of $25,000,000. Grand Central Airport at Glendale is a unit of the company.

Returning to Los Angeles from the company's gold and platinum diggings in Trinity county, Maj. Bernard Day, consulting engineer for the Camzo Consolidated Corporation, of which Peter Buol is president and O. L. Layne secretary and treasurer, reports that the initial clean-up from the first sluice-box setting at No. 1 position, after a fifteen-day run, returned values of about $400 per ton of concentrates, of which 90 per cent was in platinum and allied metals of the platinoid group.

This valuation, Maj. Day says, was arrived at after passing the concentrate over a sixteen-mesh screen, the metallics passing over being designated as a separate product from the fines, and carrying gold, iridium, etc., the value of which will shortly be made public, but which, it is believed, will run considerably higher than the fines.

An additional 650 feet of eight-inch pipeline has been ordered for the second sluice-box setting, which should be installed this week, when the capacity of the plant will be increased to 200 cubic yards daily. From samples of the gravel taken last week, Day asserts, the size and number of the larger metallics showed an increase, and there is every indication, he reports, that the new position should return even better values than from the intial setting, first worked.

The power unit for the sawmill is also being installed, and surveys are being completed for the construction of the highline ditch which, when completed, in the near future, will make possible an increase of gravel treatment from 600 to 1000 yards daily.

Irregularities Noted in Trade Review of Week

NEW YORK, May 10. (AP)—Dun's Review tomorrow will say:

With various evidences of a sustained high level of commercial activity, there also are indications of increasing irregularities that reflect the presence of restraining forces. The latter differ in character and are somewhat more numerous, yet basic conditions disclose supporting features that are distinctly reassuring.

After the impressive industrial expansion of the early months this year, some subsequent slackening would be wholly natural, but it may be longer deferred than usual in certain of the major lines. Such a status exists even now in the great steel trade, whose influence on general business is far-reaching, and maximum mill schedules mean steady employment for many thousands of workers beyond the accustomed time. Hence, the public buying power, while reduced by strikes in some other manufacturing branches, retains marked strength and distribution of goods continues in notably heavy volume.

The best results in the retail field have not been achieved, however, because inclement weather over a large area of the country has arrested the movement of seasonal merchandise, and has diminished interest in summer needs.

Weekly bank clearings $11,639,202,000, a decrease of 0.5 per cent from a year ago.

Arizona Trade Shown Keeping at High Level

PHOENIX (Ariz.) May 10. (AP)—Healthy business conditions in Arizona are apparent in the monthly report of the Arizona Industrial Congress, which shows a $12,000,000 increase in bank deposits over last year's record as of March 27.

Lettuce movement from the State was 4352 cars during the spring season. Cotton is reported progressing at normal speed and alfalfa shipments have brought excellent returns.

Stabilization of copper at 18 cents has greatly benefited that industry and brought prosperity to workers in shape of a 20 per cent wage increase over last year. Development of new properties is proceeding rapidly.

There is a general need of rain throughout the State and spring feed is consequently a little late. Spring lambs have brought exceptionally good prices in Kansas City, the report shows, although wool prices are lower than last year.

CHILE FORGING WAY AHEAD

Minister of Finance Reviews Republic's Progress Since Financial Stabilization in 1926

[Copyright, 1929, by the North American Newspaper Alliance.]

NEW YORK, May 10.—Don Pablo Ramirez, Chile's Minister of Finance, was telling me about business and living conditions in his country. "Put one end of Chile in bustling Detroit, and the other end would reach out nearly a hundred miles into the Pacific Ocean beyond San Francisco Bay," he said. "My country is 2620 miles long, but very narrow, averaging about 100 miles. It is rich, very rich, in copper, nitrates and other natural resources."

Don Ramirez spoke in glowing terms of Dr. E. W. Kemmerer, Princeton University, who established the new monetary system of Chile in 1926, by which the Central Bank of Chile was organized with a capital of 150,000,000 pesos (about $12,500,000,) with the exclusive rights to issue paper money convertible into gold and to serve as fiscal agent for government railroads, municipalities and other financial concerns.

The system has worked admirably, and the par of the peso exchange (.1217 cents) has been stable nearly three years. Chile's debt has been funded, standing now at about $226,000,000, exclusive of guaranteed obligations, which add another $110,000,000. The government is paying its way. Its receipts exceed its expenditures, and have for several years.

"We are arranging to spend $50,000,000 on good roads during the next ten years, and much of this work will be done by American firms," said Don Ramirez. "The Foundation Company of New York has just received an order from the Chilean government to build 600 new schools. Education is compulsory. The University of Chile, with two branches, has more than 5000 students. Interest in all forms of education is growing rapidly."

"Is business satisfactory?"

"Business is in excellent condition. Copper mines are running full blast. Virtually the entire copper output of Chile, which now ranks second in the world, is owned by two American groups. The Guggenheim process, first used about five years ago, by which a lower grade of ore can be mined at a profit, has had a great deal to do with bringing more prosperity to Chile.

"The American Power and Light, an American concern, has just bought the electric light, gas and street railway properties of our largest city, Santiago, and expects to expand its business rapidly. Santiago has a population now of 600,000. And so it goes. Hundreds of American business men are coming into Chile to look over opportunities now, for every one who came ten years ago."

"How can Americans best cooperate with Chile to build up stronger business relations?" I asked.

"We are a new country, a pioneer country such as you were 150 years ago," was the reply. "We need now what you needed then—more capital and still more capital at reasonable rates, to develop and expand our limitless industries.

"The best way to develop a closer relationship between our peoples is for American business men to visit Chile in larger and larger numbers, and see for themselves just what we have. They will be welcomed with open arms by our people, and they will see one of the most beautiful and richest of the world's nations."

The Finance Minister, who is under 50, is democratic and pleasant. He understands English perfectly, and can make himself understood with no apparent difficulties. He will be in the United States for a few weeks.

Gage P. Wright, New York economist and president of the Business Economic Digest, says approximately $15,000,000,000 is invested today in the United States in securities for speculative purposes.

"The surplus capital of the country has been entering stock-market speculation in unprecedented amounts," says Mr. Wright. "While the newspapers constantly refer to the total of brokers' loans in New York, the brokers' loans in cities outside of New York are probably much larger."

If the brokers' loans total more than $6,500,000,000 in New York, Mr. Wright believes this amount represents an investment of $10,000,000,000 in securities frankly purchased for speculative purposes.

If the loans in other cities are included, the figure will probably be closer to $15,000,000,000. Bonds, which were considered the highest form of investment a few years ago are rather lifeless, but they will regain their importance, most observers believe.

In 1926 and 1927, the ratio in new issues was about $3 in bonds to $1 of stock. In 1928 the total stock issues, valued at $4,093,000,000, almost equaled the $5,194,000,000 in new bonds and notes.

Last January the new stock issues surpassed the bond issues, the stocks being valued at $800,000,000, while the bonds and notes issued were valued at only $380,000,000.

This is prima facie evidence speculation has reached record heights.

JANTZEN COMPANY APRIL SALES GAIN

TRADING ON WOOL MART RUNS LIGHT

Survey Says Prices on Fine Unchanged, Easier on Medium Grades

BOSTON, May 10. (AP)—The Commercial Bulletin tomorrow will say:

The week has passed quietly on Sumner street. Wool prices have shown little change on fine descriptions, although medium qualities are slightly easier.

In the West there has been more or less nibbling at the new clip, but no pronounced buying movement seems to have been in evidence anywhere. Prices paid have been about on the levels established last week, with fine wools bringing the equivalent of about 90 cents, clean basis at Boston. The Jericho pool has withdrawn from sale on a high bid of 28 1-8 cents.

The foreign markets are a bit easier except on the lower qualities of cross-breds.

The manufacturing position is regarded as healthy, though less active at the moment.

Mohair is steady on the basis of last week's prices.

The rails and water shipments of wool from Boston from January 1, 1929, to May 9, 1929, inclusive, were 65,851,000 pounds against 66,224,000 pounds for the same period last year. The receipts from January 1, 1929 to May 9, 1929, inclusive, were 78,735,885 pounds, against 90,903,000 pounds for the same period last year.

EASE IN MONEY SPURS TRADING

Call Rate Drop to 6 Per Cent Starts Upturn

Volume of Turnover Records Sharp Increase

Operations in Utility Group Mark Sessions

NEW YORK, May 10. (AP)—With call money available at 6 per cent for the first time since early April, bullish operations were confidently resumed on the stock market today, centering in the utilities.

Total sales approached the 4,000,000-share mark for the first time in a week, and the Associated Press index of twenty leading utilities was sent up to the highest level yet reached. The precipitant drop in call money, which renewed at 10 per cent only yesterday, together with the vigorous defense of stock exchange use of credit by President Simmons of the exchange, speaking in Chicago last night, threw sunshine into speculative circles for the first time in several days.

The fact that money touched 6 per cent but for two days after the passing of the money pinch a month ago was recalled but failed to weaken the impression in Wall street that the credit situation had taken a definite turn for the better. The source of the sudden influx of money was somewhat puzzling. New York banks were believed to have improved their reserve positions in the last two days with the belated return of the month-end outflow of funds, and it was pointed out that a 14 per cent call-loan rate might eventually draw funds in a prosperous country.

MONEY DROPS

Call money renewed at 10 per cent, but dropped successively to 8 and then to 6 per cent, but even at that rate, funds went begging and were offered in the outside market at 5. The action of time money in contrast, however, did not promise any sustaining ease in credit.

Shorter maturities were distinctly firmer. Although there was no change in the official rate, thirty-day money was said to be available under 9 per cent.

The day's business news was fairly satisfactory. Reports from the reparations conference were more cheerful, and the United States Steel April 30 unfilled tonnage report showed a small gain, considerably smaller than Wall street estimates had indicated, but the first gain for April since 1922, and contrasting with a sharp drop a year ago. The weekly business and trade reviews were a little more conservative in tone, but still found general conditions good.

Stock Exchange Building Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES EXCHANGE

Security Prices Move Forward as Local Stock Trading Activity Quickens

Douglas Aircraft swept across the board in the last few minutes of trading to reach another new high figure and close yesterday's session on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange at the head of a long list of substantial advances. The aircraft stock touched the peak on the last sale at 44¼, up ½ point recording a turnover of 7400 shares. The turnover for the entire market was the highest in weeks.

Citizens' National Bank, which is closely held, made a sensational jump of 65 points to a new all-time peak at 600. In March of this year the stock held to the price of 300. Yesterday's rise followed the announcement of a five-for-one split-up. Security-First National was a bank contender but held steady to close at 135 5-8, up 1-8. Merchants' National advanced another 2 points to 249. Union Bank and Trust dropped back 3 points to 295.

With Douglas Aircraft in the industrial list John Bean, Byron Jackson and Emsco crossed the board at an accelerated pace. John Bean yielded a point to 53½, while Byron Jackson shot up 2⅛ points to 40 1-4 and Emsco eased ½ to 39½. Among the utilities Edison moved rapidly to gain a point to 55 7-8, with the rights up 15 cents to $3.00.

Oil stocks were mixed with Union issues and Standard of California marking a fractional improvement. Barnsdall was steady, while Rio Grande dropped ½ to 37. On the miscellaneous board Trans-America, International Reinsurance and Mortgage Guarantee strengthened. The latter issue advanced a point to a new high at 200.

NEW YORK BOND PRICES

NEW YORK, May 10. (AP)—Another abrupt drop in call money rates from 10 to 6 per cent had a tonic effect upon the bond market as well as stocks today. The revival of bullish confidence stimulated the convertibles particularly into activity at advancing prices. Strictly investment issues also benefitted. Although time money remained stiff, the easier demand rates halted price recessions of the past week and imparted to the market a firm undertone.

Still dominant in the trading, the semi-speculative convertibles were in strong demand from the opening gong. Some of them failed to maintain their early pace but virtually all the stock privilege issues figuring in the broad trading finished with gains. International Telephone 4½s following the voting of rights to stockholders, again were the feature of the convertible group, closing up more than a point on a turnover of $857,000 par value.

More than a score of issues with stock features firmed with the advance in stocks. The more active were Alleghany Corporation 5s, American I. G. Chemical 5½s, American Telephone 4½s, American International 5½s, St. Paul adjustment 5s, Missouri Pacific 5½s, and Chesapeake Corporation 5s.

The upturn was shared by such better grade rails as Atchison general 4s, Atchison C. & A. 4½s, which advanced more than a point to a new high, Baltimore & Ohio 4s, Pennsylvania 4s, '31, Southern general 4s, and Union Pacific 4s. Junior rails made less progress. Texas & Pacific 5s, a recently listed issue, dipped another fraction to a new low at 97⅞. Renewed speculative activity in Seaboard Airlines on expectations of a recapitalization announcement, carried the adjustment 5s up 3 points.

Traction and Cuban sugar issues were weak. Camaguay Sugar 7s sagged to a new low for the year. Cuban-American Sugar 8s moved within a fraction of their low. Selling affected the sugars on announcement of the proposed higher tariff. Among the tractions, Interborough refunding 5s reached a new low, as did Utah Light & Traction 5s.

United States government issues firmed with the easement in money. So did foreign issues, particularly South American loans. With the reparations conference still shrouded in uncertainty, German obligations for the most part continued soft.

The quotations represent sales of bonds (in thousands of dollars) and the high, low and closing prices in the order given. To expedite transmission the close is omitted when the same as the low, and both low and close when same as high.

ies, and was believed to have been partly inspired by the recent appreciation in the market value of their holdings. United Corporation shot up 6 points to a record price at 72 7-8, while North American Company, Columbia Gas and Consolidated Gas rose 2 or 3 points to new high record prices.

General Electric was a bull favorite, jumping 9 points to a new peak at 268, reflecting rumors of a 4-for-1 split-up. Chesapeake Corporation was also heavily bought, climbing about 7 points to a new high at 94⅛, as a new offer of rights was rumored. Rails generally gave a fair account of themselves, in response to reports of record-breaking car loadings.

Commercial Solvents mounted 15 points to a new top at 367, and American Can forged ahead nearly 7 points. Sparks Withington, Stewart Warner, Timken Roller Bearing, Underwood-Elliott, Vick Chemical, and General Railway Signal were other issues reaching new high ground. Motor stocks were firm, General Motors and Packard selling up about 2 points, and Marmon reaching a new top at 104. Oils were rather quiet, save for Atlantic Refining and Barnsdall, which reached new highs. Coppers were quiet. United States Steel mounted more than 2 points on the tonnage report.

Among the few soft spots were Standard Milling, By-Products Coke, American Railway Express and Buyers, which sagged 2 to 5 points.

In the commodity markets, wheat finally steadied after its precipitant declines, helped by a smaller government estimate of the winter crop than had been feared. Cotton likewise steadied, influenced by bullish consumption reports for April, and closed practically unchanged. Raw sugar futures were again under pressure, however, and reached new lows for the movement.

Foreign exchanges were firmer, sterling improving a little, and the German mark holding steady despite the large loss of gold revealed by the Reichsbank statement. The discount on the Canadian dollar was reduced to less than ½ of a cent.

OIL NEWS

BY HOWARD C. KEGLEY

Leasing is reported to be very active in the same area where the Olympic Oil and Refining Company's Lomas No. 1 wildcat is drilling at 3150 feet, in the Palisades tract at Santa Barbara.

The M. K. T. Oil Company, which operates in the Ventura-avenue field, has leased several lots east of Olympic's well, and is scheduled to spud in there within ninety days.

Harry MacMillan, oil operator, is reported to have leased twelve acres near James Nugent's No. 1 wildcat, situated in the Palisades tract, at La Mesa, in Santa Barbara county.

In the Fair Acres subdivision, near the government lighthouse, on the Santa Barbara side, four acres have just been leased by Olympic on which a well will be drilled.

To Resume Soon

Drilling will be resumed soon in the Foster No. 3 well of the M. K. T. Oil Company, being drilled by the Associated Oil Company in the Ventura-avenue field.

Reports are that the Pacific Western Oil Company's Willet No. 6 drill, which is asserted to have penetrated the casing of the Foster No. 3, is sidetracking below [illegible] feet. In the event no other delay occurs, work will resume in the Foster No. 3, which has been idle at 6000 feet, since the discovery was made that its casing had been penetrated by the drill from another well.

The Foster No. 2 well, of the M. K. T. is down below 6598 feet and is still in sand which was picked up more than a month ago, according to reports.

The Percy well, farthest south of all the Ventura-avenue wells in oil sand, is now down 7303 feet, in oil sand. Drilling will continue, it is asserted, until the bottom of the formation is neared before a production test is made.

Gas Test Soon

Test for gas will be made in a week or ten days in the Aldridge No. 1 wildcat of the Texas Company, on Sec. 4, 30-22, near McKittrick.

Six and five-eighths casing is set and plugged at 5015 feet. It will be drilled out soon for the test.

This well did not show any oil formation, it was reported, and was about to be abandoned when Texas decided to make a test for gas.

New Well Progresses

The Allen Brown Trust Company's Brown-James No. 1 well situated on the Wellington lease at Signal Hill, is drilling ahead at about 3500 feet in hard shell.

Brown's well is drilling a short distance from the Delaney No. 3 well, latest producer of the Wellington Oil Company.

Seal Beach Completion

The Standard Oil Company has just placed on production its San Gabriel No. 20 well, at Seal Beach, with an initial flow of approximately 1300 barrels of 2[illegible] deg. gravity oil. Bottom of the hole is down [illegible]500 feet.

Signal Hill Summary

Deep sand production of oil at Signal Hill averaged 134,900 barrels daily for the past week, coming from 384 wells. Active projects total 130, and sixty-four projects are idle. Of twenty-nine projects, half of these are reported to be rigging up.

In Oil Sand

The Standard Oil Company's Locke No. 2 well, situated in the northern end of Santa Fe Springs, has penetrated oil sand from 4358 feet to 4362 feet.

Standard's Santa Gertrude's No. 12, down 7017 feet, has penetrated the oil sand, and is drilling ahead in alternate layers of dark shale and oil sand below that depth.

The K. C. L. No. 2 near Bakersfield, down 4497 feet, which was producing considerable water a week ago and a little oil, is being cleaned out for a recementing job to shut off the water.

Ochsner Delayed

Pending arrival of heavier equipment, the Ochsner No. 3 well of the General Petroleum Corporation, at Kettleman Hills, is practically idle. Three-inch drill pipe remains frozen in the hole about 100 feet above the bottom which is at about [illegible] feet.

Lands Casing

Sixteen-inch casing has just been landed in the Parent No. 1 wildcat of the Petroleum Securities Company at Potrero. It is drilling ahead at about 800 feet.

The Bishop No. 1 wildcat is rigging up at Elwood, and will spud in shortly.

Locations for the Malnesbury No. 1 wildcat on Sec. 24, 23-18, and the Robinson No. 1 wildcat, on Sec. 14, 22-17, at Kettleman Hills, are being graded.

Installing Machinery

E. A. McKenna, independent operator, has installed machinery for his Connolley No. 1 well, to be drilled about half a mile east of the Binm No. 1 well, of Graham & Loftus, at Potrero.

Sump hole has just been completed, boilers have been set, and the crew is rigging up.

Flow Tanks Up

Flow tanks are being erected for the Max Pray No. 1 well which is situated about three blocks due north of E. A. McKenna's Connolley No. 1 well at Potrero.

Bottom of Max Pray's well is at [illegible] feet, having already penetrated about sixty feet of rather good oil sand. It is standing cemented [illegible] feet.

Wheat Market Tone Firms as Selling Eases

CHICAGO, May 10. (Exclusive)—[illegible] cation ran its course in the wheat market shortly after the opening, with all deliveries except the May selling at a new low on the crop. The break, however, was due more to local pressure than anything else, and later there was a better class of buying headed by houses with eastern connections, and the finish was ¼c lower to ½c higher, with May showing the easiness, closing at 1.03⅝, while July was 1.07⅞@1.08, September 1.12⅝@1.11⅝ and December 1.16⅜@1.16½.

Scattered selling on the stop-loss orders carried deferred futures of corn to a new low on the crop early, but buying by cash and commission houses caused a rally of over 1c from the inside figures and the finish was ⅛@¾c higher, with May 84¾, July 88@88⅛, September 89⅞@90 and December 84⅛. Oats were ⅛@⅜c lower, with May 45⅝@46, July 43⅞ and September 42⅞, while rye was unchanged to ⅜c lower, May and July being 97⅛ and 90⅛.

There has been a materially larger export business passing in wheat of late than the trade anticipated, with sales of 3,000,000 to 3,500,000 bushels Thursday and today, according to estimates, making 7,000,000 to 8,000,000 bushels taken in the past three days. Minneapolis claimed dealers there had sold 500,000 bushels of durum in the last few days. Winnipeg was strong and closed ⅛@1⅛c higher, presumably reflecting the removal of hedges against sales abroad. Liverpool lost 1@1⅛d, but claimed a better cash demand. Part of the buying at Winnipeg on Thursday and again today was attributed to the pool.

The trade is more disposed to pay attention to the general run of reports on the new winter wheat crop than of late, and complaints of too much rain in parts of the Southwest are coming forward and Hessian fly damage in the soft wheat belt is claimed. The government report of Thursday had only a momentary effect. Seeding in Manitoba is estimated to be 85 per cent completed, Saskatchewan 65 per cent and Alberta 60 per cent, and the bulk of the work is expected to be out of the way by the 18th inst.

No let-up was apparent in the shipping demand for cash corn, and while futures eased early on belated liquidation and local pressure, the undertone was relatively firm. A good part of the buying on the way up was by the local element, although cash houses bought early. Shipping sales were estimated at 71,000 bushels for the day, making well over 1,000,000 bushels sold so far this week. Forecast for showers and cooler over the belt attracted attention, although planting was reported as making rapid progress in parts of the belt.

Oats market showed independent firmness, with cash houses selling May and the West sold September. Support came in from commission houses on resting orders. Crop reports were generally favorable. Sales of 300,000 bushels were made to go to store. A good part of the trade in rye was in spreading with other grains. July rye was ⅝c under corn at the close.

Lard had fair support from local and scattered interests, while selling was by commission houses and others. Prices moved within a limited range and lard closed 2½c lower to unchanged. Clear bellies were 2½c lower to unchanged, with fair buying by packers. Ribs were unchanged.

BOARD ENLARGED

NEW YORK, May 10. (Exclusive) A. M. Anderson and Gordon Rentschler were elected directors today of the Postal Telegraph and Cable Corporation, increasing the board to twenty-five members.

NEW YORK CURB STOCKS

NEW YORK, May 10. (AP)—Prices on the New York Curb Market rallied in impressive fashion today in response to a marked improvement in the credit situation reflected in a drop of 10 to 6 per cent in call money, the lowest official rate in more than a month, with outside funds available as low as 5 per cent. Retention of the 5 per cent rediscount rate by the New York Federal Reserve Bank, an unexpectedly small increase of $19,000,000 in brokers' loans, and the speech of President Simmons of the New York Stock Exchange, attacking the credit policy of the Federal Reserve Board, all helped to create bullish sentiment.

Public participation was on a much broader scale, with pool operations resumed in a rather wide assortment of issues. Short covering operations also were an important factor in the day's advance.

Public utilities presented one of the most impressive demonstrations of group strength. Electric Investors which has extensive holdings in nearly two-score power and light companies in addition to several high grade industrial and railroad concerns, which have shown marked appreciation in quoted value, was run up more than 10 points to a new high record at 145⅛, and closed near the top. American Super Power soared more than 14 points to a new peak at 184⅛ and the B jumped 10⅛ to 163.

The advance of 6 points in Empire Power to a new high at 60 was in expectation of an early announcement of terms for the merger of Rochester Central Power, of which it owns 1,150,000 shares of common, and Associated Gas & Electric. Southeastern Power & Light, Northeastern Power, and Mohawk & Hudson also recorded substantial gains, but Electric Bond & Share, and United Gas Improvement yielded fractionally.

Buying of the aviation issues was rather selective in character. Aviation Corporation of Delaware was turned over in large volume in response to the announcement of the acquisition of the Southern Air Transport, Inc. Revival of activity and strength in Alexander Industries was based on the announcement that the company had entered into a contract with the Western Finance Corporation to finance the retail sale of planes on an installment basis, which is believed to set a precedent for the industry.

Consolidated Aircraft and Irving Air Chute moved into new high ground, but Fokker, a recent strong spot, ran into heavy profit-taking. Curtiss Airports was admitted to trading and sold above the offering price.

The oil shares rallied briskly on expectations of an early advance in Mid-continent crude prices, and on the new merger rumors. Gulf of Pennsylvania ran up more than 7 points to a new high at 168⅝ and retained most of its gain, and Humble closed 2⅛ points higher. National Family Stores issues again led the merchandising group. Ford of England was heavily bought in response to the optimistic statement on business prospects by Edsel Ford.

International Projector touched a new high at 25⅞, on reports of unusually large orders. Ainsworth, Aluminum Industries, Gold Seal Electric, and Sentry Safety Control also moved into new high ground. Pennroad sank below 20 for the first time.

The closing price is omitted when same as the low, and both low and close when same as the high.

BAY CITY CURB

SAN FRANCISCO, May 10. (AP)—Consistent trading featured today on the San Francisco Curb Exchange. Large totals were run up in all of the market favorites, with gains predominating.

The aviation issues were the outstanding stocks as far as total shares and price range is concerned. Opening fractionally higher at 63⅛, Fokker on heavy sales sold throughout the day under heavy pressure, closing at 60⅛.

Maddux rose from 15⅛ at the opening to establish a new high at 15⅝, but lost to 15⅛ at the close. Little change was seen in the other aviation issues, with Lockheed at 22, Aviation of Delaware at 22, Western Air at 57, Bach at 2.90 and Kinner at 4.25.

Curtiss Airports Corporation, which was admitted to trading this morning, opened at 13, rose to 13⅛ and lost at the close to 12⅝.

METAL MARKETS

CLEVELAND, May 10. (Exclusive)—Daily Metal Trade today says automotive steel specifications show a slight tendency to recede at Cleveland, but this will not influence steel making schedules until June or July. In some quarters it is expected the slight let-down will give way to activity similar to that which has prevailed for several weeks past.

Consumption of steel plates continues active in the East. Mills in that territory have booked considerable tonnage from the West and Middle West, due to congested condition of the mills which usually supply those sections.

Steel bar specifications have improved in the East, considerable urgent demand being encountered.

Pig iron demand is quiet at Pittsburgh, with the market firm.

Copper is steady at 18c, Connecticut. Zinc is easy at 6.55c to 6.65c, East St. Louis. Lead is holding at 6.75c to 6.80c, East St. Louis, and 7c, New York. Tin is firmer at 44.50c to 44.62½c for spot straits.

SIMMONS GIVES VIEW ON LOANS

Big Board President Heard in Chicago Address

Says Lending on Securities Basis of Prosperity

Reserve Bank's Curtailment Policy Criticised

CHICAGO, May 10. (AP)—H. H. Simmons, president of the New York Stock Exchange, declared last night that stock market loans are the basis of American industrif welfare and that to reduce them would be to kill the goose that lays the golden eggs of prosperity.

He spoke before the Chicago Stock Exchange at its annual dinner.

He declared that although American business prosperity has continued unabated through a year of high money rates due to the Federal Reserve system's manipulations, "it seems unlikely that our prosperity can be maintained by employing obsolete or fallacious theories of banking, or inexpert banking practices."

"Any arbitrary courtailment of funds for stock market loans inevitbly acts as a surb upon progress and prosperity, since it hinders business companies from readily obtaining capital which their continual development necessitates," Simmons said. "The speedy distribution of American securities, aided by stock market loans, should be cause for national enthusiasm. It is absurd to rejoice in our present day national industrial prosperity and at the same time to bewail the size of the very stock market loans which have played such a vital part in that prosperity."

Maintenance of high money rates, he declared, has resulted in deflating the bond market, since capital has sought the higher rates. "Disturbing threats" have tended to curb outright investment of capital in securites. Simmons called upon the Federal Reserve system to maintain a "hands off" policy toward the stock market, stating that the market can take care of itself and correct alone any of its faults.

The prohibition in the Federal Reserve Act against rediscounting stock market loans was blamed by Simmons for the system's difficulties.

"The Federal Reserve system faces in the future a situation where extensive rediscounting may prove very difficult because of a lack of rediscountable loans," he warned. "Obviously, under such circumstances, the value of the Federal Reserve system to American business would decline in proportion. Inevitably the time is coming therefore, when, if only for the good of the Federal Reserve system itself, the rediscounting of security collateral loans should be undertaken."

Decker, ingeniero minero norteamericano, cuya dirección en los Estados Unidos se ignora aquí, fué muerto a puñaladas dentro del tiro de Cinco Minas, propiedad minera de Hostotipaquillo (Jalisco).

Sus matadores, dos mineros, que montaron en cólera cuando él los reprendió por haberlos hallado dormidos a horas de trabajo, se han dado a la fuga. El cadáver del occiso fué llevado a inhumar en Guadalajara. Deja a su viuda y a dos hijas.

Alemania Recobra sus Privilegios Militares

Se Emplearán Globitos de Juguete para Determinar el Techo de los Aeródromos

WASHINGTON, Mayo 10.—Se están ahora utilizando globitos de juguete para determinar un dato muy útil para la seguridad de los aviadores.

Ha anunciado hoy el ministerio de Comercio que se los emplea para determinar la altura del "techo o cielo raso" de los aeropuertos, y que ese dato sirve para hacer más seguro el aterrizaje. La altura del techo no es otra cosa que la altura de las nubes sobre la superficie del aeródromo.

Se infla un globito hasta que pueda cargar un peso de 40 gramos, y se le suelta. En estas condiciones, asciende en el aire a razón de cinco y medio pies por segundo, y basta entonces que un observador mida con un reloj medidor el tiempo que transcurre entre el momento de soltar el globo y aquel en que desaparece entre las nubes, para averiguar la altura de éstas.

The information is the result of an extensive investigation conducted by Judge Turney since he was named presiding judge of Municipal Court.

FIGURES QUOTED

One of the principal items of evidence submitted by Judge Turney is an affidavit sworn to before Judge by James H. Lyon, Pedro bootlegger, he paid $395 to a Los Angeles business man, on the promise he could fix his case.

The affidavit states that Lyon after pleading guilty, was sentenced to serve thirty days in jail for sale of $100 or twenty days for possession of intoxicating liquor and or one day for transportation.

TIME SERVED

Lyon served thirty days in the County Jail despite the fact that the fixer to whom he said he had paid $395, had promised that he would obtain his release at once, the affidavit states.

Out of the $395, Lyon asserts, a of $101 was paid and $50 was returned to him. The remainder, the asserted fixer said, had been used to fix the case.

Evidence in numerous other cases of a similar nature also will be presented to the grand jury when it meets Tuesday, according to Percy and Fred Shelley, deputy District Attorneys in charge of grand jury matters.

MANY ACCUSED

Included in the evidence are numerous affidavits implicating attorneys, bail bondsmen and others in asserted attempts to manipulate the actions of the Municipal Court cases coming before for decision.

All of this information will be placed before the grand jury for consideration with the intention of eliminating this class of attorneys and bail bondsmen from the seventh floor of the Hall of Justice, where the Municipal Court holds session, according to Dist.-Atty. Fitts.

Among the witnesses to be called are Mr. and Mrs. James H. Lyon, Harry Fink and six others who are declared to have knowledge of numerous attempts to thwart justice in Municipal Court.

Major Companies Will Not Heed Gas Price Cuts

Reports that some of the major oil companies plan to buy and export the gasoline of the so-called bootleg refineries to stop price-cutting among a minority of local independent retailers were denied by officials of major companies last night.

Since retailers of the major brands of gasoline raised their price to 18½ cents and 19½ cents in an effort to stabilize the market on a 4-cent profit margin, some of the independents have competed at seven gallons for $1.

It is to put a stop to this underselling that the major companies may buy up the retailers' low priced source, officials of the Independent Super Service Station Association stated.

Major company representatives, however, declared they will continue to back up their dealers in the price boost and that the cut-rate stations will not be hindered in their attempt to compete by pumping cheap fuel.

TREES TEMPLE OF LAST RITES

John E. Fishburn's Funeral Conducted in Open

Veteran Banker Entombed in Forest Lawn

Friend Pays Moving Tribute During Ceremony

Beneath an evergreen arch formed by the spreading boughs of olive trees in Forest Lawn Cemetery yesterday final rites were spoken in an outdoor funeral service for John Eugene Fishburn, vice-chairman of the board of directors of the Bank of America, who died Wednesday night at 70 years of age.

After the open-air services the gray casket, blanketed with flowers, was carried across the greensward of Forest Lawn to a vault behind the Little Church of the Flowers, where it will rest temporarily until further arrangements are made.

BRIEF SERVICE

Standing under the olive arch before a huge semicircle of the choicest blossoms of the Southland, Dr. George Davidson, rector of St. John's Episcopal Church, read the brief and simple, but impressive, service to members of the family and several hundred friends.

During the services N. P. Conrey, presiding justice of the District Court of Appeal and president of the Sunset Club, of which Mr. Fishburn was a member, read a short tribute to the strong character and benevolent personality of Mr. Fishburn.

On the conclusion of prayers and in the gathering shadows of eventide Dr. Davidson led to the little church in solemn procession the group of friends and business associates carrying to the crypt the body of the man who was widely known in banking circles throughout the nation.

FRIENDS PALLBEARERS

The active pallbearers were Henry O'Melveny, Henry S. McKee, Andrew M. Chaffee, Edward D. Lyman, Henry Wheeler, E. J. Nolan, John E. Marble and Fred W. Flint.

The banker leaves his widow, Mrs. Gertrude E. Fishburn, whom he married in 1900, a son, John E., Jr., a daughter, Mrs. Doris F. Akerman, and two sisters, Mrs. C. L. Bisbee and Mrs. Isaac Polhamus.

Mr. Fishburn was born at Joliet, Ill., September, 13, 1858, Educated in the public schools of Joliet, finished preparatory school at Notre Dame and graduated from the University of Michigan School of Law in 1879.

He left the Middle West a few years later and found banking employment at San Diego. In 1897 he came to Los Angeles as cashier of the National Bank of California and from there his rise in national banking circles was rapid.

HEADS MERGED BANKS

On the merger of the National Bank of California with the Merchant's National Bank, he was selected president of the amalgamated institutions, a position he held until 1924, when he resigned to become chairman of the board of directors.

On further consolidation of California banking institutions wth which he was associated Mr. Fishburn became vice-chairman of the Bank of America. He also served as director of several other outstanding financial houses.

The financier died at his family home, 2266 South Harvard Boulevard.

Chamber Plans Good-Will Tour of Two Counties

Plans for a two-day good-will tour of Riverside and San Bernardino counties are being formulated by a special committee in the domestic trades department of the Chamber of Commerce, according to E. F. McDonough, department manager. The party will leave Los Angeles the 23rd inst. and return the next night.

Harry Harper will be aided in arrangements by Aden Bristow, Will G. Farrell, Arthur Lumbard and E. F. Watkins. Ludwig Schiff is chairman of the domestic trade committee.

A special train has been chartered for the tour. Places to be visited include El Monte, Baldwin Park, Covina, San Dimas, La Verne, Pomona, Riverside, Redlands, San Bernardino, Claremont, Upland, Rialto and Colton.

ELEVATORS NOT TO GET OVERHAUL

Supervisors Delay Action on Complaint That Lifts Lack Legal Safeguards

Alterations in county elevators, demanded to make them conform to the city elevator ordinances, probably will be deferred until the present elevators wear out, it was indicated yesterday, when a letter of complaint from C. E. McGinnis, manager of the City Board of Mechanical Engineering, was found to be reposing in the County Board of Supervisors' files.

William Davidson, county mechanical engineer, in charge of elevators in county buildings, was vigorous in his statement that the county elevators are "the safest in town," regardless of Mr. McGinnis's report to the board.

The alterations that will make the four old elevators in the Hall of Records conform to the city elevator code are electric interlocking devices that would stop the cars when their doors are open, and remodeling of the shaft to permit safe inspection and oiling of machinery while the elevators are running.

According to Engineer Davidson, the first job, which would include junking of what is said to be a perfectly competent compressed air interlocking device, would cost the county $4000. The other improvement, which would necessitate removal of a partition in the engine room, would cost $15,000, the engineer estimates.

"And there's no use to spend that money right now," said the mechanical engineer. "We have checked the city inspectors' complaints and found no instance of trouble."

McGinnis said yesterday that the elevators in these two buildings are the only ones among the 6000 in the city which are not equipped with the interlocking devices.

PLANE WILL MAKE TOUR OF AIRPORTS

Rear-Admiral Butler and Other Notables Will Visit Southland Cities Today

Airports and airways markings of Southern Clifornia will be a matter of first-hand information by sundown today for Rear Admiral Henry Butler, new commander of the Navy's air forces on the Pacific Coast.

Accompanied by Dr. Robert A. Millikan, of California Institute of Technology, F. H. Bivens and A. F. Bridge, vice-presidents of the Southern Counties Gas Company, and other prominent men, the admiral will take off at 1 p.m. from Vail Field in a Western Air Express Fokker for a tour of inspection which will include a large number of airway signs just erected by the gas company.

Twelve cities will be visited with stops, at Santa Monica, Long Beach and Santa Ana. At Santa Monica, which will be reached at 1:15 p.m., Mayor Michel will head a welcoming delegation along with the municipal band. George Buck, city manager of Long Beach, will be at the municipal airport there with a similar group. In Santa Ana George Reamer, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, will have a delegation on hand.

LeRoy Edwards, director-general of the Shrine convention, will make the tour for the purpose of mapping out flights for delegates to the forthcoming convention.

The Department of Commerce will have two representatives aboard. They are Maj. Clarence Young and Capt. Walter F. Parkin. The Guggenheim Fund for the Promotion of Aeronautics will be represented by Dr. Millikan, who is western director.

Swimming Pool for Fernangeles

With the arrival of warm weather visions of clear, cool water make a greater appeal to the people of Fernangeles than getting up a perspiration on playground apparatus, and yesterday they asked and gained the consent of the Playground and Recreation Commission to install a swimming pool instead of playground facilities on recently acquired park grounds.

Stonehurst, on the other hand, held out for a children's playground, which will be installed on its park property.

The two communities last year voted $80,000 district bonds for parks and playgrounds.

The commission also decided to ask for bids on the construction of a two-story community center building and wading pool at the Slauson playground.

SAFETY LESSONS SAVE LIFE

Committee Finds Children More Careful, So Adults Will be Targets of Campaign

Methods of reducing California's death toll of nearly 2000 annually and its 29,000 injured in traffic are gradually being put into effect, it was revealed yesterday at the monthly meeting of the executive committee of the California Committee on Public Safety. It was this committee which sponsored and prepared the compulsory education in the public schools of the State measure that has passed the Legislature, and which bring every child of school age under the influence of traffic safety teaching.

It developed at the meeting in the Alexandria yesterday the first problem of the committee is adult education and plans were outlined to make this as intensive as possible, through the more than thirty State-wide organizations represented in the general committee.

Reports showed the traffic safety message is being broadcasted by twenty-four radio stations in terse warnings and appeals. More than 200 civic and service organizations are co-operating by introducing safety messages at their regular meetings. The American Legion State organization has a program of its own for intensive safety instruction and will decorate with chevrons its members who drive a year without an accident.

◆ One of the most important activities is the co-operation of the Allied Amusement Industries of California, including some 600 theaters. These are chiefly picture houses and in each will be shown appropriate slides emphasizing the importance of safety in traffic. The slides already are being shown in all theaters north of Fresno except the Bay District and soon they will come to the theaters in Southern California.

It was pointed out that the economic feature of safety has a distinct appeal to the theaters, as traffic chashes are casting the people of the State $80,000,000 each year, or aproximately 6 cents for every gallon of gasoline used in transportation. As most of these accidents are avoidable there are millions of dol-

ST. FRANCIS DAM RUINS BLOWN UP

High Central Section Tipped Into Prepared Pit

Wrecking Begun by Nature Finished by Man

Roar of 90,000,000-Pound Crash Echoes Far

Crashing out a fearful twilight requiem over the lonely graves of the 178 unrecovered St. Francis Dam disaster victims, five tons of dynamite yesterday destroyed the remaining central portion of the shattered structure.

The explosion came just as darkness settled over San Francisquito Canyon, where shortly after midnight on March 13, 1928, the huge dam broke, releasing 1,340,000,000 gallons of water which swept 631 persons to their deaths. Four hundred and fifty-three bodies were recovered and an estimated 178 remain buried in the canyon.

Echoes of the explosion bounded and bounced from mountain top to canyon wall as crashing blocks of concrete sent up a gray pall of dust to settle for miles on lonely hills and white sand washes, the burial grounds of the unrecovered dead.

As the echoes of the blast died down and the night covered the spot where fourteen months ago there stood the huge dam backing up its millions of gallons of water nothing remained but a tremendous pile of shattered concrete blocks blocking the canyon, obliterating the road, and once again damming the little stream. Today other blasts will be touched off and steam shovels then will clear away the last of the wreckage.

Work on the central portion of the ill-fated dam, which stood as a grim reminder of the disaster, began about four weeks ago. Gangs of laborers cleared away the debris from the base of the structure which towered 160 feet into the air and then powder men began to drill into the face of the concrete.

Under the direction of R. R. Robertson, assistant engineer of the Municipal Bureau of Power and Light, two shafts were sunk into the up stream face of the pile. Three hundred powder holes then were drilled and the five tons of gelatine-dynamite packed into the holes. From the back of the main shafts holes were drilled upward and into the mass of reinforced concrete and filled with explosive for the purpose of tipping the entire mass into a huge excavation dug in the wash before it.

According to Robertson's figures the remaining portion of the dam was 160 feet in height, ninety feet wide an 100 feet thick at the base. It weighed 90,000,000 pounds.

At just 7 o'clock last night Robertson with a small group of his workmen retired to a protected hillside about 450 feet from the dam and by means of an electrically connected plunger exploded the dynamite.

WRITER AT BEDSIDE OF MRS. CATHER

Pulitzer Prize Authoress Refuses Interview While Her Mother Lies Ill

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

PASADENA, May 10.—"I am not a writer so long as my mother's life is in danger," asserted Willa Cather, authoress, who hurried here yesterday when informed that her mother, Mrs. Charles F. Cather, is seriously ill at Las Encinas Sanitarium. Miss Cather, who was awarded the Pulitzer Prize in 1922 for her book, "One of Ours," is a guest at the Maryland, where she has given orders to keep her whereabouts as secret as possible.

"My mother is my first consideration," she said today, "and until she is entirely out of danger I shall spend every possible moment at her bedside."

Mrs. Cather is the victim of a partial paralytic stroke.

Miss Cather dined alone at the hotel last night and begged to be excused "because of my mother," when asked for an interview. She said that she must return to New York to keep an engagement on June 15.

AUSTRALIA TO BE TOPIC

"Australia, the Land of Romance" will be the subject of an address to be delivered by Col. Edward P. Bailey at the Winnipeg Service Club's final meeting of the season Monday at the Elks' Club. Col. Bailey will introduce to the club Dan Blume and Steve Miranda, who are planning to set forth shortly for Australia in the Nomad, a fifty-foot boat.

Fears Allayed on Postoffice Fusion Report

Senator Shortridge has been assured by the Postmaster-General that no plan for the consolidation of the outlying postoffices within the city limits with the Los Angeles Postoffice is being considered at this time, he informed the City Council in a telegram from Washington yesterday. The Postmaster-General added, he said, that should such a plan ever be considered it will not be put into effect without first obtaining the views of the communities which would be affected.

The conference between Senator Shortridge and the Postmaster-General on the subject was held as the result of the passage of a resolution last week by the Council opposing any plan to consolidate the twenty-three local postoffices within the city limits with the main postoffice. Copies of the resolution were sent to Senators Shortridge and Johnson and Representatives Crail and Evans.

PROTESTS AGAIN DELAYED

Hearing of protests against the ordinance of intention for the improvement of Harper avenue between Melrose avenue and Beverly Boulevard was postponed again yesterday by the City Council, the next hearing date being set as next Friday. Meanwhile the matter has been re-referred to the Public Works Committee.

PILOTS EXPEL AL WILSON IN FATAL BOMBER CRASH

Al Wilson, stunt flyer, has been expelled from the Professional Pilots' Association as the result of crashing a giant Sikorsky bomber in which a mechanic, Phil Jones, rode to death near San Fernando on March 22, last, it was announced by the association last night.

The local chapter of the flyers' group voted unanimously in its last monthly meeting to scratch Wilson's name from its rolls after its investigating committee asserted that Wilson left the plane by parachute five seconds after he put it into a spin, and that Jones was unaware that Wilson had deserted the controls, according to the written statement.

Jones met instant death when the Sikorsky spun to the ground pilotless while Jones continued to throw out an imitation smoke screen during a scene in a wartime air picture.

Wilson has had his Federal transport pilot's license suspended for ninety days and fined $500 by the aeronautics branch of the United States Department of Commerce in Washington following a Federal investigation of the fatal spin, it was declared in the association statement and verified at the local offices of the Department of Commerce.

The Professional Pilots' Association, according to its president, W. E. Thomas, was organized in 1923, and has on its roster a majority of the flyers who earn their living as pilots. Membership requirements call for four years of professional flying, Thomas stated. Col. Charles A. Lindbergh is a member.

VOTE FIGURES CONFIRMED

Council's Check-up Fails to Cause Change in Any of Candidates' Standings

Election and nomination of candidates in the primary election as set forth in the semiofficial returns were confirmed yesterday by the canvass of the returns by the City Council.

The canvass was completed when the Councilmen went to the county warehouse on Zonola street and inspected the totals on the fifty voting machines used in the election.

In no instance was the final result in the election as already announced changed in the official canvass, although, in some instances the totals varied somewhat.

In the mayoralty contest, the positions remained the same, although each of the top four men was credited with several hundred more votes than the totals first announced. The final count was: Porter, 76,794; Bonelli, 45,271; Quinn, 39,903; Greer, 22,219.

The total vote cast in the city was 209,698. Added to this were 4202 votes cast in the school election in districts not within the city limits, making a total city and school election vote of 213,900. There were 208,446 votes cast in the mayoralty election.

City Clerk Dominguez certified the figures to the Council and that ◆ body accepted the report as official.

With the final count given, the way is open for any candidate who desires to file requests for recounts in districts where the race was close. Up to closing time last night Dominguez had not received any such filings. The closest race was for second place in the Eleventh District, where J. C. Barthel nosed out Edward Gerety by nineteen votes, making eleven votes in the official canvass. In the semiofficial returns Barthel had been credited with a lead of only eight votes.

Gerety said that he would not request a recount but that if his friends and supporters wished one he would not oppose it. He then was informed that his friends have decided to ask for a recount. He said that in his opinion the vote was close enough to warrant a recount and that in certain precincts "it looked shady."

The Lancer

by Harry Carr

PEGGY HOPKINS JOYCE has come back on a little visit to America—to sell her real estate and retire to her villa on the French Riviera.

It is the retreat of Napoleon from Moscow. The delectable Peggy met her Waterloo (my history seems to be getting all mixed up) when she came to Hollywood. Her attempt at being a picture star revealed her as a slightly shopworn and not so young lady of very moderate beauty. Like many another gambler, Peggy lost when she had to show her cards.

That—so moderately equipped—she could have accumulated a fortune of more than a million and a rather dazzling collection of very rich husbands compels the conclusion of the little girl in the nursery story.

S-M-A-R-T

This is the story:

Two visitors at her mother's house were indulging in the usual mysterious process of spelling out their remarks before the cherub of the household.

"Well," said one, "Alice's little girl can't be said to be very p-r-e-t-t-y."

"No," interrupted the cherub child, "but she's s-m-a-r-t."

GOSH! HERE COMES ALICE!

Mr. Gann had better speak up and take his wife home from the balance of the season's diplomatic dinners. With Alice Roosevelt Longworth on the other end of the controversy, the best that any of Mrs. Gann's friends can ask for her is ten feet start.

BRITISH DIPLOMACY

The British are resolved to warm the heart of Japan even if they hang medals and garters on the Mikado from his heels to his head. For diplomatic reasons the Anglo-Japanese alliance had to be abandoned—publicly—but it looks very much as though there were another secret one in the making.

TRUE PATRIOTISM

It is a mighty good sign that the two winners of the Fourth Oratorical Contest on the Constitution in Los Angeles are named Horvitz and Von der Ahe. The love of America in the hearts of the children of the immigrants is based upon understanding. With most of the rest of us patriotism is a kind of dumb routine like a college yell.

GRAVEYARD JOB

John F. Curry, who has been elevated to the distinction of ruling Tammany Hall, must feel a new bond of sympathy and fellow-feeling for every driver of a hearse whom he meets.

PA'S NO THRILL

It is very sweet of one Dr. Hecht of New York to try to horn us papas in on the glories of Mother's Day; but I fear there is no dramatic kick in "Parents' Day;" it sounds too much like a Sunday-school reward-of-merit card.

P. S. As to reward-of-merit cards, I speak from hearsay only.

OVERALLS FOR GIRLS

Trustees of the horrified school board of Boise, Idaho, please don't read this. But the fact is, I think, girls look cute and very fetching in overalls. One of the sweetest little flappers I ever saw was an Indian girl at Pala; and she was gowned in a pair with copper rivets.

NIX PICKS AIDES IN JULIAN CASE

Special Staff Named to Push Usury Prosecutions

Step Taken Despite Mayor's Delay on Fund

Council to Submit Matter to Stephens for Ruling

Although Mayor Cryer has not approved the $20,000 appropriation voted by the City Council several weeks ago to enable City Prosecutor Nix to prosecute the 143 Julian Petroleum usury complaints in his office, Nix already has entered into agreements with three special prosecutors to conduct the cases, he disclosed in a letter to the Council yesterday. He added that the special prosecutors already have taken fifty of the cases into court and that all demurrers raised against the complaints have been overruled.

Nix informed the Council that he has retained William J. Clark, Hugh M. Foster and Vetran Ricca as special deputy prosecutors. He submitted copies of the agreements, which disclose that Clark's salary is fixed at $100 a day for preparatory work and $200 a day when in court, Foster's at $100 a day for preparatory work and $150 a day in court, and Ricca's at $25 a day.

Councilman Alber raised the point that the City Prosecutor has no authority to enter into such agreements without having them approved as to form by the City Attorney and then approved by the Council. He also gave it as his opinion that the fees set are too high.

The Council decided to submit the matter to City Attorney Stephens for a ruling as to Nix's authority in the matter.

Mayor Cryer had requested Roy A. Knox, director of the Bureau of Budget and Efficiency, to submit a report to him on the purposes for which Nix wished to expend the money and containing a recommendation as to whether the appropriation should be granted. That report, according to Mr. Knox, now is in the hands of the Mayor. It sets forth that Nix planned to hire four special deputies in all, at salaries ranging from $25 to $200 a day in court, four special investigators at $200 a month, a clerk at $125 a month and a stenographer at the same salary. Mr. Knox recommended that the appropriation be approved but only on condition that the Council pass upon each disbursement.

MRS. GRIMES DENIES FIAT VIOLATION

Did Callie Grimes, star witness in the Councilman Jacobson conspiracy scandal, leave Los Angeles before a bench warrant for her arrest was issued by the Superior Court?

Around this question revolves the determination of the District Court of Appeals as to her immediate future, so far as her personal freedom is concerned. Attorney Leo Dase, who accompanied the central female figure in the Jacobson case into court yesterday, declares that Mrs. Grimes in her flight which ended at El Paso, Tex., last February, left Los Angeles eight days before the bench warrant was issued. Dep. Dist.-Atty. George Bush contends that she did not leave until after the bench warrant was issued.

She is seeking her freedom from the County Jail, where she is being held in lieu of $20,000 bail, which, in a petition for a writ of habeas corpus, she seeks to have reduced to $2000. At a hearing in Division One of the District Court of Appeals yesterday, Justices Conrey, York and Houser decided that proof of whether or not she fled Los Angeles before issuance of the bench warrant must be produced before action on her petition is taken. This evidence, Attorney Dase assured the court, will be produced Monday. Mrs. Grimes and Sheriff Traeger, her legal custodian, appeared before the court at yesterday's hearing.

DORIS MAY RECONCILED TO HUSBAND

Former Actress and Her Mate Obviate Divorce as Separation Stirs Regret

Three months' separation, following their divorce early this year, proved enough for Mr. and Mrs. Wallace MacDonald. Yesterday they announced to their friends that they have decided that their mutual happiness is together and they have been reunited.

WALLACE MACDONALD

Mrs. MacDonald, who is known professionally as Doris May, charged her husband with mental cruelty when she sought her divorce. She was given an interlocutory decree after a settlement of their estate had been effected outside of court. She retired from the screen following her marriage seven years ago and never has resumed her profession.

In announcing their reconciliation, the MacDonalds also made known a scheme by which they will separate for two weeks semiannually, to avoid the monotony of constant marriage.

MacDonald is engaged in motion pictures.

LASKER NOT ABLE TO GIVE ADDED BAIL

Broker Remains in Jail Though Court Cuts Bond from $50,000 to $10,000

A. I. Lasker, under sentence of from fifteen to fifty years in San Quentin for violation of the State Corporate Securities Act, still was held in the County Jail last night because of his failure to raise the additional $10,000 bail set by Superior Judge Shaw for his release.

Lasker is reported to be suffering from pernicious anemia and as a result of physicians' reports on his physical condition the court allowed him the privilege of freedom from jail on bail.

A bond of $52,000 already has been posted by the convicted man for the appeal of his case and an additional $50,000 was first demanded by the court when physicians asked his release because of Lasker's health. After reviewing the case yesterday, however, Judge Shaw reduced the additional amount to $10,000.

Lasker's bail is one of the highest on record here, county officials said.

JUDGES' SACRIFICE LAUDED

Acceptance of Superior Bench Detail With Loss in Pay Wins Official Acknowledgment

Eight Municipal judges accepted a loss of $1000 a year each to accept assignments of the Judicial Council to the Superior bench and help relieve congestion in the Superior Court. This was revealed by Superior Judge Keetch, presiding, at a meeting of the Superior Court judges yesterday. Judge Keetch asked the meeting to make suitable acknowledgment of this service to the jurists involved.

Six "cow county" judges from up-State, who also have volunteered to accept a salary in some instances less than paid in their home counties, were made the subject of Judge Keetch's commendation.

SALARY SCHEDULES

Salary of Superior Court judges in Los Angeles county is $9000 a year, of which the State pays $4000 and the county $5000. When the State appropriation to pay judges detailed to extra court sessions became exhausted on the 1st inst., all extra places on the Superior Court automatically became vacant.

This left the judges detailed to these places the alternative of returning to their own assignments on Los Angeles Municipal or up-State Superior benches, or volunteering to serve in the Los Angeles Superior Court at the salary the county, whose appropriation for extra judgeships is not limited, is able to pay. This is limited by law to $5000 and is all the extra Superior Court judges will get in May and June of this year. On July 1, the new State budget becomes effective.

JUDGES LISTED

The Municipal Court judges who took $1000 less than Municipal Court pay to sit on the Superior bench for two months are: Elias V. Rosenkranz, William Frederickson, William Baird, Dailey Stafford, Percy Hight, Carl A. Stutsman, Leonard Wilson and Henry M. Willis. The up-State judges are L. T. Price, Stanley Murray, Edward Engs, William Dehy, Wilbur Downs and K. S. Mahon.

Order of Star Ceases as Guide to Krishnamurti

The Order of the Star, international Hindu philosophical and theological organization, will be dissolved.

That was the announcement made yesterday by Krishnamurti, the order's leader. The Hindu order will go by the boards within the next few weeks and only a business organization will survive to take care of Krishnamurti's publications, supervision of camps for open-air meetings and publicity, the Hindu teacher announced.

His belief that man needs no binding order to guide him in quest of spiritual peace brought Krishnamurti to make the decision which will break up his organization, executives stated last night.

Dissolving of the order, however, will not cancel Krishnamurti's week-end lectures at Ojai, his American headquarters, or this year's eight-day camp meeting scheduled to open in Ojai on the 27th inst., according to his aides.

Details of the sweeping change in Krishnamurti's plans will be settled at the international congress of the order scheduled for next August in Ommen, Holland. It is believed by local followers, however, that the present Hollywood business headquarters will be maintained as the American business office.

STUDENTS OF U.C.L.A. HAVE DAY AT BEACH

Approximately 500 students of the University of California at Los Angeles were at the Santa Monica beach yesterday afternoon and evening, celebrating their annual all-university beach day at the Deauville Beach Club. Airplane rides in a Maximum Safety plane, piloted by J. M. Brewster, Jr., featured the day's program, six co-eds being selected for free rides. The recently elected student body officers for next year also took the air trip. The arrangements were under the supervision of Robert Keith, student body president-elect for next year at U.C.L.A. The entire facilities of the Deauville Club were turned over to the students between the hours of 2 and 10 p.m., and dancing, swimming in the club pool and athletic contests featured the program. Surf bathing was under the supervision of six student life guards. A Hawaiian string trio and a university orchestra provided music.

CANADAY GETS U.C.L.A. ALUMNI COUNCIL POST

John Canaday, a member of the 1927 graduating class at the University of California at Los Angeles, has been appointed as southern representative of the University of California Alumni Council, it was announced yesterday. He will succeed Ned Marr, who tendered his resignation several weeks ago because of planning to enter the law school of the University of California at Berkeley next fall. Canaday, while a student, participated in many campus activities, being chairman of the welfare board while a senior. Since his graduation he has been connected with the Encitas Land Company.

SAFETY DRIVE SAVING LIVES

lars diverted from constructive channels of trade through carelessness and ignorance.

Although many of the larger oil companies, street car corporations, bus lines and similar industries are working within their own organizations to reduce the heavy accident cost definite assurance was given by their representatives of close co-operation with the California Committee on Public Safety in the general campaign for dult education.

One oil company reported that although its safety campaign among the operators of 2600 pieces of equipment had been in effect less than a year, there had been a reduction in their loss from accident from 11 per cent of their insurance premiums to 28 per cent.

E. B. Lefferts, chairman of the executive committee stated that the hope of the general committee is to make California the safest locality in the world in which to motor. "If everyone will accept the responsibility of driving carefully," he said, "it will not be long until our accident cost is reduced by millions annually and the ghastly list of dead and injured will be cut in half. It has been demonstrated in the work already done in the public schools that the child fatalities can be reduced through education and a similar reduction can be made in adult deaths if the adult education campaign is given the support that it deserves."

Will Hays of Mexico Here to Get Technique

Production in Mexico of motion pictures will not be undertaken until a complete survey is made of Hollywood, according to an announcement made yesterday by Raul Reyes Spindola, Motion-Picture Commissioner of Mexico, who is a visitor here. Spindola came here to study talking-picture methods.

RAUL REYES SPINDOLA

"It is the desire of the government," he said, "that I remain in Hollywood as long as necessary to master American studio methods before Mexican production is undertaken on any scale."

Spindola said it is probable he will guide the future destinies of Mexican picture making on his return to his native country. He got his first experience yesterday as the guest of Herbert Brenon, director at the United Artists studio, where he was permitted on the sound stage to watch the making of a talking picture.

The visitor is a member of the Department of Federal Education of the Mexican government. While he is here Spindola will act as a member of Brenon's staff to familiarize himself with production.

Tribute Paid Noted Germans on Anniversary

High tribute to the lives and influence of Moses Mendelsohn, Jewish philosopher, and Gotthold Ephriam Lessing, Christian poet, was paid last night by Prof. William Diamond, the principal speaker at the services at Temple Emanu-El in commemoration of the two hundredth anniversary of their births.

Prof. Diamond of the German faculty of the University of California at Los Angeles, recognized as one of the foremost expositors of Lessing, said that much of present culture is due to Lessing's influence, who, with his writings and influence did more to solve the social and economic problems of his day than any other man of his century.

The guest speaker described Lessing as the Martin Luther of his time, a fighter by temperament, but who fought for freedom of religious truth. Lessing became noted as a playwright and poet, and his fighting spirit crystallized through a long struggle against want and poverty, the speaker said.

BURBANK ASKS CITY TO JOIN CROSSING BID

The City Council has received a letter from the city of Burbank asking if this city is willing to join Burbank and the county in making application before the State Railway Commission for a hearing on the allocation of costs for the construction of a subway crossing under the Southern Pacific tracks connecting Victory Boulevard in Burbank with Victory Place in this city. The letter was referred to the Council's Tunnels, Bridges and Viaducts Committee and the City Engineer.

ART COLLECTION OFFERED

Mrs. Clubb's Oil Paintings Will be on Exhibition Here if Proper Safeguards Are Assured

Whether Mrs. Laura A. Clubb, wife of a wealthy oil operator of Kaw City, Okla., will lend her collection of oil paintings to the Los Angeles Museum for a term of at least five years depends on arrangements made by the local County Board of Supervisors to assure protection of Mrs. Clubb's treasures at the museum in Exposition Park, it was revealed last night.

When Dr. William A. Bryan, chief curator of the museum, was in El Paso inspecting a fossil deposit recently, he took time to make the trip to Kaw City to inspect Mrs. Clubb's museum, which is considered one of the finest in the Southwest. Mrs. Clubb at that time made it known to Dr. Bryan that she intends moving to Los Angeles, and that she will be glad to pay for the transportation of her paintings to Los Angeles, if the museum will supervise the shipment, and properly display the objets d'art to the public.

These assurances Dr. Bryan gave, and the Board of Supervisors last week passed an order authorizing H. A. Edwards of the museum staff to go to Kaw City at Mrs. Clubb's convenience and bring the shipment to Los Angeles.

Dr. Bryan, now in the East attending a convention of museum directors, is expected to continue negotiations with Mrs. Clubb, to the end that her magnificent collection may be displayed to the public here.

PARISIANS VISIT RAILWAY YARDS

System of Car Refrigeration Inspected

Executives Will Study Ice Plants Today

Hollywood Studio Also on Itinerary

An inspection tour of the yards and shops and a visit to the executive offices of the Southern Pacific today will conclude the stay here of prominent French railway executives who have been in the United States for the past month studying the American railway methods of operation.

The party of officials is headed by Eugene Mugniot, head of the traffic department of the Paris, Lyons and Mediterranean Railroad, one of France's biggest railway lines. The original group included eight executives making up the French railway mission, but the party divided in Chicago, with Mr. Mugniot, P. J. E. Dargeon, assistant manager of the operating department, and E. A. De Kerdrel, general agent for the line in Great Britain, composing the visitors in Los Angeles, who are studying rail transportation systems of the West.

STUDY REFRIGERATION

Yesterday the visitors were guests of the Santa Fe and were escorted through the various departments by P. P. Cruice, assistant general freight agent. Particular attention was paid by the French executives to the precooling and refrigerating systems used in the shipment of fruits and perishable vegetables.

Today Fred E. Watson, general passenger agent of the Southern Pacific, will assist the visitors in their trip, which will include a comprehensive survey of the icing plants and methods employed in handling the perishable products from Southern California so that they reach the eastern markets in perfect condition.

TO VISIT STUDIOS

No visit to Los Angeles is complete without a tour of Hollywood, Mr. Mugniot said yesterday, and the Southern Pacific arranged for a visit to the studios today. The visitors will devote the latter part of the afternoon to seeing motion pictures made, and the program includes the shooting of scenes in which prominent actors will appear.

As guests of the Southern Pacific the officials will leave tonight at 8:15 o'clock for San Francisco, where they will remain two days. Other stops on the itinerary, which will return them to New York on the 31st inst., to sail for Paris, include Seattle, Vancouver, Winnipeg and Montreal.

Western City Citizens Will Fight High Tax

Efforts by 5000 citizens of the Western City district, an unincorporated area surrounded by the cities of Torrance, Gardena, Hawthorne, Inglewood and Los Angeles, to lessen taxes that will result from the development of Alondra Park, will be made at a mass meeting in the Chapman-avenue school, two blocks west of Western avenue, on Amestoy avenue, next Thursday night.

The meeting was called by the Western City Taxpayers' Association, of which J. H. Fraser, 13903 South Western avenue, is a trustee, and L. C. Bowman, 1340 Kendrick avenue, is secretary. According to Mr. Fraser, Alondra Park, a property 320 acres in extent at the corner of Prairie and Riverside-Redondo boulevards, was bought with the proceeds of a bond issue of $1,014,000. Four small cities which originally were included in the improvement district, organized under the Mattoon Act, later withdrew, leaving unincorporated territory assessed at only about $9,000,000 still bonded for the park.

Mr. Fraser points out that the tax rate for the interest alone on the bonds now is 90 cents per $100 for outlying property, and $1.40 per $100 for central territory. This rate will be increased when the time comes to retire the principal of the bond issue, according to Fraser.

"FIXING" CASE DELAYED

Illness of Witness Postpones Trial of Harry Fink on Contempt

Hearing on contempt of court proceedings against Harry Fink, local politician and merchant, was continued yesterday by Municipal Judge Bogue until the 23rd inst. The delay was granted at the request of Deputy City Prosecutor Higgins, who told the court that Mrs. James H. Lyon, principal witness against Fink, is seriously ill in a San Pedro hospital.

Fink, who owns a haberdashery establishment at 235 West Fourth street, was cited for contempt by Judge Bogue when Lyon, who is facing liquor charges before him, filed an affidavit that he paid Fink $395 to fix his case.

MISSIONARY BACK FROM WILD AFRICA

Wilfred Bourgayze

Eight years as a missionary in the South Rhodesian bush, regarded as the wildest part of Africa, leaves one bewildered with the rapid changes of modern civilization, according to Wilfred Bourgayze, who yesterday arrived at the port en route to his home on the Isle of Guernsey.

Life is so primitive in the Rhodesian bush, according to Mr. Bourgayze, that a missionary has to be, among other things, a dentist, physician, agricultural adviser, builder and spiritual adviser. His work for the foreign missions section of the American Methodist Episcopal Church has been among the Mashona tribe of South African Bantus.

His territory is known in South Africa as "back of beyond;" his headquarters being eighty miles from the nearest railroad.

RICHMATRON NAMES GIRL IN DIVORCE

Beverly Hills Wife of Bank Clerk Sets Forth Statutory Ground

Mrs. Elizabeth J. Graham, said to be a wealthy matron of Beverly Hills, late yesterday filed suit for divorce on statutory grounds, accusing her husband, Joseph Hall Graham, with being too friendly with Mary de Veuve, named in the complaint as corespondent. Graham is a bank clerk.

Miss De Veuve, 21 years of age, daughter of a wealthy Seattle family, and engaged to a prominent society man in that city, left for the Washington metropolis after being served with a summons it was stated by Attorney A. W. Sorensen, who represents the plaintiff.

Mrs. Graham, although independent, wants $125 a month alimony, according to the complaint.

Note Addressed to "Dear Dicky" Brings Divorce

A letter asserted to have been found in her husband's pocket addressing him as "Dear Dicky" and signed by a young woman, helped Mrs. Zina A. Dickey to win a divorce yesterday from Albert Dickey, the decree being signed by Superior Judge Yankwich.

The letter, introduced as evidence, carried the information that the writer was sorry their courtship had been so short and that the writer had had an enjoyable time while going with him.

Mrs. Dickey also testified that her husband threatened to take her life on several occasions and once told her he would "smash her baby face so that nobody else would have her."

The wife was given a decree and the custody of a minor child and $40 a month for its support.

ARMY OFFICER FLIES HERE

Langley Field Commander, on National Tour, Impressed by Aviation Growth on Coast

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SANTA MONICA, May 10. (Exclusive)—Col. Clarence C. Culver, U.S.A., commander of Langley Field, Va., this evening landed at Clover Field, the Santa Monica Municipal Airport, on a tour of inspection of army air fields. Col. Culver flew in from Rockwell Field, San Diego, leaving there at 4:10 p.m. and arriving here at 5:20 p.m. He piloted a Douglas 02H, and was accompanied by his mechanician, Sergt. Stoner. He was met at the field by his brother, Harry H. Culver, who motored the colonel to his home in Culver City.

Col. Culver left Langley Field last Saturday afternoon, taking the southern route, and touching at Fort Bragg, N. C., Augusta, Ga., and Maxwell Field, Ala., before heading across to San Diego. He expressed himself as being impressed and pleased by the development of aviation on the Coast. He added that he has been receiving fine reports of air traffic between Los Angeles and San Francisco, and that while on the Pacific Coast he is going to study conditions along that route particularly.

Army aviation in California is gaining in importance, he said, declaring that until six months ago Langley Field was the only one which trained flyers in bombing, whereas the government now is equipping March Field, Riverside, for that branch of aerial warfare. Col. Culver will leave tomorrow morning, flying to San Francisco, to return Monday. Early next week he will fly east by way of Salt Lake City and Chicago.

Actor Remains Home With Bride as Studio W Newlyweds Silent on "Past Roman

Work meant nothing in the life yesterday of John Gilb wed. Although the screen lover was supposed to have studio at 9 a.m. yesterday he was instead sitting at his fast with his bride, Ina Clair, New York stage actress, at his Beverly Hills.

Gilbert said yesterday he "might" appear to resume production on his current picture at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer today, but that he wasn't sure.

TWO DAYS LOST

Two days have been lost at the studio on account of his unexpected marriage in Las Vegas Thursday to Miss Claire. The couple spent most of yesterday at Gilbert's home and were the honor guests last night at a party given by King Vidor, the director, attended by a large gathering of their friends from the cinema colony.

With Gilbert's picture now in production and Miss Claire scheduled to commence her first talking picture Monday at Pathe, the newlyweds said yesterday they will make plans for an extended wedding trip later.

"PAST ROMANCES"

While all of Hollywood was discussing the marriage of the couple, which was the first real indication of Gilbert's break with Greta Garbo, the actor declined to discuss what he termed "past romances." Miss Claire was equally as silent on reports from the East that Gene Markey, artist and writer, is en route to California to claim her hand in marriage.

For months the Gilbert-Garbo romance has been discussed in film circles, but neither ever would admit or deny an engagement. Their friends reported yesterday this romance cooled when Miss Garbo recently went abroad, and that it terminated finally on her return.

EXTRA GIRL, LOVE DREAM SHATTERED, TRIES SUICIDE

The hopeless love of an obscure little film extra-player for a famous star last night was blamed by police for an attempt 18-year-old Marie Stanley made to end her life by inhaling illuminating gas. With a dramatic note in one hand and a photograph of the lately married John Gilbert clutched in the other, the girl was found about 5 p.m. unconscious on the floor of the kitchen in an apartment at 5516 Fountain avenue, occupied by a young man acquaintance whose name police withheld. She went there, it was learned by police, earlier in the day from her own apartment at 3339 West Eighth street, penned the note, turned on the jets of the gas range and lay down to die.

MARIE STANLEY

Returning home, the friend discovered her and rushed her to the Dickey & Cass Emergency Hospital, where she was given emergency treatment and removed to the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital, where surgeons reported she will recover.

"Without hope there is no use in life," read the note. "Perhaps a cat can look at a king and forget. I can't forget—and I must. I wish them a long and happy married life. Fate is hard. It can't be helped."

Whether Miss Stanley was personally acquainted with Gilbert, or whether she was secretly in love with him unknown to the actor himself, police were unable to learn.

MARKEY TOO BUSY TO THINK OF MARRIAGE

CHICAGO, May 10. (Exclusive) Gene Markey regards Ina Claire as a charming girl. As for Broadway and Hollywood reports that Markey is heartbroken over Miss Claire's elopement with John Gilbert, Markey issued a strong denial.

"Perfectly absurd and utterly ridiculous," said Mr. Markey tonight at his father's home in Evanston.

"I reached Chicago day for a brief I'm going on to C Monday night. I'll with me and I'll the way out to that must go in the my New York as I reach them.

Four Hundred Present at $50-a-Plate Banquet for Christian College Benefit

Four hundred supporters of California Christian College last night gathered at a $50-a-plate Founders' Day dinner at the Ambassador, observing the ninth anniversary of the college's existence. The dinner was arranged to make up a deficit in the institution's operating expenses and it succeeded to the extent of almost $20,000. Charles C. Chapman, whose initial endowment of $500,000 brought the college into existence, presided. R. A. Smith of the board of directors introduced Mr. Chapman, who is chairman of the board.

He in turn presented various guests, and faculty members were introduced by President Braden. Dr. H. O. Pritchard of Indianapolis, general secretary of the Board of Education, Disciples of Christ, made the address of the evening on "Christian Education."

In explaining the purpose of the dinner, Mr. Chapman said that California Christian College had labored under a handicap of not having sufficient endowment to take care of the running expenses as the size of the student body grew. Last year, he said, the college was prepared to take care of 375, while this semester began with an enrollment of more than 400. This increased enrollment raised expenses beyond the ability of the institution to handle the number properly. For the past three years the college has had a deficit, this year's being $10,000.

Sailor to Face Murder Trial in Filipino Deaths

Clyde H. Forehand, sailor on the U.S.S. Colorado, is charged with two counts of murder in a complaint issued yesterday by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Thomas, as the result of the fatal shooting of two Filipinos in a rooming-house at 532 South Fremont street at 1 a.m. Wednesday.

Although Forehand was exonerated for the killing of the two Filipinos, Cifrino Blanco and Pedro Sandries, by a Coroner's jury, Sumner Richardson, chief of Dist.-Atty. Fitts complaint department, said that he must be tried before a jury to determine whether he is guilty.

The Coroner's jury returned a verdict of death by gunshot wounds inflicted by Forehand in self-defense.

Witnesses at the Coroner's inquest stated that Forehand and two sailor friends were attacked by the two Filipinos and that Forehand disarmed Blanco and in the ensuing battle fired two shots, which caused the death of both victims.

Tragedy Halts Delphine Walsh's Rise From Obscurity

LOWLY ARIZONA LIFE REVEALED

Girl Who Died of Operation Daughter of Miner

Fame on Stage Won Rapidly After Coming Here

Two Doctors Held for Death; Millionaire Sought

Delphine Walsh's ambition to win fame and fortune behind the footlights and which ended in her tragic death in Glendale a week ago, was born in the shadow of an Arizona copper mine and in a little wooden weather-beaten schoolhouse blistered by the heat of desert winds and sand.

MRS. HENRY HOLQUIN.

This unexpected revelation in the investigation into circumstances which led to and surrounded the illegal operation which cost the 22-year-old dancer her life, was brought to light yesterday by Mrs. Henry Holquin, 223 East One Hundred and Second street, a sister, who declared the dancer's real name was Delphine Dougherty, daughter of a miner, and that her home was in Bisbee, Ariz.

According to Mrs. Holquin, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Dougherty, her parents, who still reside in Bisbee, were in straitened circumstances when Delphine was 6 years of age, and she was taken into the home of Mrs. Mae Walsh, also a Bisbee resident then, and had been with the latter since. She lived with Mrs. Walsh at the time of her death.

QUICK RISE TO POPULARITY

From the time Mrs. Walsh came into possession of the child, Mrs. Holquin told William A. Byrne, special agent for the State Board of Medical Examiners, the child was taught to dance and not long after her arrival in Los Angeles she immediately became popular with booking agencies and soon was well on the road to a profitable position in the theatrical world when tragedy halted her career.

Search for the Vancouver (B. C.) "millionaire" who, Special Agent Byrne says he believes is the man who sent money to Miss Walsh to be used for her hospital bills, was spurred yesterday when Dorothy Neff, dancing friend of Miss Walsh, told the officer the name of a wealthy theater owner in the Canadian city who promised to take Miss Walsh and her, Miss Neff, on a yachting trip to Honolulu.

Friendship with the man began when the two girls played a Vancouver theater two and one-half months ago, Miss Neff told Byrne.

First intimation of the Vancouver man's friendship for the dancer was revealed by H. A. (Mickey) Moran, technical director for a theater chain, who told Byrne that his wife knows of a letter containing money Miss Walsh received from Vancouver a week prior to the operation.

MAY CALL ACTRESS AGAIN

As a result of information obtained from Miss Neff, Byrne says he again may call Miss Mildred Harris, former wife of Charles Chaplin, for questioning. Miss Harris previously denied being a close friend of the dead girl.

Byrne's principal desire to locate the man responsible for the dancer's condition, he says, is to strengthen his case against Drs. R. S. Lanterman and P. S. Traxler of Glendale, whose preliminary hearing on murder charges as the result of the girl's death, will be held next Tuesday. Each is at liberty on $15,000 bail.

Mrs. J. N. King, 930 Rose Road, Miami, Ariz., wife of a deputy sheriff, and sister of the dead girl, is on her way to Los Angeles to aid authorities in their investigation, according to word received by Byrne yesterday. A brother, Thomas Dougherty, Jr., also probably will come here, the sister says.

Mrs. Dougherty is said to be under the care of physicians and in a critical condition in her Bisbee home as the result of the shock of her daughter's death. Mr. Dougherty still is a miner there.

GOEBEL HUNTS PLANT SITE

Flyer in Party With Oklahoma Group Seeking Place on Coast for $500,000 Plane Factory

Here on an inspection trip of Pacific Coast factory possibilities L. R. Dooley, vice-president and general sales manager of the Spartan Aircraft Corporation of Tulsa, Okla., arrived in Los Angeles yesterday with a staff of flyers that includes Art Goebel, Miss Margaret Perry, Ray Tice and Walter Hoag, all flying Spartan ships. The men in the party, with the exception of Goebel, are registered at the Biltmore.

Dooley and his pary, after looking over possible factory sites in and around Los Angeles yesterday, are scheduled to hop off this morning for San Francisco, with the same mission in mind.

"The Pacific Coast, and particularly, California, is the logical spot for our new factory and we have been sent out here to look the field over with a view to determining on a spot for it," Mr. Dooley explained. "The plant, when completed will represent an investment of $500,000 and will employ about 100 men. We hope to turn out a plane a day."

The Spartan Aircraft Corporation is headed by W. G. Skelley, millionaire head of the Skelley Oil Company of Oklahoma, who has decided, Dooley explaiend, that the Pacific Coast, with its long lead on the rest of the country in things aeronautical, is the logical place for the company's new factory.

The Spartan organization manufactures a sport type of biplane in the moderate price class. The Spartan, Dooley said, is used extensively by oil company executives in the Oklahoma and Texas fields.

"California has many advantages that we of Oklahoma do not enjoy in the matter of flying," Mr. Dooley explained. "California led the entire country in the matter of sales to private parties in 1928 and, since our ship is of a type appealing to private flyers, we feel that we should locate here on the coast. You have all-year-around flying conditions here and, since you are far more air minded than the people of the East, this, Mr. Skelley believes, is the logical place for our factory and distribution center."

Organized in 1927, the Spartan company has built about 180 ships and recently closed a contract with the Simmons Aircraft Company, of Los Angeles for the delivery of twenty-five ships during the present calendar year. The ships are for export to the Orient. The contract, covering a five-year period, calls for a 25 per cent increase in production quota each year, Mr. Dooley declared.

This morning the Spartan flyers will hop off for San Francisco for an inspection of factory sites there and will continue on to Seattle. But Southern California, so far, is the location favored by Mr. Dooley, he said. The Spartan ships' motors are a Los Angeles product, being manufactured by the Axelson interests, for many years manufacturers of oil field mchinery. Fred Worthey, official of the Axelson company, will accompany the flyers on the Pacific Coast trip.

FORMER ACTRESS TELLS CHINA PERIL

Mrs. Viora Casady

The experiences of an American traveler in the interior of China during a revolution are far more thrilling than those portrayed in the films by even the most imaginative producers, according to Mrs. Viora D. Casady, the former Viora Daniel, film actress of a few years ago, who arrived on the Lassco liner City of Los Angeles yesterday.

For the last three years Mrs. Casady has been traveling through the interior of China, the innermost recesses of the Philippines, and visiting many little-known Polynesian communities in the South Seas.

TROLLEY MEN END SESSIONS

Electric Railway Ideas Swapped and Reports on Various Problems Given

Business sessions of the fifth annual convention of the California Electric Railway Association at the Rosslyn were brought to a close yesterday afternoon following departmental meetings.

Problems of railroading and the exchange of ideas featured the various gatherings, which comprised reports and discussions on purchasing and sales, engineering, claims, public relations and other phases of railroad operation.

Today's program is scheduled for those delegates who wish to make inspection trips to various points of interest about the city. A number left the city late yesterday.

The convention drew an attendance of approximately 200 electrical railway executives from throughout the State and was declared to have been one of the most successful ever conducted by the organization. Some of the foremost electric railway officials of the State read papers at the opening session.

Court Holds Promoters on Theft Charge

Edwin G. Dessieux, 34 years of age, of 3024 Stockbridge street, Alhambra, and E. H. Chapin, 37, of 520 South Kingsley Drive, yesterday were held by Municipal Judge Ambrose in $5000 bail each, to appear on the 21st inst., for preliminary hearing on four charges of grand theft arising out of an investigation of their activities in connection with the promotion of the Professional Service Acceptance Corporation. The bonds were posted.

According to Dep. Dist.-Atty. Jones, who, with Blaney Matthews, investigator for Dist.-Atty. Fitts, had charge of the case, the two defendants are accused of misappropriating funds placed in their care to purchase notes from physicians and dentists, pending the approval of the State Corporation Commission.

The sum involved amounts to $8000, according to four complaining witnesses. Dessieux yesterday resigned as a member of the City Commission of Alhambra, although declaring that the charges against him are false.

Dye Strikers Back at Work

Following an arbitration agreement said to have been reached Thursday night between several cleaning and dyeing-plant operators and union officials, virtually all the strikers who walked out Wednesday were reported back on their jobs yesterday.

Wednesday's strike, which was confined to a few wholesale plants, involved only about 400 workers and lasted but one day. Most of the workers returned Thursday when negotiations were opened.

Negotiations, a union official said, are to be concluded within the next ten days.

KIMMERLE AND SPURLIN FREED

Pair Acquitted of Assault on Loeb in Julian Row

Jury Deliberates Three Hours in Reaching Verdict

Night Session Held to Rush Case to Final End

A verdict of not guilty was returned by a jury late last night in the cases of H. J. Kimmerle and De Kalb Spurlin, charged with conspiracy to assault Arthur M. Loeb two years ago. The jury had deliberated about three hours when they informed Judge Aggeler that a verdict had been reached.

The offense for which the two men were tried was asserted to have occurred in an office of the stockholders' committee of the Julian Petroleum Corporation, shortly after the affairs of the corporation had been thrown into confusion by the operations of its officers on the stock market.

Arguments were not concluded until the regular time for adjournment, but owing to the fact that the case has been on trial for two weeks Judge Aggeler ordered a special night session in an effort to have the case disposed of this week.

The closing plea for the defense was made by Attorney W. I. Ford, representing Kimmerle, while Dep. Dist.-Atty. McKay concluded for the prosecution.

Testimony adduced by the State was designed to show that Kimmerle and Spurlin planned the asserted attack, which, according to the State, cost Loeb the sight of one eye. Kimmerle is declared to have been the actual perpetrator of the attack, but Spurlin was indicted as an accomplice in the asserted conspiracy to assault Loeb.

Kimmerle previously had been convicted of an assault on Loeb, but was paroled from the County Jail after serving only five days of a two-year sentence. The indictment in the present case was voted by the grand jury following an extended investigation of the circumstances surrounding Kimmerle's parole.

Nominees for Trojan Campus Offices Picked

Climaxing a lively student political race, three candidates were nominated for the presidency of the Associated Students of the University of Southern California at an assembly in the Shrine Auditorium yesterday morning. Ed Ware, business manager of the campus yearbook, El Rodeo; Leo Adams, varsity debate manager, and Arthur Neelley, president of the college of commerce, will vie for the office. Elections will be held next Friday.

Co-eds cheered as three of their number were announced for the office of vice-president. They are Bonnie Jean Lockwood, Dorothie Smith and Lorraine Young. Janet McCoy is the only nominee for secretary. Gordon Pace, yell king this year, will run for the same office unopposed.

Candidates for college presidencies nominated are: Letters, arts and sciences, Don Petty and Muriel Heeb; commerce, Walter Benedict, James McCormick and Clifford Poindexter; law, Gordon Dean and Ellsworth Mayer; pharmacy, Karl Brenner and Clarence Smith; architecture, Stanley Melone and Kenneth Winebrenner; music, William Ellfeldt and Alma Gowdy, and engineering, Lumic Slezak.

Blond Canary Flits Through Divorce Case

MRS. GLADYS M. WOOD.

On the picture was the inscription "to my Joy Bird from your Blond Canary," it is asserted in the complaint. On another occasion, it is declared, that, carrying out the bird motif, Wood said he would like to put his wife "in a cage."

It is further complained that Wood took his child from its mother's home in Boston and brought it to California in defiance of her wishes. Wood told his wife he was only waiting until a Mrs. Grace Rose of Hartford, Ct., got a divorce from her husband, so he could marry her, it is declared.

In 1926 Wood left his wife in Florida while he went to Massachusetts, the complaint recites. Wood, said to be a wealthy realty operator, is asked to pay alimony of $325 a month and $2500 attorney's fees. Community property of $100,000 is listed for division.

PEST FUND SOUGHT

Supervisors Asked to Appropriate Sum in Walnut Maggot Fight

Damage to the walnut crops in the Chino district and the spread of the husk maggot to Los Angeles county has caused the agriculture committee of the Chamber of Commerce to recommend to the County Board of Supervisors that an appropriation of $15,000 be voted for its control, according to B. R. Holloway, chairman of the agriculture committee.

San Bernardino county and the State Department of Agriculture will raise $35,000, and the growers a like amount to combat the pest that turns the shells of the walnuts dark and ruins them for the market.

This will come before the Supervisors during the Monday session.

You won't forget to get your cards and mottoes for Mother's Day at Schwabacher-Frey's, whose address on Broadway is 736. Remember today is the last day! You will find the cards at Schwabacher-Freys are quite the latest to be seen and the mottoes are truly beautiful—prices on cards, 10 cents to $1.

In the box lunches and sandwiches put up by the "Sur-Val" Box Lunch Company, 602 Mateo street, you get both quantity and quality—quantity because they are very generous and substantial . . . for hungry mortals you know—and quality because they do such a large business they are thus qualified to give you the best at the most reasonable price. Why do you know they make at night as many as 2500 sandwiches, all of which proves that the "Sur-Val" box lunches and sandwiches are the ones you want to take on the next beach party or picnic. You may order the amount you need by calling FAber 1176.

You are going to be so entranced with the wall papers you see in Mathews Paint Company's stores that it will be a case of shutting your eyes and saying while pointing to any one at random, "My mother told me to take this one!" For instance, the ones of modernistic design are very swanky and ever so "ultra-ultra." Then mighty new are the Toile de Joui—those lovely scenic effects so fashionable at the moment. Then there were papers of grass cloth—imported papers from Europe as well as the Orient, lovely Chinese red backgrounds with designs in black and so on . . . indeed, I could never do justice to them in mere words, you just must go in and select them soon, though. Mathews Paint Co. have three splendid locations: one at 1245 S. Hill; Vine and Selma, Hollywood,, and another at 740 E. Green in Pasadena.

Potato salad: Use two cupfuls diced potatoes, one-half cupful diced celery, two tablespoonfuls chopped onions and one teaspoonful salt. If desired add 2 tablespoonfuls chopped green peppers. Add French dressing and sprinkle with chopped parsley.

To remove ice cream stains sponge them with chloroform or ether; when dry rub in powdered French chalk and leave over night; then brush it out.

A brilliant thought has come to me: Why not start having some of those wonderfully good old picnic parties such as you had last summer. Beach parties are once more the vogue, so let's start in right away! . . . but wait a minute, don't overlook the cooling beverage you require on such a jaunt, that is one of the reasons why we have in our midst Guasti concentrated Grape Juice, because by adding four parts water you have the "bestest" old drink you could possibly wish for . . . and the happy part about it is that it is no end beneficial, my dears! Oh, you don't know how many uses you have for this product of the Italian Vineyard Company of Guasti, California, who also have offices at 1248 Palmetto street. You know, if it so happens that your grocer can't supply you with Guasti Concentrated Grape Juice, phone the order department (MUtual 2124) of this company, and they will see that you are taken care of immediately. They will also send you a very worth while booklet known as "Grape Drinks and Desserts"—a recipe book which you will find invaluable, containing ways and means of making the finest drinks and desserts you ever hope to taste.

A substantial salad, good bread and butter, cocoa, tea or milk, and a simple dessert—with sometimes a cup of hot soup to start with—and a delicious and wholesome lunch is prepared.

Such charming photographs of brides do Witzel's take! True likenesses they are, but posed with utmost grace and in so artistic a manner that your very best features are brought out with the result that you get portraits you may well be proud to give your friends and those you love best. These are wedding days, you know, and no marriage is complete without your likeness on this Great Day to be kept in commemoration of the big event. Couldn't you make an appointment now with one of Witzel's Studios? Both are conveniently located—one at 1011 W. 7th St. —the other at 6324 Hollywood Blvd.

To set color in wash goods before laundering: Any colored fabric should have color set before washing, using method below which is best suited to goods.

For green, blue, pink, pinkish purple, lavender and aniline reds, soak for ten minutes in alum water, using three ounces of powdered alum to a tub of water.

For black-and-white, gray, brown, purple or dark blue, soak in salt water using one-half cupful of salt to a quart of warm water; soak one hour and rinse well.

This is the day of days! . . . because it marks the opening of the new Hollywood Shop of Mrs. A. M. Walden, whose cake and pastry shop at 638 S. Western avenue is so well known. The new store is at 1647 Wilcox (near Hollywood Boulevard.) and there you will be able to buy the same delectable cakes (made with real creamery butter and freshest eggs) that Mrs. Walden is famed for. Today's special is a wonderfully good white cake with mother written on it—all for the humble cost of $1.32—now you know that would be a desirable gift for that precious little mother of yours!

It is perfectly true that you can't buy finer country sausage anywhere than that made by the Western Sausage Company! You see, it is made out of the very best government inspected eastern shoulder pork—the best money can buy—ground fine, then seasoning added, which is comprised of thirteen different ingredients, which gives it a flavor which beggars description! Of course, you will want a pound for tomorrow morning's breakfast so stop in today and get what you need for Sunday. Better jot down these three addresses: 300½ S. Broadway; 303 S. Hill, and 6400 Hollywood Blvd.

To fix the color of a cotton dress soak it for twelve hours in water to which a tablespoonful of turpentine has been added; then wash as usual and the color will remain fast. For delicate shades of colored linens use plenty of pulverized borax in the washing and rinsing waters.

What more interesting way to spend Mother's Day than to motor down to Travaglini's Cafe, San Clemente at San Clemente—the Spanish Village by the Sea—half-way between Los Angeles and San Diego. A more enjoyable trip would be hard to pick out with the most delightful as well as delicious dinner at the journey's end. Little mother would love such a day planned for her; she would be just the one, too, to appreciate the charming hospitality of Mr. Travaglini's cafe as well as the courteous treatment shown to his guests by Mr. Travaglini. Do take my suggestion seriously and plan to start on the glorious adventure early tomorrow morning, thus having the whole day at San Clemente. P. S. If you can't possibly get away then dine at Travaglini's Roma Rotisserie at 1801 West Seventh, or take home to serve cooked food ready to serve from his food shop at the same location.

One teaspoonful of blue-black ink added to a tub of water will set colors in black-and-white goods. For clear black fabric use borax water. Vinegar is also good for dark colors, using one-fourth cupful of vinegar to one quart of water.

It doesn't matter what the season is—winter, or summer; warm weather or cold—Hughes Ice Cream is enjoyed at all times of the year because of its super-palatableness. You all are familiar with the good things which go into the making of this ice cream, namely, thick rich cream, fresh fruits and the very best chocolate and vanilla obtainable.

Excellent salad—An unusually pretty as well as good to eat salad is composed of cold beets, scooped out and filled with chopped cabbage which has been mixed with mayonnaise dressing; serve on a lettuce leaf and garnish with mayonnaise and a ring of green peppers.

Why use badly worn discolored silver when the Peerless Platers at 239½ South Spring replate knives, forks and tablespoons for $3.50 a dozen and teaspoons for $2.50 a dozen. Their work is the finest I have seen and their prices the most reasonable.

Punch Donated for Benefit of Invalids' Home

A. Mark, member of the board of directors of the Mt. Sinai Home for Chronic Invalids, yesterday volunteered to donate the punch for the May festival and ball to be given for the benefit of that institution next Saturday night at Shrine ballroom.

A. MARK

Some say that each of the 6500 persons in the anticipated throng will drink at least a quart of the beverage, or a total of more than 1500 gallons. Others are dubious. But all are certain that from 800 to 1000 gallons of punch will be required.

The affair will be attended by Sophie Tucker, Anita Page, Lina Basquette, Milton Charles, Norma Shearer, Joan Crawford, Conrad Nagel, Bessie Love, George Sydney, Sally O'Neill, Marion Byron, Georgie Harris, Jackie Fields, Mushy Callahan, Joe Manciewicz, Helen Gordon and others. Maury Leaf, radio entertainer, will serve as master of ceremonies.

Two in Family Seek Divorces

Mrs. Mary G. Sturgis and her daughter, Mrs. Mary G. Broome, both had trouble with their husbands and hired the same attorney to apply for the only remedy they felt to be suitable—divorce.

Mrs. Sturgis asserts that her husband, Joseph E. Sturgis, stage director at a local theater, became too attentive to a well-known actress, not named.

Mrs. Broome declares that her husband, Victor L. Broome, West Point graduate and employee of a local lighting company, was seen at cafes with other women, and after being out all night, told his wife he didn't love her any more. The attorney employed by the two women is Russell F. Milham.

PLANES ON TOUR LAND HERE

Party Circling Nation Will Seek to Establish Aviation Country Club Branch

Headed by Miss Ruth Nichols, outstanding woman flyer, a squad of airplanes making a national tour in the interests of aviation dropped down at the Culver City Airport yesterday noon and was welcomed by Mr. and Mrs William Gibbs McAdoo, Jr., and others.

In addition to Miss Nichols, the visitors included Robb C. Oertel, business representative of Aviation Country Clubs, Inc.; C. C. Bedford, service manager for the Curtiss Airplane Company, and Charles Taylor of Little Rock, Ark.

The primary purpose that brought the flyers to Los Angeles is the establishment of three branches of Aviation Country Clubs in California, one of which will be in Los Angeles.

FLYING CALLED SPORT

Miss Nichols, who acted as spokesman for the group, said:

"Believing that the best way to stimulate interest in aviation is to make it a sport that everyone can participate in, some of the leading figures in the world of aviation formed Aviation Country Clubs, Inc.

"Our purpose is to establish a club that will greatly resemble a yacht club and have many of the features of a golf or country club. Each club will have its own home, flying field, club owners, as well as private planes and hangars, and competent instructors for beginners. The organization will be nonprofit-making. A member of one club will be a member of all the clubs throughout the country and we will especially encourage social and sporting activities between the different clubs."

SIX IN EAST

Six clubs already have been organized in the East, the woman flyer declared. Her party left New York on March 19 and made stops at most of the larger cities of the South, including Texas, Oklahoma and Arizona, interesting aviators of the different cities in the country club idea.

Miss Nichols and the other visitors expect to remain in California for a month and while here will stop at the Mayfair. That prospective members may learn of the details of the clubs, an invitational luncheon will be given in the near future.

The party arrived yesterday from San Diego. Miss Nichols flew alone in a Curtiss Fledgling, Oertel and Bedford occupied a Curtiss Robin and Taylor piloted a Command-Aire. They reported that they have had no accidents nor forced landings since leaving New York. The aviatrix is one of the few women pilots in the country who hold government eransport pilot's licenses. She also made a nonstop flight record for women between New York and Miami. The party will return to New York by way of Portland, Seattle and northern points.

Chest Chairman Indorses Drive

An indorsement of the work of the Ruth Sanitarium, engaged in a building fund campaign for $85,000, has been received by Mrs. Erwin Werner, general chairman of the campaign, from J. A. H. Kerr, vice-president of the Security-First National Bank, and campaign chairman of the Community Chest.

J.A.H. KERR

Urging co-operation for the success of the campaign, Mr. Kerr said: "I am conversant with the splendid work the Ruth Sanitarium is accomplishing and with the necessity of continuing and increasing its ability to function to an even greater degree than heretofore."

The Ruth Sanitarium cares for girls between 12 and 21 years of age, and receives its cases from Juvenile Hall, probation department, city health department and other institutions.

For the Lord God will help me; therefore shall I not be confounded: therefore have I set my face like a flint, and I know that I shall not be ashamed. Isa. 1:7.

BOMBS VS. BOOKS

Seven of the nine men who run Russia are said never to have gone to school. That may account for it.

THE FALL GUY

The trial of Albert B. Fall in connection with the Elks Hills oil lease conspiracy has been postponed until October. Trying Fall in the fall would seem to be perfectly proper.

A MOVIE MARRIAGE

Television and the talkies are to wed, says William Allen White. The world is hoping that this Hollywood marriage may turn out better than some other ventures.

JUST RUNNING AROUND

Next time an ambitious Mexican general invites his neighbors to a ride on the merry-go-round they will stop and think. They may get plenty of revolutions, but they don't get anywhere.

DEER PARK

A young doe was killed in Highland Park by an automobile at the intersection of York Boulevard and North Avenue Fifty-six the other day. Los Angeles can furnish about everything anyone wants—from night life to wild life.

PAIR OF QUEENS

Helen Wills is being presented to British royalty at Buckingham Palace. It may be a new court to Helen, but it will really be another meeting of queens—Queen Mary and Queen Helen. Each is supreme in her own court.

THE IMMORTAL FORTY

The seat in the French Academy, made vacant by the death of Ferdinand Foch, will probably go to some soldier and Gen. Petain is the strongest figure now surviving. This will be his chance to sit with the immortals.

GETTING TOGETHER

Siamese twins who were firmly bound together below the waist were born to an Illinois couple recently and are still healthy. Chicago politicians are said to view the incident as an omen of party unity.

A HERO

House Peters, movie star, offers to buy up all the pianolas in his block in Beverly Hills. If he will extend his benefactions to some other neighborhoods and take in a few cornets and saxophones, he might even aspire to a statue in Pershing Square.

HIGH TEMPERATURE

A San Francisco patient registered a temperature of more than 112 deg. during a recent surgical operation and the surgeon was visibly embarrassed at having to report him alive and doing well. According to all the ethics of the trade he should have been dead at about 106 deg. But the patients themselves are gradually coming into the belief that this temperature business is not the fetich the doctors make of it.

JOHN E. FISHBURN

Southern California owes no small part of its marvelous progress to the admirable organization of its banking system, the integrity, skill, vision and dependability of men who have developed it and managed it. Among the financial leaders responsible for the standing Los Angeles banks have won in the United States none has performed more creditable service than John Eugene Fishburn, whose death has closed his successful career at the allotted period of three score years and ten.

He has left behind, not only in the realms of finance which were his life interest, but no less in the social fraternity and club life of Los Angeles a monument to good citizenship and a record of loyal friendship and co-operation that will long be remembered by those who today are mourning another community loss in the departure of another leading citizen. But he had rounded out his work on earth and the fruits of his labors remain; he has joined the company of the many pioneers who have been constructive builders of our great Southwest.

THE NEW TARIFF BILL

Substantial increases in the tariff on many California products are made in the Hawley bill as reported from the House Ways and Means Committee at Washington, and substantial benefits will flow to California industry as a result. Not all that was asked for has been yielded; but, on the other hand, the bill has not yet been put into final form, and if the proponents of further increases are able to make out a good case they stand an excellent chance of success before the bill becomes law.

The almond growers, for instance, are by no means satisfied with the new proposed rates of 5.5 cents a pound on unshelled nuts, 16.5 cents on shelled and 18.5 cents on almond paste. The present rates are 3.75 cents on unshelled, 14 cents on shelled and 14 cents on paste, as compared with the Underwood tariff rates of 3 cents on unshelled, 4 cents on shelled and 15 per cent on paste. The Almond Growers' Exchange demands 6.25 cents on unshelled and 19 cents for the shelled variety. The date growers appear to have been ignored, and figs and olive oil receive no increases. Long-staple cotton remains on the free list, though the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce joined the California, Arizona and New Mexico Cotton Association in requesting a rate of 3 cents on one and one-eighth inch staple and 5 cents on one and one-fourth inch staple.

The sugar growers, however, have fared well from the protection standpoint. The world rate on raw sugar is raised from 2.20 cents to 3 cents; the Cuban rate from 1.76 cents to 2.40 cents; the world rate on refined is set at 3.5 cents as compared with 2.39 cents in the old bill, and the rates for Cuban refined are raised to 2.8 cents from 1.91 cents. Edible molasses and syrups jump to 3.3 cents from 0.25 cents.

The request for a tariff on Philippine sugar has, quite properly, been denied. The Philippines are American, and so long as the American flag floats there the products of the islands would seem to be entitled to free entry. To impose a tariff would be to give new impetus to the separation movement. That the islands are not yet ready for political and economic independence is plain.

Some of the other proposed schedules on California products are shown for examination and comparison:

The Chamber of Commerce and other organizations are studying these schedules with care and are not yet prepared to say whether, in their opinion, the protection given is sufficient. It must be remembered that the interest of the consumer also must be considered. The principle of preserving the domestic market for domestic production without enhancing prices unreasonably is the principle upon which schedules must be based, if they are to be nationally beneficial.

BETTER DICTION ON THE AIR

When Hamlin Garland came to Los Angeles last winter as chairman of a committee of the American Academy of Arts and Letters, appointed to find out who were the best radio announcers in the country and to award an annual medal to a single announcer, he learned of so many good ones here that it was hoped the first medal might go to a local man. But the golden token has gone to Milton J. Cross of Newark, N. J., "in recognition of the excellence of his diction, pronunciation and enunciation."

The object of these awards, as explained by Mr. Garland during his visit to this city, is the improvement of language, tone and accent by the radio announcers of America. That there is much room for this improvement every cultured person in the country is fully aware, and the efforts of the academy in this direction are to be heartily applauded.

In delivering the medal to Mr. Cross a few timely remarks were made by Mr. Garland. He said that "as a people we use our voices badly because most of us are nurtured in homes where careless habits of speech abound." He also remarked that the English and French were justified in speaking of "the dreadful American voice." In his opinion, this "dreadful voice" limits the power of our public men.

In accepting the medal Mr. Cross took occasion to say that good diction, purity and beauty of tone could be acquired through study, and he added: "Because we announcers are the daily examples of spoken English to millions of people we should be most particular of our speech. Many of us are making a special study of the subject in order to raise our own standards, with the hope of a consequent effect upon the country."

This is good news and will be welcomed by those Americans who, because of the slovenly speech of so many of their countrymen, are sometimes ashamed to hear them talk to cultured foreigners. However, there are plenty of people of foreign lands of whom a similar criticism might be made.

MOIST MEXICO

President Gil announces the beginning of temperance education in his country. That was the way it started in the United States. The boozites are laughing at it below the border. That was also what they did in this country. Nothing dries up mud puddles like sunlight.

The LEE SIDE O' L.A.

BY Lee Shippey

A PROPHET may be without honor in his own country. In London once we saw a quiet crowding and neck-stretching and lifting of hats as the Prince of Wales passed. In a couple of other foreign capitals we have seen similar interest shown when royalty or presidents went by. But nowhere else have we seen such eager and excited expectancy as there is on Hollywood Boulevard when some motion-picture star of first magnitude appears.

WHO? WHERE?
THERE THEY GO!

Fannie Hurst tells us that Norma Talmadge took her to luncheon the other day, and they had to fairly fight their way from the car into the restaurant. "The minute Miss Talmadge's car slowed down a crowd collected and soon grew so dense that those who wished to make way for them had to struggle to do it. "It was as if they'd never seen a famous actress before," she said.

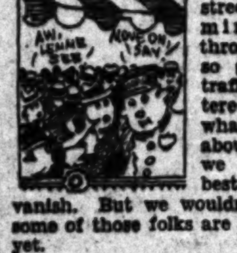
Mean Experiment

That decided us to try a little experiment. We strolled down Hollywood Boulevard till we came to a very nifty little shop, one from which there seemed only one exit. There we stopped and began to stare expectantly into the doorway.

In a moment another man stopped, looked questioningly at us, and waited. Then three or four other people stopped to see what was the matter.

"Mary Pickford just went in there," we explained.

In five minutes the sidewalk was blocked and the crowd was beginning to spread into the street. In ten minutes the throng had grown so great that a traffic cop sauntered up to see what it was all about. And then we thought it best to gracefully vanish. But we wouldn't wonder if some of those folks are waiting there yet.

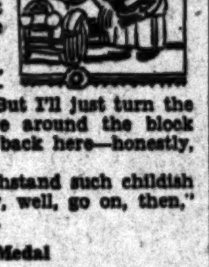


Youth's Triumphs

And yet some of the younger stars are merely little girls, still looking on the world with wide eyes of wonder. Not long ago we were invited to a stunt on one of the studio lots—one of those very exclusive affairs at which the guests are strictly limited to persons whose names appear in the telephone directory—and in the jam found ourself crowded close to two very unassuming, quiet little things who seemed quite absorbed in the show. They seemed so innocently thrilled by everything that we were tempted to ask from which sorority house they had slipped away for the day. But just then the master of ceremonies beckoned them and they were introduced to the throng. Both were stars whose names have stood out in lights on big theaters clear across the country, and in foreign countries.

Such a Cunning Child!

And then there was the ingenuous young star who drove over a pedestrian zone on Hollywood Boulevard the other day.



HO! HO! LIEUTENANT!

"Hey, there, get back," roared the traffic cop. "Don't you see you're over the line."

"I can't back, officer," she replied sweetly. "But I'll just turn the corner and drive around the block and come right back here—honestly, I will."

Who could withstand such childish innocence? "Aw, well, go on, then," growled the cop.

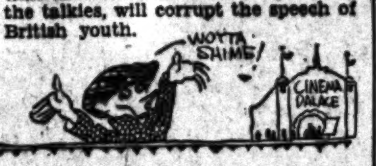
Another Cactus Medal

Elsinore's pride and glory and chief asset is its mineral water, which is great for health and smells like the first syl—that is, smells to heaven. So we must award the cactus medal for the unkindest cut possible to the Corona Independent, which avers that Elsinore is the original town in which you can lead a horse to water, but cannot make it drink.

But lots of people who drive cars will drink anything — even water which will do them a lot of good.

Ow, Wot a Shyme!

While we're thinking about motion pictures, let us consider, for a moment, the fears of a British newspaper that the "Vermont accent," spread by the talkies, will corrupt the speech of British youth.



Ow, wot a shyme—a bloomin' tyke—
Hif Henglish speech shud be polluted
And hall the little hisle shud tyke
Up Yankee, cinema-hellocuted!

And yet—the grand old Henglish speech
Through centuries 'as not succeeded
The sturdy Yorkshireman to teach
'Ow Somersetshire's brogue is heeded.

The Cornwall man can 'ardly 'ope
To hunderstand the man from Devon;
They've been content through time to grope
And 'ope to hunderstand in 'eaven.

The tight old hisle to custom sticks
And mustn't give it hup, by jingo!
Ow, wot a shyme if Yankee tricks
Shud teach it hall the Henglish lingo!

BUSINESS LOOKING UP

A substantial increase in railway revenues, both net and gross, accompanied by a surprising apparent gain in efficiency, is to be noted for the railways of the United States, according to reports from the Bureau of Railway Economics just made public. These reports, comparing January and February of the current year with the same months of 1928, are not only good news to shippers and stockholders, but an index of increasing prosperity which cannot be disregarded.

All the Class I railroads together gained $47,038,525 in these two months, an increase of 5.1 per cent over early 1928, at an increased operating cost of only $6,323,057 or 0.9 per cent. The net operating income made a leap of 28.2 per cent. The rate of return on invested capital reached 5.62 per cent as compared with 4.42 per cent in 1928.

The greatest gain was made by the roads of the Pocahontas group where the rate of return reached 10.06 per cent as compared with 6.84 per cent a year ago. Railroads of the Central Western group, which include those serving Southern California, reached a return of 5.88 per cent, while last year they made only 4.74.

Net operating income of the Santa Fe for the two months was $8,221,728; in 1928 it was $5,269,456. The comparable figures for the Southern Pacific were $6,577,114 and $4,879,743, and for the Union Pacific, excluding the Los Angeles and Salt Lake, $4,075,933 and $3,669,336. The Salt Lake earned $590,711 this year and $43,007 last year, thus taking a big proportionate jump. The Southern Pacific steamship lines cut its deficit to $10,535, the deficit in 1928 being $89,745.

If general business is gaining in the same ratios, which is reasonable to suppose, Hoover prosperity is substantial, genuine and widespread.

OUR NEWEST VICE

Paul Morand in Vanity Fair discusses our new vice—speed. He appears to think that speed comes from following the lines of least resistance. We do boresome things as quickly as possible to be done with them.

So when a maniac is raging at breakneck pace through traffic, his grandmother is not at the point of death. He has an unpleasant piece of work on hand, and he is trying to get it off his mind. Every demon at the wheel is merely trying to escape something.

This may be true in some cases. But experience is different. Most folks are dilatory in attack upon the unattractive. We hesitate and loaf over work we do not enjoy.

That speed in general is a vice, goes without saying. It seems to be infectious and all classes catch it. The best of men resort to it unnecessarily upon occasion. Frequently the ones who resort to it the most have the least cause. If there were genuine reason for swift travel and jeopardizing life, it would not be a vice. Speed is not a crime for an ambulance—it is a career.

That speed is a new vice may also be questioned. The means may not have been at hand in former years; but the mania was there. Indeed, the craving for speed in the fathers developed the motor and the train.

That noble Anglo-Saxon ambition to get there first is responsible for modern speed devices. While scientists sought to lengthen life, inventors sought to squeeze as many miles into a minute as possible. We live more in a minute than our fathers did in an hour. Whether we live better is open to debate.

Speed has its disabilities as well as vices. It kills scenery as well as people. To a motorist whirling through the country, all colors become drab. All sounds drone into one tone. Speed is death to art. Vision takes time and meditation.

THE GROUND FLOOR

If people would value the simple things of life, the country would be better off, says Mrs. Coolidge. That was what we did and we now have a sheaf of oil shares as souvenirs.

THE DAY OF OPPORTUNITY

By James J. Montague

When Johnnie gets up in the morning
He can tune in the radio set
And learn how to draw up a farm relief law
And to figure the national debt.
He can follow debates on debentures,
Hear statistics on coal, oil and ore,
And discover the reason that out of the season
Green peas and tomatoes cost more.

The methods that Einstein made use of
In charting the suns in their spheres,
The reason that Mars is the reddest of stars
The child can absorb through his ears.
He can study our foreign relations
And hear learned experts explain
The absence of quail on the Oregon trail
And the lumber statistics of Maine.

He can hear all the news from Geneva
And learn what the statesmen have done
To make the whole girth of this once warring earth
Repose in a place in the sun.
By drinking in mind-building knowledge
In this simple and sensible way
He'll have no time to shirk intellectual work
For school will continue all day.

Our forebears had no such advantage
And, therefore, but little they knew
They had to resort to illiterate sport,
For their hours for learning were few.
But Johnnie, without any effort,
His small cerebellum can fill
With a marvelous store of fine brain-filling lore—
He can, but I don't think he will!

The Two-Class Plan

BALBOA, May 8.—[To the Editor of The Times:] One reason why I plan never to miss one issue of The Times is that often there is something in the paper that I cannot afford to lose. The editorial, "Children and Work Hours," in The Times May 7, deals skillfully with the most important question before the people—the training of the youth of our country.

In twelve years' experience in Alliance, O., I never heard the word home work mentioned, for the school was managed differently. If a teacher had one grade it had to be divided into two classes not according to scholarship. They had exactly the same work in the end, but one class was a few days in advance of the other. One class recited while the other prepared a lesson previously assigned and in that way were trained to put their attention on their work no matter what was going on, as they have to do when they work in an office.

In the recitation the pupil was skillfully questioned to see if he was prepared. Teachers can learn how to question pupils as well as lawyers learn it in their work. There were recitations going on from the opening to the close of the school hours.

In the two-class plan pupils often pick up a great deal from the recitations of the other class. Also if they finish the preparation of a lesson before the allotted time they can review back lessons or look ahead or find a use of the book in some other way and do not sit idle waiting for the others. Every child should recite every day in every lesson. It can be done. The editorial was the word fitly spoken.

ETTA GRIFFITH.

New School Recipe

LOS ANGELES, May 9.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Here is a plan to eliminate home work: For instance, a teacher has forty pupils in a grade. She starts on the day's work asking questions. She calls on this pupil and that one, others may be looking out of the window, some half asleep, and others having a good time. What are the results? How can that be avoided? The teacher to leave on blackboard work drilled on in class yesterday, divide her class into two sections, call first section from their seats to a straight or half-circle seat or bench in front of her desk, thereby receiving their undivided attention. Drill them on work on blackboard one-half time allotted for recitation, then place work on blackboard for tomorrow by side of today's work and drill remainder of time allotted, send to seats and have them do the work on blackboard for tomorrow. Call second section to bench. They prepared work on blackboard at seats while first section recited. After demonstrating their work, drill in class on tomorrow's work same as with first section. Do some reviewing every day in every recitation from kindergarten up to and including high school. Children have a craving for work when it is presented to them in a simple, practical way.

They should be cut loose from school when it closes for the day, go home, play and enjoy wholesome recreation. My plan will keep pupils busy in school and eliminate home work for all pupils in all grades, and is just and fair to both children and parents.

JACOB L. KELLER.

"They Also Serve"

LOS ANGELES, May 8.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Mother's Day reminds us that everyone should mother something or some one. The Mother of Jesus is the greatest example of mothers, but the childless woman is no less a great mother who calls the unhappy under her wings, for protection, as did Jane Addams, the half-forsaken girls of Chicago. The mother hearts of the kind women in the orphan asylums or penitentary and reform school, that go out in loving sympathy to the girls and women in their charge, are truly to be honored on Mother's Day—and the mother hearts that have worked in politics, through the clubs, for the establishment of humane laws, in the behalf of children, women's better wage, and for the uplift of society, should also be remembered on this day.

BESSIE BOYLE CAMPBELL.

AMERICA'S SWEET TOOTH

These American people do purchase sweets. Statisticians of the Department of Commerce broadcast that in 1927 confectionery products were valued at $391,927,343, an increase of 3.4 per cent as compared with 1925. Salted nuts are classed as confectionery—their value in 1927 was $16,154,248, a little industry in itself. Chewing gum is not confectionery.

Catering to the American sweet tooth, 1908 establishments manufactured chocolates, bonbons, bars, hard candy, caramels, "chewy" pieces, gum drops, marshmallows, lozenges, fudge, starch-molded creams, pop corn balls or cakes, cake ornaments, salted nuts, stuffed dates and "related products."

These 1908 establishments had 63,163 wage earners in 1927, their aggregate wages totaling $56,980,548. Materials, containers, supplies, fuel and power cost $218,372,553. The value added by manufacture was $173,554,790. Bulk chocolates amounted to 189,783,407 pounds, and chocolates in fancy packages to 375,757,849 pounds, bars to 346,680,325 pounds and hard candy to 223,480,707 pounds.

MOTHERS AND FATHERS

BY W. L. Y. DAVIS

George J. Hecht, chairman of the board of editors of the Parents' Magazine, suggests that the name Mother's Day be changed to Parents' Day.

However, the hint seems to hang fire. There is no great enthusiasm manifest to shunt Mother's Day from its original purpose. As an institution, the day just sprang out of human experience and affection, and expresses the heart of humanity. People like Mother's Day just as it is.

This is not the first attempt to make dad an involuntary poacher upon mother's preserves. In scattered instances he has been given the first Sunday in June as his day; but he does not appear to make much use of it. It does not acquire a permanent place in the calendar. Every attempt thus far has been abortive: there is no demand for Dad's Day.

This is no disrespect to him; but as an institution he lacks poetry and sentiment. Pay day is his day. A day to celebrate must have imagination. No common deeds achieve holidays.

Father has his day. Memorial Day is father's day. It commemorates the heroes who gave their lives for their country. There is romance in that. The supreme sacrifice only can hallow a day. And this is not the only father's day. The year has a whole flock of fathers' days. Independence Day is a man's day. It flaunts its banners and rattles the arms of its heroes. A Molly Pitcher and an Abigail Adams may manage to squeeze in; but the number of women admitted to honor is limited. Thus far few mothers have felt called to share the day with father. They have felt honored to be daughters of the dads of that day.

Washington and Lincoln's birthdays are also he-men's anniversaries. The calendar is all cluttered up by fathers' days.

Why not let mother have one day?

There is mother's chair! It knew all the other worldly songs. A troubled dream in the night always set it going. It is vacant now; but it rocks in memory still. Its creaking melody is all woven about with lullabies as obbligatos. Until we found it empty, we were unconscious of its existence. It was a very strong chair. Against this bulwark every wave of childish sorrow broke. It was our first altar. Mother's lap was our first confessional. It was just high enough to bury our face there.

Father also had his chair; but it was different. It had no rockers. It stood firmly on the floor. That may have been necessary at times. Yet when father frowned, mother cried. His chair seemed stouter; but mother's chair lasts longer.

Then there is mother's Bible. Father's Bible opened at the hero stories; but mother's at the Psalms. Her Bible's back was almost broken in the middle. Indeed, some of the leaves are loose and try to meet you more than half way.

Why insist on mother sharing her day with father on Parents' Day? Why begrudge mother her one day?

WHERE CAN I LEARN
Reed Hand Craft?

BY LOUISE L. TEMPLE

[Prepared in co-operation with the Los Angeles evening high schools. Questions concerning free evening classes will be answered if stamped addressed envelope is inclosed. Address, Louise L. Temple, care of The Times.]

Rocking chairs, table lamps, fruit baskets, and clothes hampers are only a few of the beautiful and useful pieces of furniture being made by the students of Mrs. Ethel F. Wardrop's reed furniture and basket making class on Tuesday evenings, in room 135 of the Los Angeles Evening High School, 4600 Country Club Drive.

Members of the class are up-to-date, and their patterns conform to the highest requirements of modern art. Stick reed chairs, as well as woven ones, ferneries with arches to accommodate bird cages, end tables, book racks, wood baskets, sewing trays, and even cases for thermos bottles and vases, have already been completed, while as many equally interesting projects are under way.

There is room for a limited number of new students in the class. Instruction is free, but each student furnishes his or her own materials. Usually the material necessary for any article can be calculated as costing one-third of the retail price of the finished article.

THE LIGHTNING ROD WON

In the only competition known in which the utility of the elevator was weighed against that of the lightning rod, the lightning rod came out on top, according to early records of the American Philosophical Society, oldest learned society in the United States.

These records show that in 1792 two papers were submitted in competition for the Magellanic premium. One was entitled "A New Piece of Mechanism, Called the Elevator, Designed Principally for Lifting to Great Inaccessible Heights." The other described "The Improvement of Electrical Rods, or Lightning Conductors, by Pointing Them With Black Lead."

Strange as it may seem in the light of the present-day status of the two devices, the paper on the lightning rod won that year's premium. But the elevator was not to stay down for long. Two years later the elevator paper was rewarded, as is shown by the following paragraph from the society's minutes for December 26, 1794:

"The officers, having recommended the paper on the elevator, the votes were taken by ballot in its favour. The sealed letter containing the author's name was then opened, when it appeared that Nicholas Collins of Philadelphia was the author."

A PAPER AGE!

Few of us stop to think what an important part paper plays in the life of today, and to consider the great varieties of paper sent abroad in the world with messages of every kind, and the great care expended by those who know and love papers in the composition, the finishing, coloring and coating of papers demanded today. A "paper man," Miner Chipman, has this to say of paper: "Paper! From the clean, pure air of the northern woods the spruce and poplar comes—from the slums of the cities and poverty-ridden cities of India—the rags—to be cleansed and purified—the rags of beggars transformed into the substance of a gold note; the robes of heathen folks of Asia transformed into paper for Christian Bibles.

"As the telephone wire is to the transmission of a voice across a continent—so paper is to mankind in the passage of our thoughts across the oceans of the world, and across the interminable march of years. Paper!—our daily news of the world—our hours of leisure in book form—our business, our income, and our bills to be paid. Everywhere, touching our lives at every contact—paper."

ON BIGGER SCALE IN RUSSIA

The train for Russia draws in and I seek my compartment. Everything in Russia is larger than anywhere else in the world. The trains are longer and broader and the rails are laid two feet wider apart. The cars are like houses on wheels, and the compartments correspond in size. In mine there is a sofa, a table and movable polished mahogany chairs. The walls are hung with green silk damask and over the seats are shining white covers, quite newly laundered.

I go down through the train. The locomotive is monstrous in size; the wheels are two stories in height. But it has need of all its power, for it must run uninterruptedly for ten days; on the cars are the words: "Stolpce-Moscow-Vladivostock."—[Anker Kirkeby in Politiken.

WILLIAMS CASE INQUEST TODAY

Coroner Ready to "Satisfy" Skeptical Persons

Police Declare It Assured Victim Shot Self

They Discount Story About Miss Troxell's Friend

While police and Coroner's office officials expressed their convictions that Frank J. Williams, 45 years of age, a broker, shot and killed himself after firing a shot at Miss Peggy Troxell, which cost her the sight of her right eye, Coroner Nance announced yesterday that he has ordered an inquest at 10 a.m. today "to satisfy any persons who still believe that Williams was shot by some one else."

This decision was made, Nance stated, after the receipt of a telegram from the Chief of Police in San Diego which said in effect that a certain man, known to have been friendly with Miss Troxell, had disappeared from his regular work in San Diego the day before the shooting occurred here.

Chief Deputy Coroner MacDonald offset this suspicion by declaring that in all probability the Chief did not have knowledge of the fact that Williams was found still alive by Los Angeles detectives with a revolver clutched in his hand nor the fact that Miss Troxell, just after the shooting, declared to Helen Grant, in whose bungalow at 5368 Sunset Boulevard the tragedy occurred, that Williams had shot her.

Detectives who investigated the shooting still assert that all information obtained by them clearly shows that Williams, after obtaining permission to see Miss Troxell alone, shot her and then killed himself because of a disagreement which had arisen between the two a week before.

Funeral arrangements for Williams will be completed after the inquest. Miss Troxell was reported in an improved condition at the Sylvan Lodge Hospital yesterday.

NO HORSES FOR HOOVER

Roosevelt had his tennis cabinet, Wilson had his medicine cabinet, Harding had his golf cabinet, but it remained for Hoover to have a medicine-ball cabinet.

At any rate, the President has been observed on the south grounds of the White House, weather permitting, tossing a six-pound "pill" with gaunt Secretary of the Interior Wilbur, stodgy Supreme Court Justice Stone and pudgy Lawrence Ritchie, Presidential secretary. And three or four times a week Mr. Hoover is said to receive rough treatment from a certain professional masseur.

By abolishing the White House stables, little used since Roosevelt's day, Mr. Hoover shows that he does not intend to take to the saddle. It is really for economy that the six horses have been turned over to the Army. Taft's weight kept him from riding. Wilson and Harding rarely rode and Coolidge tried it once, but thereafter preferred the electric steed. One White House housekeeper used a carriage to go to market in, but outside of that the stables were little used. Their abandonment will save Uncle Sam $15,000 a year.

It remains to be seen whether Hoover's Cabinet is more partial to the medicine ball than to the hook and line. When the fishing season opens it is expected that Mr. Hoover will be among the first to try his luck.—[The Pathfinder.

ALLOWED FOUR WIVES

Most of the 2,000,000 Kurds in the Near East inhabit the eastern part of Turkey, says the National Geographic Society, although a few tribes are scattered over the northern part of Iraq and Western Persia. They have been influenced very little by other peoples. Now and then a Kurd will light his cigarette with a patent lighter instead of the old flint stone he once carried, and a few other modern devices have crept into his mountain village, but the close tribal life maintains the old racial customs.

"Under the Moslem law," to quote a Geographic bulletin, "the Kurd may take four wives. Wives are bought, so the peasant usually has only one. The chiefs take the full quota. Wives are priced according to their rank. The tribesman can get a wife in exchange for a pony or a goat, or one may cost him the equivalent of $2500. The wedding entails a season of merrymaking in which the whole tribe joins, but it takes less than a minute to dissolve a union. The man simply says 'I divorce you' three times and the parties are free."—[The Pathfinder.

WHERE SUCKERS THRIVE

We are inclined to think of the age of superstition, fortune telling and the like as belonging to a past age, but it is said that there are more fortune tellers, more so-called mind readers and the like than ever before. One prominent "gypsy" fortune teller in New York, sailing under the name of Princess Karina, admits that she was born in a little western town. She drifted into New York and thinks nothing of taking in $50 to $100 a day from well-to-do suckers who want their fortunes told. Stock brokers and even business men are on her sucker list. Mind readers flourish all over the country, although there is no such thing as one person reading the mind of another. If there were great criminals could be adjudged guilty or innocent of charges against them; murder mysteries might be solved and other great secrets exposed. But gullible people in great numbers continue to be separated from their hard-earned money by these professional mind readers and fortune tellers who prey on the weakness of human nature and man's failure to reason.—[Exchange.

CHURCHES HONOR MOTHERS

Services Tomorrow Will Be Devoted Largely to Paying Tribute to "Queen of the Home"

A democracy is a genuine success in proportion to the extent to which its citizens exemplify the qualities of true royalty. America has a king. He is neither in the White House nor in Wall street. The king of America is the American boy and last Sunday he was honored at all the churches in Los Angeles. Tomorrow the churches of the country will pay homage to another royal representative of the republic, the American mother.

Whatever may be said regarding the shortcomings of the "king," no decent man will dare utter a syllable against the virtue, the courage, the loyalty and love of the "queen of the home." Scores of Mother's Day programs, in which the boys and girls will participate, will feature the services tomorrow at Los Angeles churches and special seats will be reserved for mothers. Red carnations will be worn by all those whose mothers are on earth and white carnations by those whose mothers have crossed the ocean of time to the brighter shores of eternity.

Mother's Day will be observed by general communion among the Holy Name societies of Southern California. Every Catholic man and boy in the Southland will be invited to join the Holy Name members. Special functions, at which the mothers will be honored, are being sponsored by the Holy Name Society. Twelve new branches of the society will be established and, following the masses, the members will receive the pledge and obligations.

Another feature among many fine programs tomorrow will be the special ritualistic service to be conducted by the officers and members of Los Angeles Lodge of Elks, at Elks Temple at 12:30 p.m. This service is one of the most beautiful of the ceremonies conducted annually by the Elks. W. C. Simpson, past president of the California State Elks Association, will be the speaker. Charles J. O'Hara, Loyal Knight of the lodge, is chairman of the Mother's Day Committee. A musical program will be presented by Sibley G. Pease.

NEWS OF SOUTHERN COUNTIES

ORANGE COUNTY SEEKS INDUSTRY

Leaders Will Co-operate in Exhaustive Survey

Suggestions Made to Bring New Development

Los Angeles Representatives Offer Assistance

ANAHEIM, May 10. — Revealing plans for an industrial survey of Orange county to enable industries to make intelligent selections of sites, J. C. Bliss, chairman of the Orange County Associated Chambers of Commerce industrial committee, was host at the Elks' clubhouse here last night at a dinner for fifty Orange county and Los Angeles leaders.

"This survey must be practical," said the host, who was chairman of the meeting. "It must reveal the peculiar advantages of each community for a special industry. I believe that after the survey has been made the prime duty of the county will be to establish a zoning plan. After great smokestacks have reared themselves over a city it is too late to talk of zoning."

CHANGES PROPOSED

Among the plans for industrial development suggested were the following outstanding features:

Lotus H. Loudon, president of the Associated Chambers, proposed a fast train into Orange county from Los Angeles, similar to those which serve Long Island from New York City. This would bring Anaheim within thirty-five minutes' ride of Los Angeles, it was said.

W. C. Jerome, County Auditor, suggested a combined city-county government.

Thomas Talbert of Huntington Beach, former County Commissioner, declared that a coast line railroad, operated by all lines serving the district, is vital to the county's development. This line, Talbert suggested, should follow the coast from San Pedro southward, keeping inland about two miles.

GROWTH SIGHTED

Speaking on the Los Angeles Harbor and its place in the district's development, A. C. James of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, said:

"The problem confronting each community in Southern California is not one concerning its prosperity. Rather, it is a question of how it is to fit into the picture. For there is a sure and colossal development impending for this section."

Thomas Conway, representing the Santa Fe; Thomas Day, the Union Pacific System, and Joe Light, the Southern Pacific industrial department, each professed to see a glowing future for Orange county industrially. They urged the county to hasten the proposed survey.

HARMONY COMMENDED

"The survey you suggest will not be worth the paper it will be recorded on unless you keep it alive and active," W. H. Daum, Los Angeles industrial developer, declared. "The most encouraging sign I see here is the co-operation of all chambers of commerce in the county on one major project."

Walter Thornton, former Fullerton minister, spoke humorously on the development of the county. Thornton now is associated with a Los Angeles bond house.

Others introduced for brief remarks were W. J. Carmichael and Robert Strain, Fullerton; Thomas Pickerill, Placentia; E. R. Moore, Costa Mesa; H. H. Hammer, San Juan Capistrano, and B. H. Sutton, Brea. Ayers J. DuBois, director of the Los Angeles Realty Board, gave his prize-winning five-minute address on Los Angeles.

Business Head of School Quits

MONROVIA, May 10.—Members of the High School Board of Education accepted the resignation of B. L. Roberts, business manager of the board, last night. That no action will be taken to appoint a successor until a joint meeting is held, was voiced today by Supt. A. R. Clifton. Appointments are under consideration by members of both boards. Roberts, who held the position since the inception of the office a year ago February, resigned to take charge of a storage business in El Centro.

McKINLEY YOUTHS TO GIVE ANNUAL CIRCUS

CAHUENGA PARK, May 10.—The boys of the McKinley Industrial Home next Thursday will give their annual exhibit and circus, to which have been invited friends of the school living in San Fernando Valley. There will be a parade, antics of clowns and other circus features. There also will be a livestock show. Included in this will be showing boys in actual work in animal husbandry, shoe mending, agriculture, manual training and commercial work. Studies will be demonstrated in the class rooms. The circus will start at 1 a.m.

SUICIDE INQUEST CALLED

Coroner Will Investigate Death of Veteran Who Seized Ranger's Gun and Killed Himself

ALTADENA, May 10.—A Coroner's inquest into the death of Alexander Dallas, shell-shocked World War veteran, who snatched a revolver from a forest ranger's holster and fired a shot through his heart late yesterday at Valley Forge Camp, two miles north of Mt. Wilson, will be held Monday at the Coroner's office.

Deupties H. A. Parker and Frank White of the local Sheriff's substation, investigated the tragedy. They reported that it took them more than two hours to carry the body over a steep mountain trail to Opid's Camp late last night.

While Glenn Moore, San Gabriel Peak ranger, was loosening the straps of his burro's pack, Dallas walked up behind him and seized his automatic, according to the deputies. Before Moore could interfere, the veteran fired, killing himself instantly.

Dallas is asserted to have threatened to take his life because of ill health.

COAST DEFENSE GUNS ROAR AT SAN DIEGO

SAN DIEGO, May 10.—The guns of Fort Rosecrans spoke today for the first time in several years as the firing of twenty-eight rounds of service charges from the fort's twelve-inch mortars was commenced at 9:45 a.m. The target practice scheduled to be completed about noon was delayed for an hour, due to the passing of ships through the target area west of Point Loma.

The firing of the big guns is reported to have caused practically no annoyance, and but little vibration was noticed here. The area involved in the firing extended seaward ten miles from Point Loma and was bounded on the south by a parallel through Point Loma light, and on the north by a parallel through the theosophical headquarters.

A row of targets was towed by an army tug approximately 11,000 yards at sea. The twelve-inch mortars were manned by two batteries of the Third Coast Artillery from Fort McArthur, San Pedro.

HOPE OF ALCHEMIST TOLD

Dr. Smythe Demonstrates Marvelous Properties of Radium at Pasadena Institute

PASADENA, May 10.—Properties of radium which lead scientists to believe that at some distant time man may have the power of changing other substances into gold were discussed tonight by Dr. W. R. Smythe, who delivered the weekly demonstration lecture at the California Institute of Technology.

The speaker sketched the history of the discovery of radium and performed an experiment which made it possible for the audience to see the actual path of a single alpha ray from radium through matter.

The fact that radium is actually disintegrating and changing its form was proved with the aid of an intricate apparatus. Although the particles that fly into space are so minute that it takes more than 1000 years for a small body of the precious element to disappear, the audience was able to hear each particle leave the parent body with the aid of a powerful loud speaker.

LONG BEACH COURT IN NEW QUARTERS

LONG BEACH, May 10.—Department B of the Superior Court concluded nearly four years of sessions in the City Hall this afternoon when county officials started moving furniture to the Jergins Trust Building, now quarters for the county offices and courts. The court and the branch offices of the County Clerk's office will resume business in the new quarters Monday. All other branches of the Superior Court and county offices have been in the Jergins Building for several weeks. Dedication exercises will be held in the new building the 25th inst. with State, judiciary and county leaders in attendance.

RADFORD CHOSEN AS SCOUT EXECUTIVE

MONROVIA, May 10.—Robert T. Radford has been elected as general financial manager of the Monrovia-Duarte Scout District, now in the stages of organization, it was announced today following a meeting of representatives from Monrovia service clubs, American Legion and fraternal groups with members of the local Scout organization. General plans were adopted and will be presented before each organization by its representative. Joseph Howe, president of the Pasadena-San Gabriel Valley Council, pledged the assistance of the entire council and members of his staff in any service they might render to the local district.

WELLES TO DIRECT PASADENA CHEST

PASADENA, May 10.—Robert Welles of Altadena, was elected president of the Pasadena Community Chest at the annual meeting yesterday. He succeeds Franklin Thomas of the California Institute of Technology. Prof. Thomas was named first vice-president and Mrs. Myron Hunt second vice-president. The following other officers were re-elected: George P. Whittlesey, secretary; J. E. Nissley, executive secretary; W. R. Scoville, treasurer, and Carl Z. Jackson, assistant treasurer. Alexander Davidson, who led the successful Chest campaign this year, was named chairman of the campaign executive committee for the next year

MRS. BRANNON BADLY INJURED IN CRASH

BELL, May 10. — Mrs. Jennie Brannon of 4439 Metler street, Los Angeles, is suffering from serious injuries in the Corby Hospital here, as the result of a collision Wednesday evening between a La Habra Pacific Electric car and an automobile occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Brannon and Mrs. Blanche Stati of Fort Worth, Tex.

All three were taken to the hospital here and Mrs. Stati succumbed to her injuries yesterday. It was erroneously first reported that Mrs. Brannon had died.

DRAIN FUND ORDERED

LONG BEACH, May 10.—Municipal aid of $100,000 toward the cost of the $1,000,000 Oregon-avenue storm drain was voted by the City Council today. The drain will handle surface water in a large area in the northern and northeastern sections of the city.

STATEGROUP AT AVOCADO SHOW TODAY

Whittier Exposition to Close Sixth Event on Tomorrow Evening

WHITTIER, May 10.—The land where the avocado loves to grow, the epicures and others who love to eat the delicious fruit, and the broadcasting station that tells the world about this semitropic fruit, all had their innings today at the Sixth Annual California Avocado Show here. Today was La Habra, Wholesale Breakfast Food Club and KMTR combined.

There are two innovations at the show this year, one is the run on Sunday, which will allow many who are employed during the week to visit the exposition. Another is taking of the show to ample ground. Twenty - three acres on Whittier Boulevard give ample space for the exhibit tent, the concessions and auto parking.

APPOINTMENT STARTS SCRAP

Temple City Group Opposes Dismissal of Powles

Two Persons Claim Position at Head of Schools

Mabel Willebrandt's Father Leads Dissenters

TEMPLE CITY, May 10.—Confronted by the prospect of having two district school superintendents for the coming year, a group of citizens here has organized the South Santa Anita Taxpayers' Association for the purpose, it is said, of fighting the action of the present School Board in discharging F. Stanley Powles as superintendent and appointing Miss Margaret Tindall to the position.

D. W. Walker, father of Mabel Walker Willebrandt, assistant United States Attorney-General, was chairman of a mass meeting held last night to organize the association. A committee consisting of A. E. Williams, W. T. Shepard, George Rogers, C. J. Richards, B. K. Wilson and F. L. Howland, was appointed to lead the campaign against the actions of the board and to secure a large attendance of citizens at the next board meeting Monday night.

The association members, it is understood, will demand that the board explain their action in rescinding a previous invitation extended to Powles to remain in office, an invitation which Powles is asserted to have accepted.

This invitation was voted by the old School Board at a meeting in April just before the officials went out of office. The new board, consisting of William C. Barnett, president; Fred C. Melin and Donald F. Chapin, did not favor Powles and proceeded to engage Miss Tindall.

VALLEY MUSICIANS IN FIESTA SUNDAY

Mrs. Fred A. Kellogg
Of Van Nuys, president of the San Fernando Valley Music Association.

SAN FERNANDO, May 8.—Presenting almost 200 valley musicians in its choruses, bands and ensembles a music festival program will take place, Sunday from 2 to 5 p.m. at Brand Park, here, near San Fernando Mission, under the auspices of the San Fernando Valley Music Association, organized a few months ago with Mrs. Fred A. Kellogg as president.

Flanked by two huge pepper trees a stage will be constructed a few rods from the historic old Mission San Fernando Rey de Espana, in the setting of Memory Gardens.

Such an occasion on a valley-wide scale is an innovation in San Fernando Valley and is planned by the music association to pave the way to great pageants and fiestas in succeeding years that will revive the color and romantic history of early days of the Mission.

Men in charge of arrangements are W. E. Bechtelheimer of Owensmouth, festival manager, and John L. Kirkham, chairman of the men's committee, in conjunction with the Chamber of Commerce here of which Charles H. Temple is president. Festival headquarters are 27 Provident Building, the office of Grace Rankin, secretary of the association.

Representation of every portion of the valley on the program has been the object of the committee under the chairmanship of Mrs. Hazel C. Penny of Van Nuys aided by prominent women who represent the various valley towns on the executive board. The program is in four sections. There is no admittance charge.

CANYON ROAD FETE TODAY

Barbecue Celebration of Ground-Breaking on New San Juan Capistrano-Elsinore Highway

SAN JUAN HOT SPRINGS, May 10.—Expected to attract 1000 visitors from all parts of Orange, Los Angeles and Riverside counties, a celebration, harking back to the days of the Dons and featured by a barbecue prepared by Don Juan Forster, will be held here tomorrow, when ground is broken for the first section of the San Juan Capistrano-Elsinore road.

A delegation of 200 men and women from Elsinore alone has notified officials of the fete that they would attend. Members of the Orange County Board of Supervisors and other representatives of the county's official life will be present.

Fred Stoffel, member of the San Juan Capistrano Chamber of Commerce road committee; Father O'Sullivan of the Mission San Juan Capistrano, and George E. Jeffrey, Orange County Supervisor, representing the district, will officiate at ground-breaking ceremonies in connection with beginning of work on the initial section of road, a contract for which, at approximately $50,000, was recently awarded by Orange county.

Father O'Sullivan, in the course of an address, will suggest that the road be named the Ortega highway, in honor of Don Jose Francisco Ortega, a member of Portola's band of Spanish explorers, who about 1769, was said to have been the first white man to enter San Juan Canyon, which he penetrated a distance of five miles.

Following the ceremonies, a program, in charge of Stoffell and Ferris F. Kelley, will be held. This will consist of athletic events and music by Jose Arias's Spanish orchestra from Los Angeles.

James D. Lehigh of Elsinore, wealthy property owner and developer and one of the principal Riverside county proponents of the new canyon highway, will give an address. Other speakers will include T. B. Talbert of Huntington Beach, former chairman of the Orange County Board of Supervisors; Supervisor George Jeffrey, one of the principal Orange county supporters of the highway, and others.

SEWER PROJECT STARTED AGAIN

Six San Gabriel Cities in New District 7

Other Communities Dropped as Delays Urged

Engineer Warren Discusses History of Plan

MONTEREY PARK, May 10.—Tentative plans for the reorganization of Metropolitan Sewer District No. 7 were made at a meeting here last night when representatives of ten San Gabriel Valley communities discussed the big outfall-sewer project sponsored by the County Sanitation Department.

The new district will include Monterey Park, San Gabriel, Wilmar, Azusa, Glendora and Covina, according to present plans. The cities of Alhambra, South Pasadena, El Monte and Rosemead, which were in the original district, will be excluded.

Alhambra was voted out when Otto N. Rugen, city engineer and official representative of the Alhambra City Commission, declared his city wanted more information on the probable costs, plans for the outfall and other data for comparison with the present treatment plant system.

C. E. Clough, South Pasadena city engineer, took the same stand. Mayor Charles H. Baker of El Monte said his city would not come into the district without more complete information on the project, as did also E. D. McSweeney of the Rosemead Chamber of Commerce.

Representatives of Wilmar, San Gabriel, Covina, Glendora, Monterey Park and Azusa proceeded to organize the district, with Louis J. Matthews of Covina, president of the San Gabriel Valley Development Association, taking the lead.

"This group of communities," he declared, "must have the courage to form the district immediately without waiting for the doubtful cities which were given the choice of an affirmative or a negative vote."

County Sanitation Engineer A. K. Warren explained the history of the outfall system and stated that a permit had been issued by the State Board of Health for the White Point ocean outlet.

Planes to Take Part in Program Memorial Day

CHATSWORTH, May 10.—Municipal Judge R. Morgan Galbreth of Los Angeles, past department commander of the United Spanish War Veterans and judge of the Municipal Court of Los Angeles, will be principal speaker at the third annual San Fernando Valley Memorial Day exercises that will be conducted at Oakwood Cemetery on the 30th inst.

The ceremonies will be staged under the auspices of the San Fernando Valley camp of the veterans, it was announced today. East year several thousand persons attended the exercises. The American Legion and the Spanish War veterans each have memorial plots in the cemterey, and the auxiliaries of the two bodies will decorate graves.

Boy Scouts will be in charge of traffic arrangements and aviators from the Metropolitan Airport near Van Nuys will fly over the gathering and shower down flowers while the program is in progress.

Belgrano Cites Legion Growth

REDLANDS, May 10.—The American Legion will have 50,000 members by the time of the State convention at San Diego in August, Frank N. Belgrano Jr., of San Francisco, State Commander, told Legion men of Redlands, Riverside and San Bernardino, gathered here at the Legion Club today. "The Legion program is one to challenge any organization. It can be carried out only with man power and man power means membership," he said.

Belgrano's address included an appeal for law observance, national preparedness, preservation of peace and consideration for disabled war veterans and World War orphans.

Belgrano went from here to San Bernardino for a conference and from there he starts east to attend a conference of State commanders regarding the national convention.

CHANNEL PLANNED TO FIGHT FLOOD PERIL

GLENDALE COUNCIL WILL ASK COUNTY TO LEND AID IN CONTROLLING RUN-OFF

GLENDALE, May 10.—Emergency measures to relieve the flood menace in Northwest Glendale were taken at a special meeting of the City Council today, to be followed by additional action that will provide permanent relief from the waters that rush down from the mountains after every rain.

The Council will ask for financial aid from county authorities, as the flood waters originate in county territory that was burned over in the Verdugo Hills over a year ago, and the City Engineer has been instructed to prepare plans and estimates at once.

The plans, as outlined, call for the construction of a concrete channel in Brand Canyon and realignment of the channel on Allen avenue at Mountain street, and desilting basins in the hills to supplement the work of the present check dams. It is estimated that three acres will be required as a site for the desilting basin and the cost of maintaining the basin and keeping it free of debris during the rainy season would be included in the estimates.

CLUB KEEPER MAY ESCAPE CONVICTION

Manslaughter Reversal Fails to Direct Second Trial, Prosecutor Says

SANTA ANA, May 10.—Because the District Court of Appeals, which reversed the manslaughter conviction of John W. Montgomery, California Gun Club keeper, did not remand him for a new trial, the slayer of Orlie R. Mahon and John D. Callicott, Sunset Beach duck hunters, will go free without a second trial, according to Dist.-Atty. Z. B. West, Jr.

Since the higher court did not order a new trial, Superior Court has lost its jurisdiction in the case and cannot prosecute further, West said.

The reversal of Montgomery's conviction was based, in the Appellate Court opinion, upon insufficiency of evidence against the gamekeeper, who was the only surviving eyewitness of the double killing, and who declared he shot in self-defense, after both hunters shot at him.

Woman's Death Attributed to Jolt by Auto

UPLAND, May 10. — Tragedy brought to an abrupt end this morning an automobile tour planned by Mr. and Mrs. George H. Stubbs of Whittier and Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Brown of Long Beach, which was to take them to the East for an extended visit with relatives. The automobile carrying the four persons struck a slight dip at Ninth street and Campus avenue, throwing the women in the rear seat from the cushion. The jolt is presumed to have caused a heart attack for Mrs. Stubbs and she died a few moments later.

Mrs. Stubbs had lived in Whittier nineteen years. Physicians pronounced the death caused by heart failure. None of the occupants was thrown about with sufficient violence to cause them injury, it was declared after investigation of the tragedy. J. B. Draper company of Ontario took charge of the body.

Objections to Campers Raised

VENTURA, May 10.—State inspection of sanitary conditions in Foster Park is expected by Myles Robinson, city water superintendent, next week, he said today, following a trip to Los Angeles to confer with State sanitation engineers regarding the campers who are asking permission to put in chemical toilets, cesspools and septic tanks in the park.

The question of allowing camping in the park above the dam was brought to the attention of the Board of Supervisors this week by Robinson, who asked that it be forbidden. The board already had considered allowing campers, some of whom have put in flimsy structures above the dam, to put in chemical toilets. Robinson, however, objected to this on the ground that it protected only the campers and did not take sufficient cognizance of the city lying below the dam and dependent upon it for water supply.

The board took no action on Robinson's reply, but apparently preferred to await a State recommendation.

PALA INDIANS PLAN FIESTAS

Corpus Christi Celebration Set for June 2

San Antonio de Pala to Be Honored June 16

Historic Mission Scene of Primitive Rites

PALA, May 10.—Invitation to attend two fiestas conducted in the manner of California's old mission days was issued today to the public by Father Ignatius, pastor of the Pala Mission. This mission, founded 113 years ago, has the distinction of being the only one in California located on an Indian reservation. The Indians of the Pala reservation preserve all the simple reverence and historical atmosphere of old California in their modern festivals.

On Sunday, June 2, the communicants celebrate the Fiesta of Corpus Christi. In the park outside the mission a solemn high mass beginning at 10:30 a.m. will be celebrated by brown-robed Franciscans, with the Indian choir chanting. Indian boys will serve and Indian maids will strew flowers in the path of the procession. Red men from other reservations, bearing banners of their patron saints, will join the solemn, picturesque procession which will move through the native village. At three altars built under ramadas benediction will be given. Following this comes the feast, barbecue, races and Indian dances. Tortillas and tamales will be served by Indian women under the ramadas.

On Sunday, June 16, a similar fiesta is to be held in honor of the patron saint, San Antonio de Pala, with mass at 10 a.m.

San Antonio de Pala was founded in 1816 by Padre Antonio Peyri, Franciscan companion of Father Junipero Serra. The picturesque Indian village nestles in the shadow of the mission, and about 200 descendants of the Mission Indians worship here. Pala is 110 miles from Los Angeles, twenty-five miles inland from Oceanside, and can be reached by motor via Elsinore or by shore route to Oceanside and then inland.

Boxing Benefit Scheduled for Glider Victim

SANTA MONICA, May 10.—Sympathy for Paul D. Chamberlain, glider pilot who was badly injured last Sunday, when his tiny craft crashed during an experimental hop-off, has led to arrangements for a benefit for the young mechanic and his family.

Chamberlain was removed from the Santa Monica Hospital to the County Hospital today, where he will be confined several months. An expert mechanic, according to Clover Field flyers, he devoted many months exclusively to glider building and flying. Just when financial success seemed within his grasp, friends declared, the crash which wrecked his glider and almost cost Chamberlain his life, came to exhaust his depleted capital.

Claude Bridge, manager of the Ocean Park Boxing Arena, announced today he would put on a boxing card for the benefit of the unfortunate glider, his wife and children.

Drivers Blamed in Fatal Crash

ALHAMBRA, May 10.—A Coroner's jury, at an inquest today in the deaths of three Japanese in a collision of two automobiles near here yesterday, returned a verdict that the accident was due to negligence on the part of both drivers. The crash occurred at the intersection of Duarte Road and [illegible] avenue, a car driven by Tadasu Tateisha, 17-year-old South Pasadena High School boy, crashing into a machine driven by Mrs. [illegible] Fitzsimmons of Sierra Madre. The boy, his mother, Mrs. Mary [illegible] Tateisha, 45, and his sister, Margaret Tateisha, 14, were killed. Mrs. Fitzsimmons and her three small children sustained minor injuries.

Police testified that the brakes on the car occupied by the Japanese were defective. Mrs. Fitzsimmons said that she did not observe the other car until too late to avoid the collision, a large palm tree obstructing her view of the crossing. She testified that she was traveling about fifteen miles an hour. The bodies of the three victims, who lived in Arcadia, were taken today to Los Angeles for burial.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope, forwarded to this office, will bring a personal reply. This department offers leaflets on weaning and feeding the child from 6 weeks to 6 years, prenatal care and diet for the nursing mother, constipation, eczema, outfits for the new baby, sleeping, walking, teething, thumb-sucking, ammoniacal urine, bed wetting, training in cleanly habits, periods of nursing, cod liver oil, orange juice, hives, worms, vomiting, refractory children, prune juice, lime water, rupture, styes and boils and cradle cap. Before asking a personal question about one of these subjects, it is better to send a self-addressed stamped envelope for the leaflet you need. If your particular problem is not covered in the above list, Mrs. Eldred will be glad to give you a personal reply.

FAVORITISM MAKES FOR FAMILY QUARRELS

It is difficult for parents not to show favoritism, however vigorously they may deny this accusation. It isn't favoritism, they assert, that makes them keep silent when Johnny demands and gets the wagon away from his weaker sister; not favoritism when they smack Sue good and hard because she insisted on having her own paints instead of letting baby throw them around the room as he is intent on doing.

One reader wrote me of an exaggerated case of favoritism in which an older boy was given all the treats and all the favors in the family because unless he got them he made everyone miserable by his temper tantrums. The younger sister being good-natured and pliable had to "give in" always. If sister tried to play with a common toy she had to give it up. If she sat in a chair which he preferred (and he often preferred it only because she was sitting in it) she immediately had to change chairs.

Each Victory Hurts Spoiled Child

The results of such ill-won victories, when the partial parent takes a hand in upholding the boy's demands, are just so many spurs to more and more selfish demands. His wants and desires must be gratified because otherwise the household is made miserable. But what about the other child, she who has to give in? She will shortly discover that having a temper tantrum is an excellent method of getting one's own way. She will learn to pull at toys and scream until she gets what she wants. The outcome of such behavior is evident. The home will become a bedlam. Each day will see the development of a screaming contest, in which the one with the loudest lungs is victorious. Then the mother throws up her hands in despair. How can she manage such children when neither will ever give in?

Make Rules—and Keep Them

In every household there should be ironclad rules that hold for baby as well as the older child. Each has his own toys. Common toys must be shared, and they cannot be taken from a child so long as he is using them. Chairs, the property of the whole family, are the property of none. If sister is using a chair she can use it unmolested. If brother wants it he can have it at the next meal, provided he thinks of it in time. If this doesn't work, paste the child's name on the back of his own chair and insist that he use that and that only.

Things seldom reach such a hideous state in a family if the children have been used to fair treatment. We can't blame the older child for rebelling when he has to constantly give in to a "grabby" younger child, just because the child is younger. Age doesn't count, for if there is a real difference in ages, the older child's toys will not be similar to the younger one's and each should have his own toys to use without fear they will be snatched from him.

The only methods which develop unselfishness in families is to enforce each child's rights to his own things. Then, after having enjoyed possession, he goes on to the next step and enjoys sharing them. He never learns this joy when it is forced upon him at a stage when he is not ready for it.

HEALTH and DIET ADVICE

by Dr Frank McCoy

author of "The Fast Way to Health"

Dr. McCoy will answer personal questions on health and diet, addressed to him, care of the Los Angeles Times. Inclose stamped, addressed envelope for reply.

GOOD MOTHERS

"What is wanting," said Napoleon one day to Mme. Campan, "in order that the youth of France be well educated?" "Good mothers," was the reply. The Emperor was most forcibly struck with this answer. "Here," said he, "is a system in one word."

We are coming more and more to realize that early home training is the most important factor which controls the development of character and ability in later life. The close attachment of the child to its mother and, therefore, close association, makes the mother's duty and responsibility of vital importance.

The mother who is well-educated can no doubt assist a great deal in the child's education, but perhaps the most important requirement for the mother to have in this new age is a knowledge of the newer facts of child psychology and information regarding the simple healthful habits for a child.

The good mother of today knows that fear should play no part in the child's training, and that love is the greatest force which she has at her disposal. The old negative command, "Don't do this, because it will hurt you," should give way to the newer, positive one, "Do this, because it is good for you."

The good mother should never be untruthful to her child. Lying and deceit should have no part in the child's training.

How easily the child learns of the seemingly good results which often come from telling a lie. He learns to get what he wants, and to avoid punishment in this way. Teaching the child to lie by example is giving him a real force to use which will always, in the end, bring about disastrous consequences.

The good mother will not teach her child to exaggerate those things which she considers either good or bad. It is so important that the child learn to put the proper emphasis upon important things, but without exaggeration.

The good mother must feel her responsibility in teaching her child how to form good eating habits. This, again, can best be done by the priceless training of setting a good example. There is little difference between the kind of food which the mother and child should use, but if certain food is bad for the child, it will also be bad for the mother. The admonition that such and such food is "not good for little children" doesn't carry much weight when the child sees his mother eating the same unwholesome food.

The good mother will encourage her child to play vigorous, healthful games and not coddle him too much with fear of possible injury which probably would not happen and from which he would doubtless recover just as other children do.

The good mother will show her deep interest in her child's education by studying along with him as much as possible, trying to keep at least a little ahead so that her council and advice will be respected.

The good mother should take advantage of all of the wonderful ideas which are being developed by the teachers of child psychology.

The good mother of today can learn all of the clever little tricks with which it is so easy to influence the immature mind of the child.

Nagging, bullying, fault-finding and training with "don'ts" should be replaced by the helpful teaching which can only come from a study of those newer methods employed by the thousands of teachers of child psychology who are devoting their lives to this work.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Nightmares

Question: W. W. writes: "I have a brother who raves every night—jumps out of his sleep screaming that someone is going to kill him. I have taken him to several doctors, had his adenoids and tonsils removed, which the doctors told me was the cause. He is about 24 years of age, his work is not hard, and he does not eat on going to bed. What should be done, as I am afraid he will be killed in a fall through the window?"

Answer: Your brother no doubt suffers from indigestion from eating the wrong kind of food or wrong combinations of food at his evening meal. It takes about six hours to digest a well-balanced meal, and if he is making dietetic errors he is liable to have the most trouble from five to ten hours after eating dinner. Nightmares occur at from 1 to 2 o'clock in the morning, after the stomach has become exhausted through hours of battling with incompatible food mixtures.

SULPHURED FRUITS

Q.: R. H. S. asks: "Is sulphur, used in the drying of fruits, injurious to one's health? How can it be removed? Why is sulphur used for this purpose?"

A.: It is better to use fruits which have not been prepared by sulphur fumes, as this method often leaves the fruits containing some sulphuric acid which is injurious. Most dried fruits are not prepared in this manner at the present time. The sulphur was formerly used to kill the worms and eggs which might be in the fruit, and also for bleaching purposes.

CALLOUS BEHIND EARS

Q.: Miss G. C. writes: "I have a callous behind my ear and it is very painful. It is caused from wearing glasses. I will appreciate it if you will tell me a way to cure this."

A.: You will probably have to get new bows that do not press on the particular spot where the callous is at present. Possibly some local treatments by a doctor who uses actenic light would be beneficial.

Place over this a layer of sliced hard-boiled eggs, and a layer of well-drained crushed pineapple, cover with finely grated bread crumbs, and add one cupful of sauce, that has been made from the fish stock. When half-cooked, add one slice of lemon, two whole cloves, a small piece of cinnamon, and a fourth of a teaspoonful of nutmeg, strain through a cloth, return to the fire, bring the juice to a boil, add the gelatine and stir until dissolved; add the sugar, pour into a mold that has been wet with cold water, place in the refrigerator until solid. Remove from the mold, garnish with whole berries, and pecan meats. Serve with whipped cream.

Two bananas, three oranges, one cupful of peanuts, remove the skin from the bananas, scrape, and cut in quarters, lengthwise, and then in thirds crosswise, squeeze a little lemon juice over them, roll in the finely chopped peanuts, peel the orange, cut in round slices, cut out a small hole in the center and insert a piece of banana in each slice. Arrange on a bed of lettuce and serve with a French dressing.

PALOMBO CASE NEAR JURY STAGE

Arguments Expected to be Concluded Late Monday or Early Tuesday

Arguments were resumed yesterday in Judge Fricke's court in the case of Mike Pupillo, Domenic De Ciolla and Vita Ardito, charged with the murder last July of August Palombo, asserted bootlegger.

Dep. Dist.-Atty. Clarke concluded the opening plea for the State during the morning session, while William T. Kendrick, Jr., made the opening argument for the defense during the afternoon.

William T. Kendrick, Sr., is scheduled to close Monday for the defense and Dep. Dist.-Atty. Menzies will follow with the prosecution's concluding plea. The case may go to the jury late Monday or Tuesday morning.

The three defendants are charged with having shot Palombo from an armored automobile while Palombo was parking his car in the 2200 block on Hillcrest avenue, the night of July 18. Pupillo and Ardito sought to establish an alibi that they were in their restaurants the night of the shooting, while testimony in behalf of De Ciolla was designed to show that he was entertaining a party at his home.

Parker, legal representative of Tom Mix, saddle hero of screen stories, yesterday appeared before Clerk Zimmerman of the United States District Court and furnished bail for Mix and Eugene J. Forde, brother-in-law and once business manager for Mix.

Mix and Forde are accused of conspiracy to defraud the government of $75,967.45 in connection with the income tax of Mix for a period of two years. Mix now is in Minnesota appearing in a circus, it is reported.

Others indicted with Mix are J. Marjorie Berger, income tax adviser, and John D. Hill, formerly publicity man for Mix. Miss Berger now is at liberty on bail furnished in another accusation against her.

Jury Convicts Spaniard in Double Slaying

Alfonzo V. De Toro, venerable Spaniard, yesterday was convicted in Superior Judge Wood's court of two counts of first-degree murder in the slaying on February 27, last, of his wife and Anita C. Beltran, his step-daughter.

The jury required four hours to reach its verdict and recommended life imprisonment. The State had asked the death penalty.

Judge Wood continued the case to next Monday, when a hearing will be conducted as to De Toro's sanity.

Sisters in Court for Inheritance

Harriet Peterson Garey and her sister, Ruth Peterson, appeared in Superior Judge Crail's court yesterday to satisfy legal technicalities surrounding the inheritance of the two young women.

Miss Peterson, being only 16 years of age, her sister was appointed her legal guardian so she could receive her share of an estate left by Mrs. Clarissa I. McGradey, a great aunt, who died in Rochester, N. Y. Attorney R. L. McNitt requested the guardianship order.

AUDIT OF COUNTY BOOKS TO COST MORE THIS YEAR

Grand jury auditing of county books will cost Los Angeles county $46,000 this year, instead of $40,000, last year's expense, it was revealed yesterday when a $6000 warrant in favor of A. D. McLeod, a certified public accountant, went through the County Auditor's office. In addition to this $6000 payment, contracts have been executed between Mr. McLeod and the County Board of Supervisors, which call for a payment of $40,000 more, $35,000 for auditing the regular county books, and $5000 for work on flood control books.

The contract was signed by Superior Judge Doran and grand jury officials, as well as by the Supervisors. It provides that no person working on the special audit be paid less than $2 a day, and that if any auditor work on books more than eight hours a day, the auditor remit $10 a day to the county as a penalty.

The grand jury audit for 1928 was done by the firm of Price Waterhouse & Co. No bids were asked or received for the work, as officials say the statute does not provide for that method of letting the contract. It is customary for members of the grand jury to take a vote to decide which firm of accountants they will designate for the work.

Leader Names Jewish Appeal Vice-Chairman

The leading figures in the Jewish community are being enrolled as officers in the United Jewish Welfare Fund appeal for $200,000, for the relief and reconstruction of numerous Jewish national and international institutions, according to Irving H. Hellman, campaign chairman. Mr. Hellman yesterday announced the appointment of Lester Roth, attorney, as vice-chairman.

LESTER ROTH

Mr. Roth, on accepting, urged every element in the Jewish community to aid the philanthropic task.

The United Jewish Welfare Fund is a permanent body created for an equitable distribution of funds to all Jewish causes not supported by the Community Chest.

Child's Screams Bring Seizure of Attack Suspect

Attracted by the screams of Maxine Lierman, 12 years of age, of 1421 Griffith avenue, Ernest Beraenseldt of 1456 Griffith avenue aided police yesterday morning in the capture of Charles Tutt, 52, a negro, who, police say, chased the girl in an attempt to attack her.

The chase and subsequent capture took place near the girl's home. She said the negro walked out from between two houses and made an effort to force her into a conversation. Frightened, she ran. As the negro took after her she screamed. Beraenseldt, hearing her cries for help, ran to her assistance. Tutt, it was stated, fled into an alley nearby where he was captured a few minutes afterward by Beraenseldt and police officers. He was taken to the Newton street station jail.

Children Given Party by Espee

Crippled children at the Los Angeles Orthopaedic Hospital were guests of the Southern Pacific Company yesterday at a birthday party given at the hospital in honor of the company's sixtieth anniversary.

A 130-pound specially baked and decorated cake, presented on behalf of the company, was served by Mrs. Sarah Pratt Carr, author, a daughter of F. S. Pratt, who had charge of wagon roads over which materials and supplies were hauled for Central Pacific construction gangs working to complete the western link of the first transcontinental railroad.

F. H. Pierce, 80-year-old retired railroad conductor and spectator at the driving of the golden spike, May 10, 1869, the ceremony marking completion of the first transcontinental railroad, told of the historic scene.

Chefs to Have Mayor as Guest

More than sixty waiters and scores of cooks, under direction of Alphonse Strahl, have been in training for the last week, preparing to serve the hundreds of members and friends of the Los Angeles Chef des Cuisine Association which will give its annual ball and banquet at the Ambassador this evening.

Mayor Cryer and many other city officials will be present. The entertainment includes a program by Harry Jacobson and the Pig'n Whistle entertainers and Art Feigl, cartoonist. Ethelwyn Clair, Wampas Baby star, will present a silver cup to the two best dancers.

Henry Bassetti will supervise the work in the kitchen. Otto Hoog, chef of the Jonathan Club, will be chairman.

"Five and Ten" Law Violator Sent to Jail

On his statement that he had been bootlegging, Thomas Kervin yesterday was sentenced to five months in the Fresno County Jail by United States District Judge Henning for transportation of liquor in violation of the Jones "five-and-ten" law.

The asserted violator also was fined $500 on a second charge of possession of liquor. Kervin was arrested last month by a prohibition agent, who said he found fifty gallons of liquor in his automobile.

POET ADDRESSES CLUB

James W. Foley, Southern California poet and philosopher, was the speaker at yesterday's luncheon of the Los Angeles Exchange Club at the Biltmore. His topic was "Just Rambling Along." J. Clay Thomas of the Schwabacher-Frey Stationery Company was chairman of the day. His wife, Mrs. Maybelle Thompson Thomas, contralto, entertained with a musical program.

Train Derailed With None Hurt; Quiz Set Today

The value of heavy steel construction and modern railroad safety facilities were illustrated yesterday morning near Kelso, when the baggage car and five following coaches on the westbound Los Angeles Limited derailed. Engineer O. L. Peiffer sensed that something was amiss and applied the brakes, bringing the heavy train to a halt within its own length.

No one was injured and smashed ties and several twisted rails represented the damage. Cause of the derailment last night was under investigation by company officials. Passengers were taken back to Kelso, seven miles, and transferred to the Gold Coast Limited and sent on to their destinations. Eastbound trains were not delayed. Formal investigation will be made at a hearing in Kelso today.

Judges to See Boulder Dam Site From Air

Superior Judges Guerin and Craig will be up in the air today, not, however, over any lawsuit decision they are struggling with, but literally. They will make a trip by airplane over the Boulder dam site.

The judges will be the guests of F. B. Keelen, former associate of the late Senator William Clarke. In the party also will be J. B. Reed, vice-president, and Thomas Giffen, assistant sales manager of the Rio Grande Oil Company; Dep. Dist.-Atty. George Bush, Hunter Clark of the City Bureau of Water and Power, and a staff representative of The Times.

The trip is to be made in a large three-motored Fokker plane, which will take off from the Van Nuys Airport at 8 a.m. today for Las Vegas, Nev. At Las Vegas the Los Angeles party will be met by representatives of the chambers of commerce of Las Vegas and Salt Lake City.

The object of the trip is to aid in the effort to familiarize public officials and financiers of Los Angeles with the Boulder dam project at close range.

VETERANS' CHIEFTAIN TO VISIT CITY TUESDAY

W. L. Grayson, commander-in-chief of the United Spanish War Veterans, will arrive in Los Angeles from Sacramento Tuesday, it was announced yesterday by E. Earle Greene, aide to the commander. In the afternoon he will visit and inspect the Soldiers' Home at Sawtelle and in the evening will be tendered a reception and banquet in the auditorium of Patriotic Hall, 1816 South Figueroa street, at which he will deliver an address.

LAWYERS DROP HOWARD'S CASE

Confessed Pasadena Slayer Without Funds

Public Defender Probably Will be Called On

Subscription List of Friend Nets Little Cash

Unable to raise funds for an attorney, John L. Howard, self-confessed hammer slayer of Victor A. Cooley, local clubman and garage owner, probably will be represented in the court battle for his life by a public defender.

This probability loomed yesterday when Attorney Dan J. Heyfron, who represented the slayer at his preliminary hearing, announced that his firm has dropped the case because a "reasonable fee" was not assured.

When efforts of one of Howard's friends to raise a defense fund netted promises of only $100 yesterday at noon, Heyfron visited the slayer in the County Jail and notified him that he must get another attorney.

"We are not insisting upon an exorbitant fee," said Heyfron, "but it is not our policy to defend a man for the publicity we gain from the case."

Local detectives who investigated Howard's attack upon Cooley revealed yesterday that Howard admitted that he has "not told all," and they believe that now the slayer's back is against the wall, he may confess a new motive for crushing his room-mate's skull as he lay in bed in the Vernon-avenue apartment in Pasadena on the night of April 16.

SHRINE WILL INSTALL NEW POTENTATE

Leo Youngworth to Take Office During National Conclave in June

Completion of plans for the installation of Leo V. Youngworth of Los Angeles as the new Imperial Potentate of the Ancient Arabic Order Nobles of the Mystic Shrine during the Shrine convention here June 4, 5 and 6, was announced by LeRoy M. Edwards, director-general of the conclave, last night.

LEO YOUNGWORTH

The ceremonies will take place during the closed session of the Imperial Council at the Biltmore Theater on June 6.

A royal pilgrimage to Aloha temple at Honolulu in honor of the new Potentate will leave Los Angeles Harbor on the liner Malolo June 8, returning to San Francisco June 21. It is expected that an escort of 600 members of the uniformed bodies will make the pilgrimage.

Mr. Youngworth, senior member of the law firm, Youngworth, McClean & Hartman, was born in San Francisco in 1872 and came to Los Angeles in 1880. He was employed in the office of the City Surveyor in 1895-1897 and in 190[illegible] was elected county surveyor. He resigned in 1906 to become United States marshal, a position which he held until 1913, when he was admitted to the bar, having studied law at Ann Arbor, Mich., and University of Southern California.

Youngworth was president of Ramona Parlor, Native Sons of the Golden West, in 1901; Exalted Ruler of Lodge No. 99 B.P.O. Elks in 1909-1910, and Potentate of Al Malaikah Shrine Temple in 1913 and 1914. He has been a representative and a member of the Shrine Imperial Council for the last twenty-two years and at present is Imperial Deputy Potentate.

G.H.O'Donnell, ex-Deputy Fire Chief, Expires

George H. O'Donnell, ex-deputy chief of the Los Angeles Fire Department, died unexpectedly yesterday at his home at 1341 North Mariposa avenue. Heart disease was given as the cause.

O'Donnell donned the blue October 1, 1890, and retired November 17, 1919, after an enviable record of twenty-nine years' active service. He was one of the veterans, joining the department when its few smoke-belching fire engines and hose carts were drawn through the streets behind horses and leaving it when it had developed into one of the best-equipped fire-fighting organizations in the world.

While arrangements for the funeral will not be completed until today, steps were taken yesterday to request the participation of the fire department in the services. The body is at the Cunningham & O'Connor undertaking establishment.

O'Donnell leaves his widow, Mrs. Anna Stone O'Donnell, and a 17-year-old daughter by a former marriage. He was 62 years of age.

Porter Speaks to Hotel Men

John R. Porter, candidate for Mayor, addressed the monthly meeting of the Apartment and Hotel Association last night in Roosevelt Hall. He was introduced by J. Bruce Goddard, president of the association.

"I am for law enforcement and law observance," Porter said. "Officers charged to enforce the law have a special and particular duty to observe the law. Violations of the law by enforcers of the law must not be countenanced. Entry and search of any premises without legal warrant will not be tolerated if I am elected Mayor."

NORMA SHEARER PLAYS COMEDY

Lasky Gives New Deal to Dorothy Arzner and Mendes; Fern Andre, German Star, Cast in Laemmle Film; Eddie Horton Gives Days to New Talk Comedy

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

Since Norma Shearer's success in her first talking picture, "The Trial of Mary Dugan," there are those among her admirers who say that she should play nothing but drama.

NORMA SHEARER

However, Miss Shearer likes to alternate her type of stories, so it is likely, according to word received yesterday from Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios, that her next talking picture will be Lynn Starling's comedy, "In His Arms," in which, you will remember, Margaret Lawrence appeared here at the Majestic and in New York with such marked success. The leading feminine role gives Miss Shearer a chance for the exercise of her high comedy talents, as well as for no little emotional acting. It is not settled yet who will direct.

In the meantime, Miss Shearer is looking forward to a pleasant summer, even though she expects to work hard. She and Irving Thalberg, her husband, have taken Bebe Daniels's luxurious Santa Monica house for six months, and will move into it June 1.

Which looks as though Bebe and Ben Lyon may be married sooner than had been expected. We hear that Ben objects to living in a house owned by his wife, and that he means to buy her one.

LOTHAR MENDES TO DIRECT "ILLUSION"

A shift of directors has taken place at Paramount studios. Lothar Mendes, and not Dorothy Arzner, is to direct "Illusion," the Arthur Train story.

LOTHAR MENDES

Miss Arzner, on the other hand, will be busy enough, for she has been assigned to direct Ruth Chatterton and Clive Brooke in their next co-starring picture, the title of which has not been announced.

News of the directorial switch was made known yesterday by B. P. Schulberg, who praised Mendes's direction of Clara Bow's current picture, "Dangerous Curves"—his first work in the dialogue field.

The Bow vehicle now being directed by Mendes has a circus background, while the locale of "Illusion" sweeps from the theater to the society world. Production is scheduled to start the 20th inst.

Eddie Horton's New Talker

Although one would think that, what with rehearsing one play in the daytime and playing another at night Eddie Horton was busy enough, he has taken on another picture job.

Horton is packing them in at the Majestic with the old meller, "The Streets of New York," at the absurdities of which his audiences are howling every night, and now he is about to start work in a new comedy for Educational called "Prince Gabby," with A. Leslie Pearce directing.

Rita Carewe, the beautiful daughter of Edwin Carewe, United Artists producer, is signing as Horton's leading lady in "Prince Gabby," which is a talker.

Eddie Laemmle's Good Cast

Virginia Pearson and Fern Andre have been signed for the two principal feminine roles in Edward Laemmle's next Universal picture, "The Drake Murder Case."

Fern Andre, you remember, lately arrived from Germany, where she was a star for many years. She went over as a very young girl, being educated in Berlin, and she was a picture star at the time the war broke out, at 16 years of age. She married a German nobleman, who was killed in the war.

Virginia Pearson is well known to the pictures and formerly to the stage. At one time she was a Fox star.

Mary's Contest Winner Has Job

Virginia Beauchamp, who represented Alabama when Mary Pickford selected twenty-four newspaper contest winners to visit her in Hollywood, is the first of the group to return to the film colony for work in motion pictures.

VIRGINIA BEAUCHAMP

She has been in Hollywood one month, and has had two extra parts. Yesterday she was assigned to the important role of Effie, a southern beauty, in Charles Rogers's vehicle, "Magnolia."

When Miss Beauchamp returned home to Birmingham, she succeeded, after a month's hard arguing, in persuading her father that she would be happier trying to break into motion pictures than in doing anything else in the world.

George K. Arthur to London

That lively young comedian, George K. Arthur, expects to go to Europe in July. He will do a little traveling, but before coming back to Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios, where he is under contract, he will probably, he tells us, accept an offer from a British company to take part in a talking picture in London.

MENJOU PLAYS PIANO

Adolphe Menjou plays a world-famous concert pianist in his first all-taking picture for Paramount, "The Concert." Victor Schertzinger, musician-director, is directing.

CROTHERS PLAY HAS INTEREST

"Let Us Be Gay" Opens at Mayan Theater

Edna Hibbard Featured in Production

Audience Responds to Light Comedy's Theme

BY EDWIN SCHALLERT

Perhaps the title would seem to connote an exuberantly festive evening. In fact, it does. But then "Let Us Be Gay" is not wholly that sort of show.

A comedy? Yes.

Frequently bright lines.

Some interesting situations.

And an outcome pleasant to the popular taste.

Nice is the word that suits best of all.

Rachel Crothers wrote the piece, and it is playing at the Mayan Theater. Edna Hibbard is cast in the starring role.

This play projects as its primary idea the evolvements that may ensue when a divorcee re-encounters her ex-mate after a lapse of three years—quite unexpectedly, of course. It deals also with a mild counterplot in the shape of disillusionment for a young girl who has become infatuated with the man.

Everything mostly occurs at a manse in Westchester, though there is a short prologue in California in which preliminary scene the domestic break-up is duly depicted. Why California should be selected for the locale is perhaps of no great moment. The probabilities are it is merely to show that from the arrogant eastern viewpoint the climate out here is not auspicious to happiness of married folk.

At all events, the prologue to this play is almost as short as the one to "Chicago"—though less dynamic—and has to do with the mere matter of bidding good-by.

Beyond this point, "Let Us Be Gay" becomes the repartee sort of play. The aim is the smartness of modern house party talk—the evident ambition, to portray people as they are in the vicinity of New York.

The goal is, at times, not achieved without a certain conscious, and even slightly painful effort, but at least, 'Let Us Be Gay" is not uninteresting, and is in its best moments, quite creditably done.

The audience at the opening last night responded especially to the balcony scene that forms the latter half of the second act. Details of the final act immediately following are well worked out.

Interest was at times fleeting in some of the earlier scenes, but there is a certain charm and appeal to what happens throughout.

Ina Claire starred in a play that was a trifle like this several years ago. It was called "The Awful Truth." It lacked somewhat of the varied qualities of Miss Crother's play.

The complication of the husband and wife meeting in "Let Us Be Gay" is considerably added to, because it is brought about by the intrigue of a dowager, who desires to have her grand-daughter freed of her enamoration of the man. The dowager purposes to use her friend, the divorcee, to "vamp the "enamoree," but she doesn't know that he happens to be the lady's husband, nor does anyone else. The ex-wife describes the whole thing as a very "amusing situation" and in speaking of it to her former spouse appends, "Let's be gay about it." Hence the title of the play.

Smoothness in the general performances, which was lacking on occasion last evening, will enhance the better qualities of the play. The cast proves its merit in individual instances. It was with the ensemble that fault might be found last night.

I would say that while Miss Hibbard may not be ideal for the role of the wife from the standpoint of casting, she manifests marked precision in her acting. She seemed a trifle nervous last night, but even that did not impede the unusually clear-cut impression that she made in the speaking of her lines. It is a pleasure to record such excellent enunciation and general technique as characterize her work. It has quality.

Effie Afton gave a good account of herself in the episode of the second act where she becomes argumentatively intoxicated. There was marked promise in the reality with which she invested this particular bit. At other moments her portrayal was not so accurately keyed, but all in all very good.

Grace Hampton, it would seem, could make more of the dowager interpretation, as it is a role of very large opportunity. She secured an ample tribute of laughs, however, and even a hand on her final exit. The excellence of the role might partly explain this.

Niles Welch is very agreeable as the husband. An unobtrusive and very convincing portrayal may be credited to him.

George Renavant as an amorous adventurer elicits some attention.

"Let Us Be Gay" is a comparatively pleasant show.

"NIGHT HOSTESS" ARRIVES

That a Saturday night premiere is popular with motion-picture stars is evidenced in the names of those who have secured seats for the opening tonight at the Belasco Theater of the melodrama, "Night Hostess" with Ruth Lyons, Bryant Washburn and Isabel Withers.

Sunday is usually a day of rest for the studio folks so the Saturday night premiere is said to have proved itself popular. Belasco and Curran, the producers, plan to open other productions on Saturday night whenever possible.

"Night Hostess" has the reputation of a long New York run behind it and will be seen here with the original John Golden production.

A large cast of well known and popular players support those featured.

"Alibi Lane" to be Street for a Night

A stunt which would do credit to a Barnum or a Morris Gest has been prepared for the gala opening on the 22nd inst. of Roland West's melodrama, "Alibi." The idea, a creation of Joseph M. Schenck, who presents the picture, will facilitate the arrival and departure of guests, at the same time making the premiere highly colorful.

The auto park directly across the way from the United Artists' Theater has been leased for that night, and will be converted into a street to be known as "Alibi Lane." This lane will extend from Main street to Broadway between Ninth and Tenth. Only people holding United Artists' traffic passes to "Alibi Lane" will be allowed to drive into the special thoroughfare. Both sides of this lane will be lined with sun-arcs and dazzling electrical displays.

Chains will bound circles of open space where spectators will be able to watch their favorites moving down the promenade. At the Broadway end of "Alibi Lane," a squadron of police will escort guests across the street and into the theater.

Adapter Invited as Honor Guest

The allegorical spectacle, "The World We Live In," which begins an engagement at the Figueroa Playhouse Monday evening, will have Owen Davis, noted playwright, attending the opening performance as honor guest.

Davis wrote the English adaptation of this Berlin-New York success which is from the pens of Josef and Karel Capek.

"The World We Live In," which combines both novelty and philosophy, will be the most elaborate production thus far attempted by the Repertory Theater organization.

The cast will be headed by Robert Edeson, stage and screen actor, who will play his original role of the vagabond. Others will be Edgar Norton and Paul Irving, who also will assume roles which they had during the all-season run at the Jolson Theater.

This play, its sponsors point out, should have unusual interest for local theatergoers, not only because of its color, feminine beauty, costuming and unique features, but also because of the rare philosophy that is written into it. It draws a vivid analogy between the existence of human and insect life.

Grauman Names M.-G.-M. Night

Honors will go to Bessie Love, Anita Page, Karl Dane, Mary Doran and Molly O'Day at tonight's midnight matinee of "The Broadway Melody." The occasion is to be known as Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer night at Grauman's Chinese Theater. Chuck Reisner, director, will act as master of ceremonies.

Appearance of Miss Love on the stage of the Chinese tonight will mark her first since the premiere of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's all-singing, talking and dancing film, which elevated her to heights of popularity in the talkies.

The "Great" Maurice, magician extraordinary; a wrestling match between an African chimpanzee and an English bulldog; the three Brox Sisters; Nat Spector, blackface star from the East; Jimmie Conlin and Myrtle Glass, and other vaudeville performers will comprise the impromptu entertainment units at tonight's festivities.

"A WORLD OF PLEASURE"

A fast and hilarious burlesque is "A World of Pleasure," now playing at the Burbank Theater. Girls dominate the cast. Fay Norman, Harry (Shuffle) Le Van and Charles Fritcher are featured players in a cast that also employs the talents (and they are many and varied) of Curls Mason, Jimmie Francis, June Rhoads and Bobby Leonard. Miss Norman, who is one of burlesque's most popular soubrettes, scores in her specialty. Shuffle Le Van and Charles Fritcher rate as comedians. The forty-five chorus girls are freshly costumed and their routine in all the ensembles shows training.

"BROADWAY GLIDE"

Max Coleman in his familiar Hebrew character and the droll Billy (Bumps) Mack, whose mannerisms and wise cracks have made thousands laugh, have lost none of their cunning. "Broadway Glide," current attraction at the Follies, is called one of the outstanding burlesques offered this season. The skits and travesties are presented with new and refreshing twists. Evelyn Myers's numbers are "spotted" to advantage. Louise Keller and Mary Walton both reputedly have "it" and personality plus. The dances are as pretty as the chorus.

MOTHER'S DAY AT PARAMOUNT

All mothers over 60 years of age will be the guests of the Paramount Theater tomorrow at any time during the day to see the current program. The event is expected to be unique in that women will give their right ages.

Mystic Drama Dominated by Actor Waxman

BY PHILIP K. SCHEUER

Morris D. Waxman stepped last night into his own production of "The Dybbuk," made from his own translation at his own theater, and erased the bad impression created by the first two acts. It was high time. A company which needed him grievously, awkwardly grouped and lacking the power to create an illusion, moved in uninspired fashion through the lines of S. Ansky's strange drama of vagrant souls and predestined mates—and waited for him.

Mr. Waxman played Rabbi Israel. It was he who sought, first by appeal and then by anathema, to drive the dybbuk from the soul of Leah, daughter of Sender. Virginia Brown Faire, as Leah, struggled earnestly with a role that would have taxed the capacity of a Mary Ellis—and did, in the New York production—and emerged rather better than one might have expected. (Leah it is, of course, whose voice supposedly takes on the timber, tone and character of the man-soul which possesses her, one Channon, a student of the Kabala.)

Names known to the cast sheets of many a film studio graced the program of Waxman's Theater last night. J. Barney Sherry, Kate Bruce and Edwin August are three who have been seen in the pictures since the earliest days. Barbara Bedford, Gertrude Short and Hal Crane belong to a later era. Of them all, Mr. Sherry alone is qualified to take a bow. He portrayed a messenger, apparently God-sent.

Returning to the play itself; the Waxman translation ("adapted" by Karol Morrell) is efficient but sketchy. It would require an elaborate investiture, practically of pageantry, with interpolated chants and the colorful panoply of orthodoxy in the old Hebrew religion, to create a true mood for this "Dybbuk." And without mood, what is there left?

There is left, in this instance, an artist named Waxman who dominates the stage during the third act, and suggests, while he is there, the fantastic power and fascination of a legendary drama which for the most part is realized but dimly.

Vaudevillians Hold Benefit

More than two-score celebrities of the film, stage and other fields of amusement expect to make the National Vaudeville Artists' midnight benefit show at the Orpheum this evening one of the greatest in the history of the Pacific Coast.

Ten prominent personages of the theater world will take turns in officiating as master of ceremonies—Johnny Hines, Charles Murray, Edward Everett Horton, Leo Carrillo, Dan Tobey, Ken Murray, Frank Fay, Al Herman, Walter Catlett and Willie Collier.

FRAHM MURDER CLEWS TRACED

Bright Opens Investigation of Possible Leads

Inquest Verdict in Downey Man's Death Open

Officers Still in Search for Dog Believed Shot

While investigators under Capt. William J. Bright, chief of Sheriff Traeger's homicide investigation detail, continued their inquiry into the murder of Louis Frahm, 40-year-old church worker and fruit merchant of Downey, a Coroner's jury yesterday returned an open verdict finding that the man was murdered by persons unknown and recommended further investigation.

Frahm was found dead in the cab of his truck one mile east of Maywood on the morning of the 7th inst. with three bullet wounds in his head. Two of the wounds were inflicted by .38 caliber bullets and one by a .45-caliber bullet, causing officers to believe that two men participated in the murder.

Meanwhile officers under Capt. Bright continued to question friends and neighbors of Frahm's in an effort to discover a motive behind the slaying. At the close of the inquiry yesterday Capt. Bright announced that he has obtained several new clews which may lead to a solution of the killing but declined to disclose what they are until his men have investigated them further.

Officers still are seeking Frahm's pet female police dog which disappeared at the time of the shooting. The dog was riding with its master at the time, according to relatives. A trail of blood leading east from the truck for half a mile causes investigators to believe that the dog was wounded in the shooting and crawled that distance in an atempt to return home. Because of the fact that the trail of blood ends at the termination of the half-mile trail, officers assume that it was dispatched at that point by the slayers and taken to some isolated spot and buried.

GUATEMALA AIR SERVICE IN MERGER

Deal Here Includes Plane and Propeller Factories; $3,500,000 Involved

A $3,500,000 merger of the Guatemalan Air Service, the Albatross Aircraft Corporation and the California Propeller Company has been consummated here, it was learned last night from Sidney W. Neighbors, official of the Guatemalan organization.

The combine was effected to insure suitable planes for the [illegible] miles of air lines now operated in Central America by Guatemala Air Service and for a new line to be inaugurated a week from today which will link Los Angeles and Panama City, Neighbors asserted.

"There is no use trying to deny the fact that the major airplane manufacturers in the United States are giving preference to the larger airlines in the United States in plane orders," Neighbors said.

"We need ships for operation where we operate and the best and quickest way to get them is through absorbing an airplane factory. That's what we did. We have taken in a propeller company for good measure and have the right now up to purchase [illegible] [illegible] purchase them fast."

The Albatross Aircraft Corporation is a Santa Ana and Long Beach concern. [illegible] trimotored twenty-passenger [illegible] capable of lifting nine tons.

Delivery of the first ship to the new combine was made yesterday. The plane is being groomed today for the take-off on a [illegible] mile nonstop flight from here to Guatemala City, [illegible] the United States-Panama [illegible]

Eight passengers and two pilots are scheduled to make the trip, the longest nonstop flight with ten people aboard that has been essayed, Neighbors stated.

Three smaller planes [illegible] on some of the shorter lines operated in Honduras, Nicaragua, Panama, Costa Rica and Guatemala [illegible] the air service will take off [illegible] Guatemala City next Wednesday, it was announced by the new organization heads last night.

He took off at the Alameda Airport at 2:40 p.m. and arrived at the Grand Central Air Terminal, Glendale, at 4:55 p.m. The average of the San Francisco-Los Angeles "through" plane time over a thirty-day period has been two hours and thirty-five minutes, [illegible] place Ford air liners [illegible] Pratt & Whitney "Wasps."

Miss Dorothy Ellis will play extracts from her own compositions and also from the "Rhapsody in Blue."

Stowaway Home in Same Old Port

Peggy Corrigan

A STOWAWAY de luxe was Peggy Corrigan, 19-year-old Los Angeles girl, who yesterday was brought back to port aboard the Lassco liner City of Los Angeles after an unsuccessful attempt to reach Honolulu by unpaid passage aboard the liner City of Honolulu.

She had the rare experience, however, of being transferred in mid-ocean last Tuesday in a small boat during rough weather kicked up by a forty-mile trade wind.

"That experience cured me of my idea of going around the world as a stowaway," she declared. "The waves were so big that half of the time while I was being rowed over to the City of Los Angeles we could not see either ship. They pulled me up the ladder with a rope around my waist and I was mighty happy when I stepped on solid decks again."

Miss Corrigan, well known as an amateur golfer, went aboard the City of Honolulu while the ship was crowded with visitors just prior to sailing time on the 4th inst., selected a vacant de luxe stateroom and posed for two days as a regular passenger, before her status was discovered by Purser Harry [illegible] Capt. George Zeh made arrangements by radio with Capt. Fred [illegible] Hamma, commanding the City of Los Angeles, to transfer her at sea when the two ships met last Tuesday morning. She was placed in the charge of Miss Beatrice [illegible] stewardess, during the remainder of the voyage back to Los Angeles. Miss Corrigan yesterday was full of praise for Lassco Line service, in spite failure of her life-long ambition to see Hawaii.

She is being held by immigration officials for investigation of reports that she entered the United States from Ireland illegally.

FRATERNITIES' MEET SOUGHT

National Fraternal Congress Here in 1930 Talked by Representatives of Twenty-five Societies

Possibilities of Los Angeles entertaining the 1930 convention of the National Fraternal Congress of America loomed last night at a joint gathering of committees from more than twenty-five local fraternal societies.

The meeting, which was held at the Independent Order of Foresters' auditorium, 1329 South Hope street, to celebrate National Fraternal Day, was the first joint gathering ever undertaken by the various fraternal societies of the city.

Plans for the organization of a California branch of the national congress were announced at the meeting by Dr. C. B. Dixon of the Foresters' association, who asserted that the first objection of the State branch would be to obtain the next national congress for Los Angeles.

Last night's meeting was presided over by Ben B. Jones, State manager for the Tribe of Ben Hur, and was addressed by Dr. John A. Ebey, pastor of the Wilshire Presbyterian Church. A ball followed the conclusion of the program.

Drill teams from sixteen local societies presented a colorful spectacle leading the grand march which preceded the ball. Uniforms worn by the various teams ranged from brilliant hued modified military dress to the drab attire worn in days gone by "ye olde" English foresters.

The fraternal societies represented by the drill units included the Ancient Order of United Workman, Beavers, Degree of Honor Protective Association, Fraternal Brotherhood, Independent Order of Foresters, Knights of Pythias, Ladies of Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, Maccabees, Neighbors of Woodcraft, Pacific Woodmen, Life of Omaha, the Security Benefit Association, the Tribe of Ben Hur, the Supreme Forest Woodmen Circle, Woman's Benefit Association, Woodmen of the World of Denver and the Yoemen.
